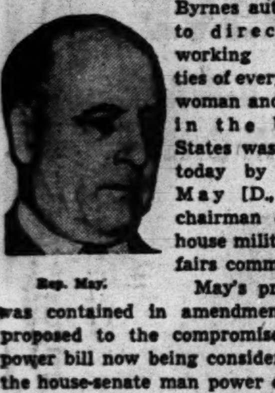
URGES BYRNES BE MADE CZAR OF EVERY JOB

May Proposes New Man Power Bill.

BY PHILIP DODD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Rep. May.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—A proposal to give War Mobilizer Byrnes authority to direct the working activities of every man, woman and child in the United States was made today by Rep. May [D., Ky.], chairman of the house military affairs committee.

May's proposal was contained in amendments he proposed to the compromise man power bill now being considered by the house-senate man power conference committee. He described the amendments at a closed meeting of the conferees and announced he would submit a new bill, including his suggestions, to the conference tomorrow.

The compromise bill, drafted by Sen. Austin [R., Vt.], an advocate of national service legislation, combines provisions of the New Deal "work or jail" bill which passed the house early in February, government imposed employment ceilings, and a freeze of all essential workers in their jobs.

All Under Byrnes.

The bill assigned the administration of parts of the program to Byrnes, other features to War Man Power Chairman McNutt, and still others to the selective service system. May would place the entire administration under Byrnes.

A similar proposal was voted down in the house when it was debating the "work or jail" bill. It was anticipated at that time that Byrnes would delegate much of his authority to McNutt, a move many house members opposed because the former Hoosier is not popular with members of congress.

The senate, in its man power bill, placed most of the authority in McNutt's office. The senate bill proposed employment ceilings, to be set by McNutt in any establishment, regardless of age, sex or occupational qualifications of workers. This bill was turned down flatly by the house, making the present conference necessary.

Favors Centralization.

May told reporters his amendments did not change the Austin bill in principle—only its administration. He would give no reason for his amendments, in the face of certain opposition in both houses of congress, other than stating the administration of such a program should be centralized.

Chairman Thomas [D., Utah] of the senate military committee, who also heads the conference group, brushed reporters aside when asked for comment on the May amendments, stating only "progress has been made." His attitude was in marked contrast to that following previous meetings of the conference when he freely discussed steps taken in the closed meetings.

Won't Get by, Short Says.

Rep. Short [R., Mo.], a house conferee, told reporters the compromise bill "won't get by the house," however amended. "You can't reconcile the irreconcilable," he asserted.

"This bill would place government control over every man, woman, and child in the United States who holds any kind of a job," Short declared. "You can lead the American people, but you can't drive them. Some things just can't be done by legislation—some of us, fortunately, remember the prohibition experiment."

124th Strike Stops B-29 Job in Dodge Plant

BY GEORGE HARTMANN.

Because they objected to a general foreman walking thru their department more often than they considered necessary, 38 workers in the cylinder barrel assembly department of the Dodge Chicago plant went on strike yesterday. Their action closed the entire department, company officials announced.

This was the 124th strike since December, 1942, at the huge war plant, where engines for B-29 Super Fortresses are produced. The strikes have caused an inestimable loss of parts for the Super Fortress engines, retarding the production of B-29s, which are being used daily in the bombing of Japan and Japanese held islands in the Pacific.

One Strike Ended.

Yesterday's strike began as a week-long strike, which had caused the entire aluminum foundry to be shut down, was settled with the return to work of 231 core assemblers, who had walked out on the ground that they were "overworked."

A few other strikes in the last nine months and the reasons given for them follow:

June 16, 1944—117 tool grinders went on a two day strike at the plant because a fellow worker was discharged for "stalling on the job."

June 29—25 tool grinders struck because a worker had been dismissed for refusing to do an assigned task.

Strike Against Promotion.

July 11—23 machine repair men quit in protest against promotion of a first shift worker to foreman on the second shift.

July 19—599 employes in the magnesium foundry walked off the job because some of their number had been disciplined for refusing to do assigned work.

Aug. 18—69 hammer men, heater men, and helpers in the forge division left work "because a helper was discharged after he had called a foreman an unprintable name."

Oct. 1—Company guards ejected 13 sitdown strikers in the crankshaft department who were protesting against addition of a supervisor to their assembly line.

51 Rebel Over Dismissal.

Dec. 2—51 tool grinders rebelled because a fellow worker had been dismissed for loafing.

Dec. 22—More than 200 employes walked out because chairs, stools, and boxes, which they had used as seats at their machines and benches, were taken away by the company "to increase efficiency."

Jan. 28, 1945—115 cutter-grinders abandoned their jobs because a CIO union committeeman had been given a seven day layoff for loafing.

Feb. 20—67 electricians dropped their tools because two workers had been disciplined for sleeping "outside their own department." The strike spread to include 399 workers before the original 67 returned to work four days later.

Feb. 23—75 cam and cam shaft gear department workers deserted their department because they did not like the kind of coat racks the company had provided for them.

20,000 Claimed by CIO.

More than 20,000 of the plant's 30,000 employes are claimed as members by local 274 of the United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers' union [CIO]. Eleven AFL craft unions represent a small portion of the remaining employes.

The war production board is conducting an inquiry at the plant in an effort to learn the underlying cause of the 124 strikes. The investigation followed a CIO meeting held Feb. 4, when local union officials accused the management of precipitating the strikes.

Earlier this week, 17 officials of local 274 were removed by the UAW international office and the local was put under supervision.

Gunfire from Continent Shakes British Buildings

HASTINGS, England, March 22 (AP).—Reverberations from distant explosions which shook the channel coast for many hours today were believed to be heavy gunfire connected with operations on the Belgian coast or on the Dutch border. The concussions jarred buildings on the English coast.

Royalty Feted Once Again in White House

Washington, D. C., March 22 [Special].—The White House again was host to royalty today as Gov. Gen. Athlone of Canada and his wife, her royal highness, the Princess Alice, arrived in Washington for a two day visit with President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

The 70 year old governor general is the earl of Athlone and the brother of Queen Mary of England and thus an uncle of King George. His wife is a granddaughter of Queen Victoria.

Tonight Princess Alice accompanied Mrs. Roosevelt to a banquet celebrating the 33d anniversary of Girl Scouting in this country and cut the birthday cake. Her royal highness is honorary president of the Canadian council of Girl Guides and Mrs. Roosevelt is honorary president of the Girl Scouts of America.

Speaks at Celebration.

Principal speakers at the celebration were Mrs. Roosevelt, Mme. Wei, wife of the Chinese ambassador, Mme. Henri Bonnet, wife of the French ambassador, and Mrs. Harold Butler, wife of the minister of information at the British embassy.

Mrs. Roosevelt did not wear the $8,000 mink coat she accepted three weeks ago from the Quebec Fur Breeders' Coöperative association as a "symbol" of trade coöperation between the United States and Canada. Altho it was a dark, cloudy day and fairly cool, Mrs. Roosevelt wore a short, black fur coat instead.

Met by Roosevelts.

Earlier in the day the Roosevelts went to the Union station to meet the earl and princess upon their arrival. Athlone stepped from his train attired in field marshal's uniform of khaki with red banded hat. Princess Alice wore a dark blue dress and silver fox furs.

Their hosts conducted them to the White House where they were formally received at a military ceremony on the south grounds.

The President went to the White House correspondents dinner tonight and took the earl along.

Spain Charges Murder of Spaniards by Japs

MADRID, Spain, March 22 (AP).—Spain moved closer to an outright break with Japan tonight as the Spanish government charged the Japanese with "systematic, premeditated" murder of "defenseless" Spanish men, women and children, and the destruction of Spanish property in Manila prior to the city's liberation by American troops.

MANUFACTURERS SEE SHORTAGE OF FLAGS FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Manufacturers yesterday predicted that because of a critical shortage in bunting supplies there will be only enough flags Memorial day to decorate the graves of fewer than half of America's soldier and sailor dead.

They ascribed to war production board bungling the growing scarcity of cotton and muslin materials from which the flags are made and characterized as a national disgrace the necessity thrust upon them of fashioning banners from fabrics known as "seconds" and labeled "damaged goods."

A. L. Sisley, president of the American Flag company, 179 W. Washington blvd., said the supply of Memorial day flags for the Chicago area alone will fall short by at least 200,000 in filling the annual order of the G. A. R. Memorial association.

He charged that materials formerly used to manufacture flags now are being given away under lend-lease to clothe African savages "who didn't want clothes in the first place."

BRITAIN TO BEGIN MAKING CIVILIAN TRUCKS SHORTLY

LONDON, March 22.—Five new medium and heavy trucks soon will be coming off production lines for British civilian users, Morris-Commercial Cars, Ltd., part of the giant Nuffield organization, announced today. Deliveries will begin in the second half of 1945. Buyers will need a special license from the ministry of war transport.

Reds Accused of Penetrating U. S. Business

New York, March 22 [Special].—The lure of large post-war orders from Russia has been responsible for "communist penetration of conservative business groups, and a tendency to regard criticism of communism as somehow detrimental to the war effort," Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, said today.

He asserted this attitude has been reflected in editorials in newspapers "friendly to certain business groups." Woll spoke at a meeting of the Rotary club of New York.

Communist penetration "has reached alarming proportions," he said. "Labor unions, church organizations, and cultural bodies have adopted the ever changing party line. Interests close to some of our largest banking institutions have become fellow travelers, strange as it may sound.

Totalitarian Atmosphere.

"American communism can thrive best in a totalitarian atmosphere and every move to concentrate greater power into the hands of government meets with a chorus of communist approval. Since it is generally agreed that big government is the enemy of economic free enterprise, those in business who soft pedal communism are, in effect, digging their own graves."

Radio stations and newspapers "which permit the skilful penetration of pro-communist commentators and columnists are unwittingly preparing the day when their properties will be completely controled, if not owned, by the growing and ruthless burocratic elite whose ultimate goal is nothing short of total control," he said.

Impatience with Tradition.

"Despite the allegiance of the overwhelming percentage of the American people to the democratic way of living, there is evidence of a trend to totalitarianism in small but influential groups. The growing reliance of the executive on directives and government by decree is but one evidence of this impatience with our traditional, representative method of doing things.

"Another evidence of this trend is the gullibility with which some respectable sections of the community have accepted the brand of political and economic eyewash sold by the American Communists.

"Today there is a shrinking of democratic processes and a continual enlargement of the role of the government as final arbiter. Before it is too late, it is time we all demanded a priority on initiative, and a priority on freedom."

FIVE ALLIED ARMIES READY TO STRIKE; KESSELRING REPLACES RUNDSTEDT

Gen. Montgomery's Force Largest Since D-Day.

(Maps on Pages 10 and 11.)

LONDON, March 23 [Friday]—(AP).—The Germans reported last night that Field Marshal Montgomery had launched an offensive from the west against the Ruhr along a 65 mile front from Arnhem to Duesseldorf. There was no allied confirmation.

A censorship screen covered the whole British front but correspondents with the troops were allowed to say that the build-up there was the largest since D-day in Normandy.

Five Armies Poised.

Montgomery's 21st army group includes the Canadian 1st, British 2d, and United States 9th armies. Five allied armies were ready to strike. They included the United States 1st and 3d in addition to the three in Montgomery's group.

One German broadcast said that Montgomery's forces already were across the Rhine. This might have been a distortion of a similar DNB broadcast recorded earlier in London saying Montgomery had tremendous forces poised ready to strike.

Another broadcast said the United States 9th army had sent raiding parties across the Rhine near the destroyed Duesseldorf bridge, but were repulsed by artillery fire.

Crush Major Resistance.

PARIS, March 22 (AP).—Two United States armies crushed all major resistance west of the Rhine today in the last phase of a battle that cost the Germans 100,000 captives alone. The enemy said the river barrier was about to be stormed both from the Palatinate and opposite the Ruhr, which was blasted by thousands of allied war planes.

One German report said that Field Marshal Montgomery had opened a great artillery barrage to screen a Rhine crossing west of Wesel, a strong hinge in the Germans' lower Rhine defenses, barring entrance to the northern German plain leading to Berlin.

[A Reuters' correspondent with Montgomery's armies on the lower Rhine yesterday said the front was shrouded under a gigantic smoke screen. "Tonight was a time of waiting," he added. "So well did smoke projectors do their job today that it was impossible to see anything, but the balance of this game of hide and seek was all in the allies' favor."]

Only 4,000 Germans Remain.

Another German report said the American 3d army had massed 300 regular and amphibious tanks and strong engineering and motorized units for a smash into the mountainous inner core of the reich.

Third army strategists now were free to plan the crossing of the Rhine, for possibly no more than 4,000 German effectives remained in action west of the river after one of the worst disasters ever visited on German arms.

Written off were the great Rhine cities of Mainz and Ludwigshafen, where resistance folded during the day and the few defenders were chased into corners from which there was no retreat, with the Rhine bridges blown.

Lt. Gen. Patton's 3d army banners floated over 100 miles of the Rhine's west bank from Ludwigshafen to Coblenz, and racing armor was five miles from Speyer and 19 from Karlsruhe, the two main roads back for battered German bands.

Lt. Gen. Hodges' United States

Leave Ruins of Mainz to Lead Yanks to Guns

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MAINZ, Germany, March 22.—Fighting men of the famous 90th division of the 3d army today walked the ruined streets of Mainz, once a lovely town.

The city is much like some of the bomb wrecked sections of London, except that the Germans in this area seemingly haven't learned the knack of cleaning up rubble. Whole blocks are flattened and the debris in the streets makes all except foot traffic impracticable.

Soon after the Americans entered the town earlier today many of the 50,000 civilians still remaining of the peace time population of 158,000 emerged from cellars and air raid shelters—and voluntarily pointed out machine gun positions and warned our tankers of the whereabouts of Teller mines with which the streets are liberally sprinkled.

Leader Found Hiding.

Late this afternoon Col. Weiss, the garrison commander, was found hiding in a cellar. He had been betrayed by a Nazi officer who told Americans that the colonel was very drunk last night.

Infantrymen captured the Mainz brewery, which still was in operation.

Pvt. Commodore Buchanan of Clarksburg, W. Va., said he saw five Germans who had been waved into our lines after raising a white flag, chopped down by their own machine guns' fire.

A civilian who had directed us to the 10th century St. Martin's cathedral, spotted our cameras, led us to a selected spot, and said: "For photographs," and waved toward the cathedral.

Charles Haacker, Acme news photographer, saw a little girl "walking" a one legged doll down a street. When he tried to get some photographs, several persons hurried toward the child. At first Haacker thought they were objecting but later found they were eager to turn the girl toward the camera.

In the cathedral a man and woman approached me. The woman opened her handbag and offered an apple. I shook my head and said: "Verboten"—all forms of fraternization are forbidden—which amazed both the man and woman. They repeated "Verboten" in almost unbelieving tones.

Almost Overly Friendly.

There were, of course, some who returned stony stare for stony stare but most were almost fawningly friendly. I can't imagine, however, an American woman being asked by a German just arrived in a newly conquered American town where the stairs to the cathedral tower were and taking him by the hand and leading him to the foot of the winding staircase and even calling to another woman sitting higher up to light a match to guide his footsteps. That happened here today.

And one doesn't know just how seriously to take such things as the sign I saw on one ruined house. It read: "Hitler Kaput—Heil!"

NAZIS IN ARMY A WEEK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

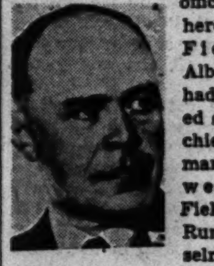
AT THE U. S. 1ST ARMY BRIDGEHEAD, Germany, March 22.—More than 1,000 German prisoners from 47 different units taken by this one division in 24 hours were questioned today.

"Of a large bag of prisoners taken from a fusiliers battalion," said the report on the interrogation, "the great majority should have been going to school, puttering in their back yards, or staying in bed. Many were drafted only a week ago. They were not volkssturm but full members of the wehrmacht, but of the reluctant, or shotgun, variety.

"One prisoner received his induction notice March 14 when he came home from work and was bustled off to war before he had time to eat his supper."

German West Front Chief Shifted from Italy.

TWENTY-FIRST ARMY GROUP HDQ., March 22 [Reuters].—It was officially stated here tonight that Field Marshal Albert Kesselring had been appointed commander in chief of the German armies in the west, replacing Field Marshal von Rundstedt. Kesselring had been commander of the German forces in Italy since September, 1943.



Field Marshal Kesselring.

The greatest significance was attached here to this appointment which was disclosed at a moment when the combined bomber and tactical resources of the allied air forces were reaching the climax of their all-out assault on objectives east of the Rhine and on the approaches to the great cities and communication centers of the central reich.

Aid is Von Blaskowitz.

Kesselring has as his immediate junior commander Marshal Johannes von Blaskowitz.

[A British broadcast quoted "reports from neutral sources" that Von Rundstedt had sent an armistice envoy to Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters on March 12. BBC said shortly afterward "an official statement was issued in Washington, D. C., saying the allied high command was prepared to accept the surrender of German units including entire army groups, but could not consider any proposal for an armistice." Swiss sources stated Kesselring replaced Von Rundstedt on March 13.]

Kesselring is first and foremost an air commander, but his stonewalling tactics in Italy may have recommended him to Hitler as a suitable man for the command of the western armies.

Takes Personal Risks.

Kesselring always has taken personal risks in the thick of the fighting and in January he met with his eighth accident. According to a German war reporter, he has been shot down three times while flying in the battle areas.

Hitler decorated Kesselring with the oak leaves, swords, and diamonds to the knight's cross of the iron cross after the allied entry into Rome, and congratulated him on the 40th anniversary of his entry into the army.

Kesselring is 60. He is a Bavarian—he was born near Bayreuth—and a professional soldier. As a close friend of Goering, he was largely responsible for the reorganization of the German air ministry in 1935.

Directed Rotterdam Blow.

When war came, Kesselring directed the bombing of Rotterdam, and summed up his attitude to civilians by his order to the German airmen: "Cut them to ribbons."

Kesselring, with Field Marshal Sperrle, directed the battle of Britain. He was later transferred to the Russian front. In the spring of 1942 he was sent to Italy to direct the air attacks on Malta and to act in conjunction with Field Marshal Rommel in Libya.

EMPLOYER FINDS WMC OPERATES 'FASCIST' STYLE

Tells of His Difficulties in Hiring Operator.

Atty. Walter B. Wolf, 105 S. La Salle st., yesterday completed the process of hiring a switchboard operator after an experience with the war man power commission that caused him to term WMC "a worthy idea, the need for which every one recognizes, but which is operated with methods of fascism."

Wolf found a suitable operator thru an ad last Saturday. She liked the job because it gave her more time for her family. All that was left to arrange was WMC's permission for her to leave her employer, who was not in a war essential classification.

Misinformed First Time.

"I had my secretary phone the WMC for information as to how to proceed," said Wolf. "She was told that because the operator was not in war work no referral was needed. So the girl gave 10 days' notice.

"Then my daughter said she thought I had been misinformed. I had my secretary phone again and she was told then that a referral was required if the operator had been employed at all in the preceding 60 days.

"I then phoned myself and explained that because of misinformation the girl had been placed in the position of having no job. I said I wished to do what I could to rectify the situation and I was told it would be helpful if I went with her to WMC unit No. 1 at 308 N. Michigan av.

Hears Woman Shouting.

"We went there at lunch hour Wednesday. There were four lines of people waiting on the first floor. While we were waiting I heard the young woman at the desk where one line was formed shout, 'Get your hands off the wall, and your heads, too.'

"Finally we got to the head of the line. We were sent to the third floor. The young woman there was courteous and acted as if she wanted to be helpful. She said it would take about two hours and a half to handle our matter and suggested we come back at 8:30 in the morning.

"We were there on time. There were eight people ahead of us. It got past 9 o'clock and I asked the receptionist what progress was likely. She said we'd just have to wait. Then the girl with me said she would have to phone her office because she was late. There were plenty of phones on the desk, but the receptionist said she would have to go to a pay booth on the first floor.

'No Business Here.'

"When I protested that would mean losing our place and pointed out we had been there 40 minutes, she said, 'You have no business here anyway.' I told her I was there at the suggestion of some one I had talked with on the phone. I didn't know who it was because they say over there they are forbidden to give their names.

"She said I might go to the second floor and try to get a hearing. I was sent to a young woman who appeared intelligent, a college graduate, I suppose, who told me they had a written report on me as being belligerent. I told her she appeared intelligent enough to differentiate between belligerency and indignation.

Made Out to Wrong Firm.

"She went to a phone out of my hearing and presently the referral was sent down. It was made out to the wrong law firm, but she corrected that with an eraser.

"I was indignant because I went there to conform, not to conflict. I went at their suggestion. I was indignant because I saw a worthy idea, the need for which every one recognizes, being operated with the methods of fascism. I saw Americans exposed to imported practices which are not understood or appreciated."

$20,000 IN FUND; $300,000 SOUGHT FOR PARK LAND

Acquisition of land alone for parks requested by 25 aldermen would cost $300,000 and only $20,000 is unexpended in the park land fund, Ald. Duffy [19th], chairman of the city council subcommittee on small parks, told the committee yesterday. An additional $50,000 for the purchase of one park is available from the estate of the late Miss Kate Sturges Buckingham, who endowed the Buckingham fountain, Duffy said, and the committee instructed Walter Wright, city superintendent of parks, to make arrangements with the executors of the estate for the expenditure of this sum.

ROBBED BY GUNMEN IN AUTO.

Nurse Is Home from Jap Prison

Regains Lost Weight

Lt. Mary Chapman, the first Chicago nurse to be reported missing in action, arrived here yesterday after three years of internment by the Japanese in the Philippines. She was one of 11 navy nurses who were freed by American troops in a raid on Los Banos prison camp on Feb. 23.

Miss Chapman said she has regained almost all of the 20 pounds of weight she lost during her internment. After the Americans bombed Manila, the Japs took revenge by reducing the food allotments of internees, the nurse reported, but she was able to supplement her allotment with vegetables from her own garden. She once traded her wristwatch to a Jap for some rice and sugar.

When she stepped from the United Air Lines plane that brought her to Chicago from California yesterday, Miss Chapman was met by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Chapman of 4108 N. Central Park av.; a sister, Shirley, 19, and a brother, Walter, 17.

U.S. HUNTING TAX DODGERS AMONG RESORT CROWDS

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—The treasury today disclosed that its famous "T men" are checking up on free spenders in pleasure resorts to determine whether they have paid their income taxes.

Officials said that Elmer Irey, chief coördinator of treasury enforcement activities [that's the T-men], picked up $50,000 of delinquent taxes in a few days in Miami, Fla. His contributors, they said, were persons who hastened to pay "forgotten taxes."

The treasury has sent to their home districts names of persons found in Miami with unusually large amounts of money to spend.

Brought Capone to Grief.

Irey is the man whose sleuthing brought Scarface Al Capone to grief back in the days of gangsterism—for forgetting his taxes. Now he and his agents are after other people suspected of having income they haven't bothered to report—some of them, perhaps, because it came from such practices as black marketing.

Treasury Secretary Morgenthau told a news conference today that the department is not after small fry—"I am interested in the fellow with the suite of big rooms and the lush boys."

Morgenthau also linked his investigation with a trip he made to New York this week. He refused to say whether a definite program of cracking down has been formulated, but said he is spending "quite a little time" on the problem and is going into it "very seriously."

The discussion began when a reporter asked whether the secretary had any estimate of how much income tax evasion there is.

Money Made in Tips.

Morgenthau said no, but he was conducting an investigation, whereupon a reporter asked:

"Mr. Secretary, is there any way that you could corral the money that is being made in tips, say, by waiters, taxicab drivers, and so forth?"

"Well," Morgenthau replied, "I would like to go after some of the little bit bigger guys."

He was asked for an example and said:

"In the old bootlegging days we spent most of the time going after fellows with five gallon stills and the other fellows—we let them get away with it. I am interested in the fellow with the suite of big rooms and the lush boys—get after them first."

FILLING STATION LOOTED.

Thieves who ate candy bars as they ransacked John Broadhead's filling station at 11104 Halsted st. yesterday stole about $100 worth of candy, motor oil, tools, $6, and the contents of a telephone coin box, Broadhead reported to police.

RUMBOLD VAULT LOOTING TRIAL TO BE APRIL 23

Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court yesterday set April 23 for the trial of four men for the 2 million dollar looting of the safety deposit vault of the E. H. Rumbold real estate company, 624 W. 119th st. The defendants are Willie Niemoth, Thomas Leahy, Llewellyn Morgan, and Michael Kosar. Of three others named in the indictment, Wencel Urban, notorious safecracker, was found murdered in a ditch near Kankakee a week ago, and two, Patsy Flaherty and John Sullivan, are fugitives.

PORTER FAVORS U. S. CONTROL OF WIRE MONOPOLY

Competition Hurts Service, He Tells Senators.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Paul A. Porter, chairman of the federal communications commission, told a senate subcommittee today the philosophy of economic competition cannot be applied to international communications after the war. He said a government-regulated monopoly is the only means of insuring prompt, uninterrupted communications and protecting American interests.

The FCC chairman testified before an interstate commerce subcommittee investigating post-war overseas communications plans and policies. Yesterday he recommended that all 13 American cable, radio, telegraph and press wireless companies be merged into a single organization.

Porter said today the present pattern of international communications is inadequate. He blamed the situation on "the bitter competitive struggles among private commercial groups whose respective interests have been in conflict amongst themselves." The operations of the groups are inevitably directed to the most profitable channels of commerce, leaving many areas of the world with relatively inadequate service, he asserted.

Cites High Costs.

Porter cited examples of what he termed the high cost of international communication and raised the question whether world commerce can expand if such costly rates continue. He said competition has forced a "wasteful" duplication of facilities.

"I can't conceive that competition has raised prices," Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.], subcommittee chairman, remarked. "I can't go along with you on the idea that prices are kept up by competition. The evidence always shows that competition drives prices down."

Porter replied that if the United States has a unified communications system after the war, it can make more favorable bargains with foreign governments and thus offer lower rates.

White Disagrees.

"I can't subscribe to that," declared Sen. White [R., Me.]. "It is admitted that this country is inferior to the British in the matter of international cables, but we are far ahead with radio and telephone circuits. I don't see that the United States has prejudiced its position in international communications thru competition."

The FCC chairman said that after the war, the United States will face strong foreign communications combinations. An improved and consolidated American system is needed to meet foreign competition, he said, adding that rates will not be lower until there is unification.

Porter said American taxpayers have, during the war, acquired a large financial stake in international communications—an investment overshadowing that of private companies engaged in the field.

Huge Military Investments.

He testified that the army's investment in overseas communications is 250 million dollars. While the navy plans to spend 480 million dollars this year for purchase and maintenance alone the combined net investment in plants and equipment of the private commercial companies is less than 52 million dollars, he said.

Porter said congress must safeguard this public investment by providing controls over whatever form of unification is eventually effected.

"I can't see any encouragement for turning over all this equipment to any communications system run by the government," White declared. "The way the government spends money, it seems to me that it would be the interest of the public to get the government out of business as soon as possible."

Favors Consolidation.

Wheeler said he was "inclined to favor" post-war consolidation of overseas communications, but was not in favor of turning over the army and navy equipment to an unregulated private monopoly.

While Wheeler and Sen. McFarland [D., Ariz.] questioned the advisability of turning over to private companies war built military communications valued at hundreds of millions, Wheeler said he leaned toward the position of many United States publishers who oppose merger of press facilities with other commercial properties.

"Only proved national interest and inadequacy of facilities would justify including press communications in such a consolidation," Wheeler said.

"That is perhaps also true of private systems operated by private business," he added, referring to air line and other strictly company communications.

Porter said it was his personal opinion that any merger should be mandatory by act of congress and not voluntary.

MOVE TO DRIVE REMAPPING BILL THRU ASSEMBLY

Representatives of more than a score of civic and business organizations met in the Union League club yesterday and laid the groundwork for a drive to rally public opinion in support of the congressional reapportionment bill in the state assembly.

Rep. Frederick A. Virkus [R., LaGrange], author of the measure, said he was "virtually certain" it would be recommended by the assembly committee. He said its passage would require votes from both sides and that a show of strength was needed to "build a fire under the legislature."

Acting as individuals, those present voted to authorize Matthew Mills, chairman of the Union League club's public affairs committee, who presided at the meeting, to name a committee. This will be done after the representatives have sought formal action by their groups to back the bill.

Virkus said a rumor had got around that he had carved out a district favorable to himself. He said that instead of fostering ambition to run for congress, he had promised his support in 1946 to former Rep. Fred Busbey.

Allman to Warn Police of Ban on Easter Chicks

Police Commissioner Allman said yesterday he will issue an order to police calling attention to the city ordinance which prohibits the sale of baby chicks, ducklings, or any other fowl as Easter novelties. The ordinance also prohibits the dyeing or coloring of fowl. Allman said he does not anticipate many violations because of the severe shortage of poultry in retail markets. The order will be issued as a precautionary measure, he stated.

INTRODUCE BILL TO MAKE RADIO LIABLE FOR LIBEL

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 22.—A bill to give radio broadcasting equal responsibility with the press for libel was introduced today in the Illinois legislature. Senate sponsors are Sen. Downing [R., Macomb] and Sen. Connors [D., Chicago]. House sponsors are Rep. Cutler [R., Lewistown] and Rep. Quinn [D., Chicago]. It would repeal a 1927 act defining defamation by radio as slander, punishable only by a $100 fine.

The measure picks up the language employed in the statute defining malicious libel by the press, extending the provisions to broadcasting. Penalties upon conviction would be the same as for the press—a maximum of one year in jail, or a fine up to $500.

The bill provides that "every person who shall participate in the publication of a libel by radio . . . shall be guilty of the crime of libel by radio; and every person, firm or corporation who shall own, lease, manage, or operate any radio station which shall broadcast or rebroadcast such libel by radio directly or indirectly, or by means of electrical or other form of transcription, shall be held to have participated therein."

Libel Is Defined.

The legislation defines a libel by radio as "a malicious defamation broadcast by means of what is commonly known as the radio, tending to blacken the memory of one who is dead, or to impeach the honesty, integrity, virtue or reputation, or to publish the natural defects of one who is alive, and thereby expose him to public hatred, contempt, ridicule or financial injury."

Reed F. Cutler, house majority leader during the last two sessions, has served in the legislature for 22 years. He is a former school principal and former state's attorney of Fulton county.

"Today there is more of a chance to ruin the reputation of a person over the radio than in a newspaper," Rep. Cutler said in an interview. "On the radio the speaker may be here today and gone tomorrow. He can do more damage under those circumstances than can the average newspaper, which has an established place of business and must maintain a reputation for veracity.

Radio Now "of Age."

T. Mac Downing in the senate, has been a member of the assembly for over a decade.

"Radio has come of age," Sen. Downing told reporters. "This bill is not unfriendly to radio—quite the reverse. Far sighted leaders in the industry will realize that unless radio welcomes reasonable and common sense liability for libel, one day there will be a hue and cry, with the probability that the federal government will take over broadcasting entirely.

Students of the law have reported in published works that the tendency is to regard defamatory remarks which are broadcast as libel. They maintain that the distinction between libel and slander is based more upon historic grounds than on principle. The old concept of spoken words was that they reached a small audience which is not true in the case of the broadcasts.

Patching of City Streets Begun by 33 Repair Gangs

Eighteen city street repair gangs began patching holes yesterday and 15 gangs were put to work by private utility companies, Lloyd M. Johnson, commissioner of streets and electricity, said.

BAN ON TAVERN NEAR HIGHWOOD CHURCH UPHELD

Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady of Waukegan ruled yesterday that the 100 club, 53 Highwood st., Highwood, is less than 100 feet from the Highwood Methodist church, and upheld the revocation of the tavern's license.

Atty. Joseph A. Judrich, for Harold Snaveley, the tavern owner, argued that the church and tavern entrances are 105 feet apart, but Judge Daly held that the wall to wall measurement counts and is less than the distance required by law.

The decision did not end the fight that has raged since May, when Ald. Fridell Ghini, acting mayor, granted the license to Snavely, his brother-in-law, stirring a storm of protest climaxed when Mayor Charles Portilia reversed the action in October.

Snavely instructed Judrich to prepare an appeal and announced he would continue to operate.

LA GUARDIA: I JUST TRIED TO HELP BYRNES

Mayor Says He Won't Be 'Hypocrite' on Curfew.

New York, March 22 [Special].—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia continued his feud with New Deal officials over New York's curfew tonight by airing his complaints to the nation in a coast-to coast broadcast in which he attempted to defend his "hour of tolerance" for his own city's amusement places.

Explaining that he was just "trying to help" War-Mobilization Director Byrnes, the mayor expressed fear that the nation-wide curfew would cause a "recurrence of criminal activities, graft, corruption, and unlawful operations such as were created by prohibition."

La Guardia, who has been dubbed "a general without troops" since the night spots deserted him in his curfew rebellion, declared his one hour extension of the midnight closing hour was intended to make the plan "workable, enforceable, and sensible" as it applied to New York City.

Doubts Real Enforcement.

He expressed doubt that Byrnes' threat of sanctions would provide real curfew enforcement or that sanctions would be invoked in case of violations, judging from the administration of other executive orders. The sanctions he referred to are fuel, light, and man power curbs that might be imposed.

In a one man debate with himself, the mayor asked himself a series of questions and then answered them, thus:

Q.—Did the one hour of tolerance exclude service men? A.—Not at all. The army issued the order that service men should not be served during that hour.

Q.—Why was the curfew request made in Washington? A.—I do not know. I have not found any one in Washington who seems to know.

Q.—Are other cities carrying out the curfew request? A.—I leave it to the people of other cities to look around and judge for themselves.

He suggested that the curfew issue be placed before congress.

"Just Being Realistic."

If Byrnes had the right to make a "request," couldn't the mayor make a "suggestion," he then asked.

"I am simply being realistic," he declared. "I refuse to be hypocritical. I am entirely indifferent to political capital being sought to be made in an election year. . . ."

The belief has been expressed that the mayor was motivated in his curfew revolt by a desire to win popular support in a possible quest of a fourth term in office, for which he might have to campaign against a Roosevelt candidate.

Turning on the cafes and night clubs which had spurned his "hour of tolerance" after trying it for a few days, the mayor mentioned his personal dislike of night clubs. He added:

"I believe we have too many liquor places in the city."

Even before these blunt remarks, there was little comfort along Broadway over the situation. Many night club owners expressed fear that because they switched back to Byrnes' midnight curfew and flouted La Guardia's extra hour, they might be subjected to "reprisals" by the mayor.

La Guardia said that the city could invoke no penalties against places which had liquor licenses but did not provide entertainment, because the New York state law fixed their hour of closing at 4 a. m.

RED CROSS GETS 57.1 PER CENT OF $11,300,000 GOAL

Martin H. Kennelly, chairman of the Red Cross War Fund campaign, said yesterday that a total of $6,469,000, or 57.1 per cent of the Chicago chapter's $11,300,000 quota, has been subscribed to date. The chapter's percentage of its quota during a comparable period last year was only 31.8 per cent, Kennelly said. Contributions in the last week amounted to $2,439,593, he reported, and donations for the first four days this week averaged more than half a million dollars a day. He urged the group leaders of the drive to continue their endeavors to maintain the high daily contribution totals.

TOLEDO MOVIE STILL DEFYING CURFEW ORDER

Toledo, O., March 22 [Special].—Jack O'Connell, theater owner, stood pat today on his challenge of the midnight curfew with the assertion that his Loop movie house will be open all night tonight as usual.

Ralph O. Snyder, area war man power director, announced he had certified the matter to WMC state headquarters at Columbus and that it would be forwarded to Washington. He has expressed the expectation that sanctions will be imposed, but O'Connell replied with the warning he would "take you into court if you try to stop me from running my midnight show."

Local army and navy officers said they would enforce the midnight curfew in respect to their personnel beginning tonight. O'Connell, however, saw no threat to his case in this move, for his audiences are mostly late shift war workers, for whose benefit he says he runs his night show.

OPA FINISHES COUPON AUDIT AT WAREHOUSE

The auditing division of the regional office of price administration last night completed an inventory of hundreds of millions of gasoline and food coupons and certificates in the OPA regional warehouse at 559 E. Illinois st., Richard Greenberg, regional executive officer, said.

He said the auditors reported it would take them until Monday to assemble all their figures and compare them with records of shipments and receipts since the warehouse was established two years ago, and that he would have a report by that time.

The audit followed the reported theft of 2,000,000 C-7 gasoline coupons from the warehouse last week, and the recovery of about one-half of these as well as 3,700,000 in R-3 [nonhighway] gasoline coupons which the OPA never had reported missing. Greenberg said the report would show whether any other coupons or certificates were missing.

OPPOSE DENVER BID FOR ROTARY HEADQUARTERS

Spokesmen for the Rotary Club of Chicago, while conceding the importance of the Denver [Colo.] Rotary club and the attractions of Denver, yesterday put forth arguments against the transfer of Rotary International headquarters from Chicago to Denver.

The international board, in a meeting Jan. 6, split four and four on the proposition of moving to the Colorado city. Another meeting is scheduled May 23. Denver has submitted plans and cost estimates for a Rotary International headquarters adjoining an attractive park in the eastern section of the city and has claimed the cost would be under the $600,000 maximum which Rotary has set as the cost of a new building and grounds. Maintenance and incidental expenses, Denver asserts, would be much less than rental costs in Chicago. [Rotary International now rents 27,000 square feet of floor space in the Pure Oil building, but soon will have to acquire an additional 13,000.]

Rotary Founded Here.

"Rotary serves best by being located in a great market place where many business men and their various organizations can mingle," said O. K. Burrows, chairman of the public information committee of the Rotary Club of Chicago. "There are opportunities to contact more people and organizations here than there would be in any other city except New York. Also, Rotary's 'Plymouth Rock' is here."

The last was a reference to the fact that the Rotary club started in Chicago in 1905.

May Wait for Convention.

Another Rotary spokesman said there was a feeling among members that no move be made until a full convention can be called to consider the matter. He pointed out that nothing could be done in the way of building until after the war, and that if a move were made now Rotary International would have to find quarters and pay rent in Denver.

In the meantime the Chicago Association of Commerce is assembling data on the advantages of this city as a permanent home for Rotary International.

Widow Loses $16,000 She Posted for Auto Thief

Federal Judge Walter J. La Buy yesterday gave the government a $16,000 judgment against Mrs. Tillie Solomon, a widow, who had pledged property at 5709 N. Clark st. on the forfeited bond of George Soeder, fugitive auto thief. Kenneth S. Nathan, assistant United States attorney, said Mrs. Solomon has 30 days to produce Soeder before the government can execute the judgment. Soeder faces trial on 16 indictments.

DRAFTEE CALLS MAY BE LOWERED 31% AFTER JULY 1

Mobilization Will Be Completed in 1945.

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Draft calls may drop an average of 31 per cent after July 1, the White House disclosed today coincident with a house military committee vote to extend the draft law without change.

President Roosevelt, sending a request to congress for $54,500,000 to finance selective service another fiscal year, said this contemplated an average draft call of 93,000 a month.

This compares with a figure of 135,000 which Maj. Gen. Stephen Henry told the house committee is the expected average from now until June.

The White House spoke of the after July need as being merely one of replacements. It said that by then "mobilization of the largest armed force by far in the nation's history" will be complete.

VOTES TO EXTEND LAW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22. — The house military committee voted today to extend the selective service draft system for the duration of the war, after high army officials testified inductions will continue until both Germany and Japan are beaten. The act is scheduled to expire May 15.

Gen. Idwal Edwards.

Committee members, after questioning the officials about sending 18 year olds into combat with less than four months' training, decided against writing into the bill any provision requiring longer training.

Maj. Gen. Idwal Edwards, assistant chief of staff on army training, said that replacements, including 18 year olds, receive 15 weeks training for infantry and 17 weeks for artillery and other lines.

Break-thru Upset Plans.

He explained that last "summer and fall" the army had a fixed policy of keeping draftees in this country until they became 19, but that the German break-thru in December forced the sending of 18 year olds.

"The break-thru upset a lot of calculations," he added

In at least one case, Edwards continued, an 18 year old was sent into combat and killed 5 months and 9 days after he reported for induction.

"The army is combing its ranks for older men fit for combat who can be sent as replacements," he said. "But the 18 year olds are needed, too. It would definitely retard the prosecution of the war to keep these young men in this country for, say, one year."

Under questioning by Rep. Harness [R., Ind.] Edwards denied that Gen. Marshall, army chief of staff, made any promise to congress that 18 year olds would be given one year's training, when the draft age was lowered from 19 to 18 in 1942.

Maj. Gen. Stephen G. Henry, assistant chief of staff on personnel, told the group that current inductions are 100,000 monthly for the army and 35,000 for the navy, and that this rate is slated to continue at least thru June 30.

He explained that, altho draft calls will be reduced after Germany is beaten, inductions will continue to obtain young men to replace those to be discharged.

Henry said the army has 8,129,000 men, excluding 1,716,000 already lost. The latter figure includes 172,000 dead, 132,000 prisoners, and 1,412,000 discharged. Taking into account the 450,000 wounded in hospitals, he added, the army's effective strength is slightly less than its goal of 7,700,000.

'Rid U. S. of Foes'

Former Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio last night said that those not willing to abide by the Constitution of the United States ought to be sent to live in the lands they "adore." Bricker spoke before an assembly of Scottish Rite groups of Chicago in the Scottish Rite cathedral.

He emphasized that World War II. is being fought to preserve the principles of freedom and self-government and to give other people of the world, who also long for freedom, the right to a better government in their own countries.

Bricker asserted that the United States' vital contributions to the winning of the war have been possible because Americans have been free and have governed themselves longer and "done a better job of it" than any other race on earth.

PERSHING TANK NOW IN ACTION, GERMANS CLAIM

LONDON, March 22 (AP).—The German radio said today that American forces on the western front were using the new General Pershing tank equipped with guns of 90 millimeters [almost 4 inches]. The broadcast quoted field dispatches as saying the Pershing was the counterpart of the German King Tiger tank. The dispatches did not indicate whether the new American tanks had appeared in large numbers and did not comment on their performance.

JOYOUS THRONGS WELCOME HOME HOLLAND QUEEN

EEDE, The Netherlands, March 13 [Delayed]—(AP).—Queen Wilhelmina returned to the Netherlands at this battle-ruined frontier village today on an extensive 10 day visit. It was her first trip to her homeland since her escape from the Germans nearly five years ago.

Wherever the 64 year old monarch went she was loudly acclaimed with excitement and joy. Villagers had less than a half day's notice that she was coming, but they hurried into their best—but shabby—clothes and thronged around her limousine waving flags, shouting, and singing.

She stepped on Netherlands soil again in the province of Zeeland at a point only 12 miles from the coast. Her driver was United States Army Sgt. Steve Fischer of Great Falls, Mont., who had driven Prime Minister Churchill, Gen. Eisenhower, and Gen. Marshall.

DRAFT CHANGES MONDAY IN CITY NURSERY LAWS

Ald. Gillespie [29th], chairman, yesterday called a meeting for 10:30 a. m. Monday of the city council committee on health to consider proposals to modify and clarify regulations applying to the several hundred day nurseries operated in Chicago for the children of war workers. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, closed four nurseries two weeks ago for failing to comply with health and fire regulations. Aldermen Bohling [7th] and Lancaster [37th] suggested that the regulations could be relaxed, and many telegrams protesting the closing of the nurseries have been sent to Mayor Kelly.

SCHREIBER SUIT ENDS; BROKER TO ACCEPT $7,800

The suit of Ray L. Elster, an egg broker, against City Clerk Ludwig D. Schreiber's butter and egg firm, for half of the alleged $212,000 profits in the sale of powdered eggs to the government, was ended in federal District court yesterday when attorneys reported they had reached a settlement.

Judge Philip L. Sullivan dismissed the jury that had been hearing the case for two days after attorneys announced Elster had agreed to accept $7,800. Elster had claimed a share of the profits on his contention that he brought the business to Schrieber.

CHARGES SOVIET ACTS IN POLAND ARE LIKE NAZIS'

Treatment of the Polish people in sections of Poland occupied by the Russians has caused many of them to lose faith in Russia, Mrs. Joanne Okonski, 525 W. Becher st., Milwaukee, said yesterday. With her husband, Chester, 36, who served with the Polish underground army, and their two young daughters, Mrs. Okonski survived the 63 day Warsaw uprising which began in August, 1944, and returned to America on the exchange ship Gripsholm in January.

Mrs. Joanne Okonski.

"The Polish population was quite friendly toward the Russians," said Mrs. Okonski, "but after the occupation the Poles were disappointed over the Russians' attitude and treatment of the people." She said the Russian policy of forced labor, removal of Poles from their homes, and seizure of food and other property was much like that of the Germans before them.

Her statement was made in the office of the Polish consulate general at 49 Cedar st., where she and her husband arranged for her husband's papers. He is a Polish citizen. They were married in Poland but she is an American citizen. Her citizenship, she said, resulted in concessions granted her husband which he would not otherwise have received.

COMMONS ROWS OVER CHURCHILL PEACE PLANNERS

Critics Accuse Premier of 'Packing' Delegation.

Anthony Eden.

LONDON, March 22 (AP).—A bitter political row flared up in the house of commons today when Laborites accused Prime Minister Churchill of packing Britain's seven man, two woman delegation to the world security conference at San Francisco in order to maintain his Conservative party's supremacy after the war.

Tempers snapped in the usually staid house as Churchill announced that Foreign Secretary Eden would lead these delegates to the conference beginning April 25:

Secretary Cranborne [left], Ambassador Halifax, and Deputy Prime Minister Attlee [right].

Clement Atlee, deputy prime minister and lord president of the council; Robert Cecil [Lord Cranborne], dominions secretary; Ambassador Halifax, and five parliamentary secretaries, George Tomlinson of the labor ministry; William Mabane, food; Dingle M. Foot, economic warfare; Miss Ellen Wilkinson, home secretary; and Miss Florence Horsbrugh, health. There are four Conservatives, three Laborites, and two Liberals.

Laborites Attack Churchill.

When the prime minister announced Eden, a Conservative, would lead the delegation, the Labor members immediately attacked. Aneurin Bevan, a consistent critic of Churchill, asked why Attlee, a Laborite, had not been given the chief role.

Churchill explained that Attlee had no constitutional authority while Eden, holding the seals of state, was responsible for the conduct of foreign affairs.

"That is not the answer at all," Bevan shot back.

Then Emanuel Shinwell struck.

"Is it not all quite consistent with his [Churchill's] declaration at a Conservative conference," Shinwell asked, "that the Conservative party, having got all they wanted in the way of assistance and guidance in the war, are now going to get everything which is useful in their own hands?"

Cheers and Jeers Follow.

Shinwell's statement was met with cheers and countering jeers.

Churchill roared back:

"He [Shinwell] has done everything in his power to break up this government and hopes to gain after its dissolution what he would never gain while national affairs predominated in men's minds."

"Any fair minded man would say," added Churchill, "that the Labor party had fair representation."

"Not from you," shouted Shinwell.

"I am responsible for nominating this delegation," Churchill snapped, "and they [the Laborites] have fair representation in this delegation."

Then Laborite Capt. Frederick Bellenger came to Shinwell's side by asking, "Is it in order for any member to impute such unworthy motives to any member as the prime minister has imputed to Mr. Shinwell?"

Churchill Glares.

Shinwell, apparently not wanting any help, shouted, "I prefer it that way from the prime minister," and an unidentified voice rang out "so do we."

Churchill simply glared.

The Labor party has been on a rampage ever since Churchill's recent speech at a Conservative party conference when the prime minister suggested a post-war coalition government after the present regime is dissolved. But this was really the first opportunity that the Laborites had to open up.

At one stage Churchill referred to Shinwell's manner as "churlish," and at another point declared "people have a right to live even if they don't agree with the honorable gentleman."

Once Churchill remarked that "some people like to fish in troubled waters." From the Labor bench David Kirwood yelled: "You are a number one fisherman."

French Propose Amendments.

PARIS, March 22 (AP).—The French government released today the text of proposed amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks security plan, calling for a greater role for regional pacts such as the French-Soviet alliance.

The principal proposal would permit signatories of regional pacts to act in emergencies without prior approval from the world security council.

Hearing in Death of a Puppy

Mrs. Plum fainted during the hearing. Here Bailiff Jennie Du Bray works to revive her.

DEATH OF PUPPY LEADS JURORS TO VOTE TRUE BILL

The grand jury was reported yesterday to have voted a true bill charging Antonio Fradet, 46, with clubbing to death a 2 month old German shepherd puppy belonging to an elderly woman tenant in his building at 17-19 Springfield av.

The reported jury action was taken on a seldom used statute—cruelly killing a domestic animal—and carrying a punishment of a penitentiary sentence of one to three years or a maximum fine of $1,000, or both.

The voting of the true bill followed a hearing in Felony court before Judge Gibson E. Gorman, who ordered Fradet held for jury action after the pup's owner, Mrs. Catherine Plum, 70, fainted as she told of being informed the dog had been clubbed to death.

"Raised It Like a Baby."

Mrs. Plum, who is extremely feeble, told how she had been given the puppy, Lassie, by her granddaughter, Mrs. Marie Kuchar. "I raised the puppy like a baby," she said. "My landlord [Fradet] killed him." She added that Fradet told her that if she got another dog he would kill it, too.

The fatal clubbing of the dog occurred Feb. 9, Mrs. Plum testified. She told how the puppy's body was found in the ash pit in the basement of the building by Mrs. Kuchar's husband, Jerry, after he learned the dog was missing from her flat.

Faints Answering Question.

"Did you go down to the basement and see the dog?" Assistant State's Atty. Joseph Pope asked her.

"No . . . my puppy . . . my dead puppy," she began, then she fainted.

Kuchar testified that in looking for the missing puppy he saw a light in the building basement, peered thru a window, and saw Fradet prodding the body of the pup with a club. Kuchar said that when he later confronted Fradet, Fradet admitted clubbing the dog but gave no reason for the beating.

Fradet waived any defense and did not testify. His attorney, Mal Coghlan, indicated a defense when he asked one of the witnesses if it were not true that Fradet had accidentally kicked and injured the dog in a darkened hallway of the building. The witness said that was not so.

SCHNACKENBERG AND COURTNEY ON COURT SLATE

Two Parties Nominate Identical Tickets.

Identical judicial tickets of 20 nominees for Circuit court and four for Superior court to be voted on at the June 4 election were named yesterday by the Democratic and Republican county central committees, holding judicial conventions simultaneously.

All sitting judges were renominated and existing vacancies divided between the two parties. Elmer Schnackenberg, former speaker of the Illinois house, and former State's Atty. Thomas J. Courtney were nominated for full six year terms on the Circuit bench. Leonard C. Reid, named by Gov. Green to the Circuit bench earlier this month after Judge Daniel P. Trude resigned, was renominated with other sitting judges.

Niemeyer Is Renominated.

Judge Grover C. Niemeyer, only member of the Superior bench whose term expires this year, was renominated. Named for three vacancies on the Superior bench are Charles E. Byrne and John M. Tuohy, Democrats, and Edwin A. Robson, Republican. They will serve until 1947, when most Superior terms expire.

Circuit court judges renominated: Democrats—Frank H. Bicek, Joseph Burke, Robert J. Dunne, Benjamin P. Epstein, Philip J. Finnegan, Harry M. Fisher, Cornelius J. Harrington, Thomas J. Lynch, D. J. Normoyle, and John Prystalski. Republicans—William V. Brothers, Michael Feinberg, Hugo M. Friend, Stanley H. Klarkowski, David F. Matchett, Julius Miner, and Kickham Scanlan.

Negro Committeemen Protest.

Both conventions had been called for 11 a. m., the Republicans reconvening from last Monday to receive the report of a nominating committee, submitted by Henry A. Gardner, New Trier township committeeman. The only objection to the coalition ticket was offered by William E. King and Oscar De Priest, Negro committeemen of the second and third wards, who protested the party's failure to include a Negro candidate.

Republicans provided for any vacancies on the ticket that may occur before election day by adopting a resolution of Russell Root, 7th ward committeeman, empowering the committee on candidates to fill such vacancies.

No Dissent Among Democrats.

The Democratic convention, late in starting, got down to business quickly. A nominating committee headed by Clayton F. Smith, 33d ward committeeman and president of the county board, was out scarcely five minutes when it returned and presented the coalition ticket, which was adopted without a dissenting vote.

The entire group of coalition candidates, with the exception of Schnackenberg and Courtney, was introduced to the Democratic delegates by Mayor Kelly after the ticket had been approved. Kelly had stated earlier that coalition was the doctrine of the Democratic party because it rewarded able judges, adding that "older experienced men are better than younger inexperienced men."

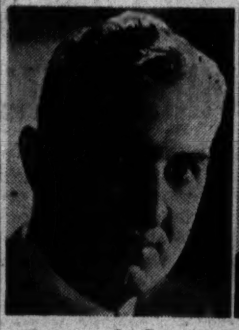
Downstate Nominations Made.

Republican delegates from De Kalb, Kane, Du Page, and Kendall counties held their 16th circuit judicial convention last night in the court house at Geneva and renominated Judges Win G. Knoch of Naperville, Charles A. O'Connor of Aurora, and Harry W. McEwen of De Kalb.

Republican delegates from Kankakee, Iroquois, and Will counties, convening yesterday in Kankakee, nominated C. D. Henry of Kankakee, Roscoe C. South of Watseka, and James V. Bartley of Joliet for judgeships in the 12th judicial circuit. South and Bartley are completing their first terms. Henry, Kankakee county judge, is seeking the seat left vacant by the death of Judge Luther Bratton. Democratic delegates meet in Joliet today.

The 17th circuit, including Boone, Lake, McHenry, and Winnebago counties will hold its district judicial convention at 3 p. m. tomorrow in Waukegan. Judges Ralph J. Dady and William R. Dusher are indorsed for renomination, but Judge William L. Pierce is retiring and a four way fight has developed for his place among Henry L. Cowlin of Crystal Lake, William M. Carroll, and David Joslyn of Woodstock, and Frank A. Oakley of Belvidere.

Slated to Be Elected Judges

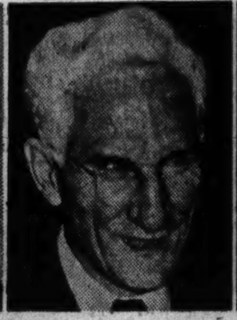


Thomas J. Courtney was born in Chicago in 1894, only son in a family of seven children. He passed the civil service examination and became a clerk in the Chicago police department when he was 20. Later he became secretary to city council committees and, after serving in the navy in World War I, became the council's sergeant at arms. He studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1926 and the same year was elected to the state senate. He was elected state's attorney in 1932 and served until last fall. As a candidate for mayor in 1939, he was defeated in the primary by Mayor Kelly. He was married in 1917 to Kathryn Foley of Chicago. They have one daughter, Mrs. Edward J. Vaughan.

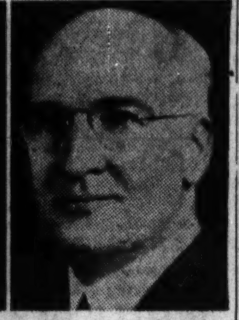
Elmer J. Schnackenberg was born in Indianapolis in 1889, was educated at the University of Chicago law school and admitted to the Illinois bar in 1912. He was elected state representative that year and served the 13th district on Chicago's south shore continuously until 1944. Schnackenberg was Republican leader in 1933 and 1937 and was elected speaker in 1941 and 1943. He was not a candidate last year. Schnackenberg served the South Park commissioners in 1925 as general attorney. He was married in 1916 to Hazel E. Bard. They have six children, including three sons now in the armed forces and one recently discharged after service in Europe. They reside at 6936 S. Euclid av.

Leonard C. Reid was born in Michigan in 1887, was graduated from the University of Michigan law school in 1909 and has practiced law in Chicago since that time. He has been a circuit court master in chancery since 1931 and on March 5, 1945, became a Circuit court judge under appointment by Gov. Green. He was elected 15th ward committeeman in 1928 and was a delegate to the Republican national conventions in 1928, 1940, and 1944. He is a cousin of Gov. Dewey. He was married to Coralyn Bass in 1912. They have three children, Mrs. Robert S. Ingersoll, Mrs. James H. Ingersoll, and Robert Leonard Reid, cadet midshipman in the merchant marine. They reside at 4810 Ellis av.

Edwin A. Robson was born in Chicago in 1905, was graduated from De Paul university and admitted to the bar in Illinois in 1928. He has served since 1941 as legislative counsel for the Cook county board and since 1943 has been the Republican minority member of the Cook county civil service commission. He has been campaign manager for the Republican county commissioners from the suburban area since 1934 and is now president of the New Trier township Republican organization. He is married and the father of three children.



John M. Tuohy was born in Bloomington, Ill., in 1893. He is a brother of State's Atty. William J. Tuohy. He studied law at Georgetown university and Illinois Wesleyan and was admitted to the bar in 1920. He was on the faculty of the law schools of Illinois Wesleyan and Loyola and received an honorary doctor's degree from Loras college, Dubuque, Ia. He has practiced law in Chicago since 1923. Mrs. Tuohy died a year ago. Mr. Tuohy resides with his four sons and two daughters at 6134 Kenmore av.



Charles E. Byrne was born in Indianapolis in 1887, received his A. B. degree from Loyola university in 1906 and his law degree in 1916. He was assistant advertising manager of Marshall Field & Co. in 1907, advertising and sales manager of Steger & Sons Piano Mfg. Co., from 1911 to 1919 and vice president, treasurer, and general manager until 1930 when he opened a law office. He was a member of the Illinois Commerce commission in 1933. Byrne is a former president of the Loyola University Alumni association. He is married and has two children.

COURTNEY GETS OFFER OF FEA OVERSEAS JOB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Thomas J. Courtney, former state's attorney in Cook county, Illinois, is considering accepting an overseas appointment with the foreign economics administration, he told reporters today.

Courtney said he came to Washington at the request of Leo T. Crowley, FEA administrator, to discuss "an assignment for the FEA in some foreign country." He said he could not discuss Crowley's offer in detail.

Asked how long the assignment would keep him out of the country, Courtney said the time was "indefinite."

Courtney said he intended to "think it over for a week" before giving Crowley an answer. He left the capital for Chicago this afternoon after having lunch with Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.].

NEW RED DRIVE ROLLS MILE FROM CZECH FRONTIER

Kill or Capture 45,000 Nazis in Silesia.

LONDON, March 22 (AP).—Russian troops, in a new two-pronged offensive in Upper Silesia, have smashed to within one mile of Czechoslovakia in advances of 25 miles and killed or captured 45,000 enemy troops in a 450 square mile trap west of the Oder river, Moscow announced tonight.

Premier Stalin announced that Marshal Konev's 1st Ukrainian had toppled the key industrial city of Neustadt and more than 400 other towns and villages in the first stages of the Russian break-thru, now extended to an 80 mile front.

Konev's offensive dovetailed with another assault which the Germans said the Russians had launched against the Baltic port of Stettin and with a Red army offensive over German reconquered territory in Hungary. Berlin said the latter drive had reached within 95 miles of Vienna.

Drive Closer to Baltic Ports.

Moscow's war bulletin also announced that Marshal Rokossovsky's 2d White Russian army was hammering closer to the twin Baltic ports of Danzig and Gdynia. Advancing thru the canal webbed Vistula delta south of Danzig, the Russians seized nine places, including one six miles from the former Free City. Other forces were three and a half miles from Gdynia.

In East Prussia Marshal Vasilevsky's 3d White Russian army struck from three sides against the last German outpost of Heiligenbeil, while Rusisan dive bombers lashed the battered remnants of enemy troops being thrown back four miles from the sea.

Other soviet troops in Czechoslovakia carved out new gains in the Carpathian mountains north and northwest of Zvolen. Moscow also announced that Russian, Yugoslav, and Bulgarian troops had smashed a German bridgehead across the Drava river midway between Budapest and Belgrade.

Smash Nazi Defenses.

Smashing thru German defenses both west and south of the Oder river city of Oppeln, 46 miles southeast of Breslau, Marshal Konev's men encircled and routed an enemy group southwest of Oppeln. More than 30,000 were killed and 15,000 captured, Moscow said.

Stalin revealed that Konev's troops crossed the Oder river in a 12 mile sector between the captured east bank towns of Krappitz, 13 miles south of Oppeln, and Cosel, 24 miles southeast.

The southern arm swept west thru Ober-Glogau, 12 miles west of Cosel, and Zuelz, 21 miles west. Simultaneously, the northern arm dashed south from the area of Grottkau and won Falkenberg, 13 miles west of Oppeln.

Forces Join, Trap Nazis.

Linking in the Zuelz area the Russians trapped enemy troops in the Tillowitz forest area southwest of Oppeln and together smashed into the city of Neustadt.

Berlin said that Russian spearheads, battering eight miles west of Neustadt, were hammering at the gates of Ziegenhals, a junction on the railroad, which, if cut, would force the Germans to route supplies and industrial goods thru Prague.

Meanwhile, enemy broadcasts reported that Marshal Zhukov had hurled an estimated 300,000 men and at least 800 tanks into the battle for Stettin.

The DNB German news agency said that 25 Russian divisions plus four armored corps were making the assault. Another enemy broadcast hinted soviet units might already have crossed the Oder river and be fighting in Stettin's streets.

Battles Rage in Hungary.

Far to the south in Hungary the enemy reported that Marshal Tolbukhin's 3d Ukrainian army had stepped up break-thru attempts on a 47 mile front west of Budapest between the Danube river and Lake Balaton.

At the same time, street fighting was reported raging in the key junction of Szekesfehervar, 32 miles southwest of Budapest.

Berlin also said that Russian troops had launched an all-out offensive in Latvia in a sixth attempt to clear the 6,000 square mile enemy pocket in the Courland peninsula.

NEWLYWEDS, 14 AND 16, AGREE TO PART FOR WHILE

Edward Waybright, 16, of 3916½ N. Kedvale av., yesterday obtained a release from Schurz High school and prepared to start a war job today. He will earn approximately $45 per week, most of which he will put aside until July, 1946, when he will be permitted to see his bride, the former Gloria Welsh, 14, with whom he eloped last week to Lexington, Ky.

At a meeting with juvenile authorities, the couple agreed not to see each other until she is 16 years old and he is 18. Edward's mother, Mrs. C. E. Waybright, said she believes Gloria's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Welsh of 5416 Pensacola av., will seek an annulment.

"I'm not going to do a thing about this," Mrs. Waybright said, "but we'll respect Mrs. Welsh's wish that Gloria and Edward stay apart. The important thing is the happiness of the children."

87 FOUND GUILTY OF WAR CRIMES IN FINNISH TRIAL

HELSINKI, Finland, March 24 (AP).—Finland's first war crimes trial has brought conviction of 87 persons, with sentences ranging from life terms to a few months imprisonment or fines, it was announced today.

Included in the sentences were life terms for six soldiers accused of murdering Russian prisoners of war. Twenty of the accused were cleared by the Finnish civil and military court.

The mass trial resulted from investigations made by a special Finnish authority set up by the government to examine treatment of war prisoners. The official announcement said 165 prisoners had been ordered to trial and an additional 488 cases were held in abeyance.

Red Complaint Indicated.

Accompanying the announcement of the sentences was a statement by Minister of Justice Urho Kekkonen disclosing that he had admonished the trial court that the punishment prescribed was "mainly too light."

He further disclosed that the Finnish foreign ministry had called his attention to the seeming mildness of the sentences, which obviously meant that Russia had complained thru the foreign ministry.

[The allied armistice commission, largely Russian, was reported to have demanded in October the arrest of 100 Finns, including four generals, most of them connected with the administration of eastern Karelia.]

Several Finns expressed belief that new Communist members of the Finnish parliament would seek to press the war crimes question beyond the present stage, which is concerned principally with the conduct of Finnish military personnel or administrative officers during the war against Russia.

"New Struggles" Forecast.

MOSCOW, March 22 (AP).—The government paper Izvestia said today that while the left wing Democratic People's union had won 25 per cent of the seats in the Finnish parliament, last week-end's election showed "those elements which stand in opposition to the progressive development" of the Finnish state are still strong. "Consequently," Izvestia said, "there remain further struggles with those who led the Finnish people to a war of catastrophe."

ARAB STATES SIGNED UP FOR OWN LEAGUE

BOY, 3, DROWNS WHILE PLAYING BESIDE RIVER

Leo Povsher.

Leo Povsher, 3½, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Povsher, of 3453 W. 15th st., drowned late yesterday in the river at Carmen and Albany avs. while playing with a cousin, Marvin Kushner, 5½, of 4957 N. Troy st.

Capt. Howard O'Brien of inhalator squad 4 said the boys had left the Kushner home, about two blocks from the river, only a few minutes before Marvin ran screaming to his mother that Leo had drowned. Mrs. Povsher, who had been taking care of Mrs. Kushner, a sister, who had been ill, ran to the river and enlisted the aid of Arthur Levy, 18, of 4741 Bernard st., a former life guard, who was passing.

Levy, a senior at Roosevelt High school, pulled the body from about three feet of water and applied artificial respiration until the inhalator squad arrived. The Povshers have one other son, Benjamin, 8.

RUSSIA'S ENDING OF TURK TREATY UPSETS CAPITAL

Fear New Conflict Over the Dardanelles.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Official Washington tonight was gravely concerned over the prospect of a war between Russia and Turkey on the heels of soviet termination of the 20 year nonaggression pact with the Turks.

The state department was holding its breath over the possibility that Russian demands or even actual hostilities might come before April 25 to make a mockery of the San Francisco chapter of the Dumbarton Oaks world security conference.

At the war and navy departments the military high command was keeping fingers crossed against the possibility that another war might break out before the present conflict is ended and thus slow the time clock of defeat for Germany.

Bearing on Future Relations.

Thruout the state, war, and navy departments the announcement of Russian termination of the nonaggression pact created the greatest stir officials have known since Pearl Harbor. The step was seen as laden with significance on future relations of the Big Three powers and the post-war world.

In informed sectors of the capital the news was regarded as absolute confirmation of reliable reports that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill had promised the Dardanelles to Russia among the complete concessions granted to the soviets at the Yalta conference.

Military circles confidently expected the Turks to resist any Russian move to take the strategic area by diplomacy or force. The Turks, who recently declared war on Germany and Japan in response to allied pressure, have received some American equipment under lend-lease which would be thrown into battle against American lend-lease equipment given to Russia, in the event of a war.

Major Development.

A strict silence was observed on what was privately acknowledged by officials as a major development of the war. The Turkish embassy was also silent. The action was not unexpected in diplomatic circles, however, as many observers had long expected that Russia would move against the Turks sooner or later.

The termination of the Russo-Turkish pact was announced simultaneously last night in Moscow and Washington. The Washington announcement came in the soviet information bulletin, an official embassy publication which is released three times a week.

The bulletin is published several days in advance of release. For this reason it was evident that the soviets had advised the embassy here of the step before it was taken and had authorized publication simultaneously with the Moscow announcement.

Extended to 20 Years.

The soviet-Turkish treaty had been in effect since 1925. It was reaffirmed March 25, 1941, less than two months before the Nazi invasion of Russia and at a time when Hitler was pressing territorial and other demands on Stalin.

Originally the treaty was drawn for 10 years, but it was later extended to 20 years. It was supplemented by a protocol, drawn Oct. 30, 1931, under which both countries pledged themselves not to sign any political treaty with any neighboring country without consulting each other.

Under the declaration of affirmation of March 25, 1941, the two countries pledged themselves to maintain an attitude of complete neutrality in the event that one of them should be attacked. In August, 1941, Britain and Russia gave Turkey pledges to respect her territorial integrity.

A "New Understanding."

The pact was terminated by Foreign Commissar Molotov, who informed the Turkish ambassador at Moscow that while the soviet union "recognized the value" of the pact, nevertheless "the great changes that have taken place particularly during the second war" require a new understanding. It also was said that the treaty "no longer corresponds to new conditions and needs considerable improvement."

It was regarded here that the termination of the treaty is the first step toward realization of Russia's age old ambitions to control the Dardanelles and have a powerful port on the Mediterranean. This ambition was freely expressed by Stalin at Yalta and reportedly was grudgingly approved by Roosevelt and Churchill, because the only alternative would be to fight Russia over Turkey.

Observers expect the soviets to terminate another pact within the next few weeks. The Russo-Japanese pact expires April 25, the day the San Francisco conference opens. Termination of this pact is expected to be hailed as evidence of allied accord and the prelude to a Russian declaration of war against Japan.

MAYOR KELLY BOMBER FLYERS HELD BY NAZIS

Five Chicagoans in the crew of the B-24 bomber, the Mayor Kelly, reported missing Jan. 16, apparently are alive and well in a Nazi prison camp, it was learned here yesterday. Mrs. Ruth Isaacson, 5110 Kimball av., had a letter from her husband, Lt. Wesley Isaacson, 22, pilot, telling her he was uninjured, feeling fine, playing checkers, and reading. She also received a wire from the government.

Lt. Wesley Isaacson [left], Lt. Richard Styslo, and Lt. Alfred L. Kopitzki [right].

All of the Chicagoans were reported safe in a letter from Lt. Alfred L. Kopitzki, 22, co-pilot, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kopitzski, 5519 S. California v. Mrs. Lorraine Cipolla, 2432 N. 77th ct., Elmwood Park, had good news, too, from her brother, Lt. Richard Styslo, 21, bombardier, who wrote of the crew's capture.

So far there has been no direct news from Lt. Edward J. Franczak, 25, radar operator, but his wife, Dorothy, 102 W. 117th st., is hoping her letter will come soon. Also hoping to hear personally is Mrs. Mary Wilczak, 2911 W. 40th st., wife of Lt. Alexander Wilczak, 28, bombardier and navigator. She said she was reassured by the other letters, which reported the crew all together and safe. The sixth man in the crew was Lt. Ray Custer, Johnstown, Pa.

ALLIES LAUNCH DRIVE ON RUHR, BERLIN REPORTS

Tells of Great Barrage Across Rhine.

1st army moved into position to outflank the Ruhr from the south, increasing its hold on the Rhine's east bank to 31 miles and deepening its bridgehead to nine miles.

The 1st army now held nine miles of the south bank of the Sieg river northeast of Bonn within a dozen miles of the Ruhr's southern rim and was ready to hurdle that minor river barrier and strike northward.

[The American broadcasting station in Europe said in a broadcast heard by NBC that the Yanks had crossed the Sieg and captured Siegburg, a city of 20,000 population.]

Southward, the 1st army bridgehead extended to within seven and a half miles of Coblenz, on the west bank, where the 3d army sits in firm control.

Mainz Defense Crumbles.

German broadcasts admitted that the bridgehead had been mushroomed until now it had achieved "tactical importance" and might well form the southern jaw to Montgomery's northern pincer.

Before the onslaught of Patton's 3d army German defense lines crumpled yesterday in Mainz, which fanatical SS [elite] troops had tried to turn into an island of resistance in a sea of almost unsurpassed destruction.

They had impressed police and firemen and unlimbered anti-tank and self-propelled guns and held out for two days, but the 90th division shattered their lines with an early morning barrage of great ferocity and then broke thru.

The 94th division to the south battled to rout the last snipers from the great chemical center of Ludwigshafen.

The battle west of the Rhine, which will carry out Gen. Eisenhower's orders to destroy every German short of the big river barrier, was being carried to a swift conclusion by the 3d and 7th armies.

The 10th armored division of the 3d army was fanning out, one column spearing six miles southeast to near Gommersheim, seven miles west of Speyer and only 19 miles northwest of Karlsruhe, industrial city of 200,000 on the Rhine's east bank.

Clamp Pincers on Speyer.

The pincers was being clamped on Speyer. The 10th, after capturing the steel city of Neustadt, pushed on into Bohl, six miles northwest of Speyer, over whose bridge the German radio was calling to the beaten troops to escape before it was too late.

Patton's mystery tank division which first penetrated Ludwigshafen left the mop-up of that city to the 94th infantry division and speared on south to within five miles of Speyer on the north.

Simultaneously the 10th sent one column slashing eight miles southeast thru the Phalz forest, where it severed the enemy's last good east-west road and railway by capturing Annweiler, six miles west of pivotal Landau.

Westward other armored columns drove southward to the vicinity of Muncheweiler, five miles north of Lt. Gen. Patch's 7th army forces battling against the Germans doggedly holding a 35 mile stretch of the Siegfried line from near Pirmasens eastward to the Rhine.

3d and 7th Crisscross.

After capturing Annweiler the 10th drove two miles east to near Albersweiler, three miles west of Landau. There the 3d army was seven miles north of the 7th army fighting in the Siegfried line at Dorrenbach, 17 miles west of Karlsruhe.

West of Pirmasens the 3d and 7th armies were meshing together, crisscrossing each other's path in total disregard for army boundaries in a mopup that was netting prisoners in large numbers.

Fighter-bombers speeded the cleanup by catching a concentration of enemy vehicles trying to pull out beyond the Rhine and destroyed 200 of them.

Mechanized cavalry cleared a six mile stretch of the Rhine bend between Mainz and Bingen, and the 5th infantry and 4th armored divisions closed up to the river bank on a seven mile stretch six to 13 miles south of Mainz.

"Surrendering in Droves."

Patton's forces took 11,300 prisoners on Wednesday and a late front dispatch said the Germans still were surrendering "in droves."

Indicative of the close teamwork of Patch and Patton, the 3d army's 65th division and the 7th army's 63d division cleared Neunkirchen, northeast of Saarbruecken.

Patch's 6th armored division, 28 miles beyond last reported positions, was in the vicinity of Gruenstadt, 10 miles west of Worms, after passing thru Kaiserslautern in the 3d army lines.

Right behind came the 7th's 45th division, which also sped thru Kaiserslautern and on four miles north into Otterburg. This division alone took 1,400 prisoners on Wednesday.

The 14th armored division and French troops were counter-attacked near Steinfeld, four miles northeast of Wissembourg, and resistance was stiff in Dorrenbach, four miles farther northwest.

RUSH WOUNDED TO HOSPITAL BY GLIDER IN 5 MIN.

12 Litter Cases Are Moved at Once.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 1ST ARMY ACROSS THE RHINE, March 22.—Over the east bank of the Rhine this afternoon a C-47 plane swooped down at 110 miles per hour and snatched a glider load of wounded soldiers into the air for a quick five minute trip to a hospital.

It was the first successful evacuation of wounded by glider in the European theater, a practice followed in Burma and New Guinea. Today's glider ride to an evacuation hospital saved the wounded a long, jouncing ride in ambulances which take from three to seven hours, depending on traffic jams, to make the trip to the nearest evacuation hospital.

The wounded, 10 Americans and two Germans, had arrived at a 1st division clearing station only this morning, according to Maj. M. H. Pearson of Spearman, Tex. They were processed immediately thru the 51st field hospital, the first to cross into the bridgehead, and at the direction of the hospital director, Lt. Col. Harry P. Harper of Rochester, Minn., were shipped in three ambulances direct to the new glider evacuation strip.

Take-Off Is Smooth.

Harper, making his first trip by glider, accompanied the load of wounded on the premier flight to find out how much of a shock there was on the pick-up and on landing.

To observers the take-off seemed extremely smooth. Maj. H. H. Cloud Jr., Louisville, Ky., sitting at the glider control with Capt. Don Haug of Wenatchee, Wash., seemed to grit his teeth in anticipation of the shock as the big troop carrier plane roared down over him. But the operation went off without accident.

Two tall, red and white, artillery poles were fixed in the ground. From the poles, 12 feet high and 12 feet apart, a huge loop of the glider rope was suspended. The plane swooped down, skimmed above the glider, and a strong hook dangling by a rope caught the loop.

Tow Rope Stretches.

The heavy nylon tow rope seemed to stretch like elastic, the glider skimmed over the ground, and in seconds was air borne, dangling behind the mother plane. It was explained the 300 foot tow rope has a hundred foot play to absorb the take-off shock.

The wounded didn't know they were to become glider guinea pigs. They were merely told they were to be evacuated by air. They didn't seem to mind much when they were lifted into the gliders.

All were litter cases, altho later the walking wounded will also be glider borne.

LONE STAR FLAG OVER CASSINO, SALERNO AND NOW SIEGFRIED LINE

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE 36TH DIVISION IN SCHWEIGEN, Germany, March 22.—The Lone Star flag of Texas, which this division has carried in its 19 months of fighting from Salerno and Cassino, Italy, was raised for the first time on German soil today. It was unfurled from an archway balcony near this small town just inside Germany and a mile northeast of Wissembourg.

It couldn't remain there long for it marked too good a target for the enemy in the Siegfried line, a little to the north. During the brief ceremony the Germans mortared and shelled the area and sent planes over on strafing missions.

The flag was presented to Maj. Armin Puck of San Antonio, Tex., division provost marshal. It was tendered by the 36th's public relations officer, Lt. Sumner S. Wilson of New Rochelle, N. Y., who is so imbued with his job that he refers to New York as a suburb of Texas.

TRIBUNE WRITER MEETS CHICAGO YANKS IN MAINZ

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MAINZ, Germany, March 22.—We were in St. Martin's cathedral with Capt. James McNamara of Minneapolis, press officer of the 90th division, when a G. I. with a walkie-talkie on his back entered, reverently doffing his helmet.

"Mac," I said idly, "I wonder if he's from Chicago. "Probably," said Mac, so I said: "Where are you from, soldier?" "Chicago," he said.

His name was Pvt. Edward Szczur, 8109 Muskegon av., and he formerly worked for the International Harvester company. A short while later on the street, another soldier spotted the war correspondent's insignia of Charles Haacker, Acme News photographer, and asked: "Chicago Trib?" Haacker called me, and I met Pvt. Albert A. Gauger, 5250 Winona av., who said to tell his wife that he is sorry, but hasn't written for weeks. Then he introduced me to Pvt. Frank Krivsky of 3053 S. Pulaski av.

HUGE AIR FLEETS POUND GERMANS ON LOWER RHINE

LONDON, March 23 [Friday].—More than 8,000 American and British planes gave Germany its greatest dawn to dusk lashing yesterday, concentrating particularly on Nazi defenses east of the Rhine. Last night R. A. F. Mosquitos bombed Berlin for the 31st consecutive time.

These were the major blows delivered during one of the finest flying days of the year yesterday.

1. Approximately 4,000 planes, including 2,000 American and British heavies from Britain, tore up enemy concentrations and reënforcements within the Ruhr industrial basin and surrounding areas. This attack, one of the most violent delivered by air power during the war, was directed at targets across the Rhine from Field Marshal Montgomery's "jump-off" positions.

Hit Big Oil Refinery.

2. A force of more than 500 Italy based American heavy bombers blasted the big Ruhrland oil refinery 70 miles southeast of Berlin. This blow was believed to have virtually halted the production of gasoline within the United States 15th air force's range in southern Germany, Austria, and Hungary.

3. Using the new 11 ton Volcano bombs, British heavy bombers collapsed the main span and the approaches to the important Nienburg railroad bridge between Hannover and Bremen.

4. American and British tactical air forces flew nearly 4,000 sorties from bases on the continent, losing only five planes while destroying 63 German aircraft on the ground and damaging 46 others and picking off eight in the air.

Destroy Many Rail Cars.

The United States 8th air force destroyed or damaged 3,143 railroad cars, 135 locomotives, 92 tanks and armored vehicles and 780 trucks. It rained 1,600 tons of bombs on 16 key communications centers all in a 25 mile triangle between Muenster and the Rhine.

More than 1,300 Fortresses and Liberators mauled nine Nazi army encampments and administrative and supply headquarters in the Ruhr and five airdromes from the vicinity of Bremen to the Munich area.

So widespread were the daylight operations that American armadas from Britain and Italy criss-crossed each other, and part of the fighter escort for the 8th air force bombers made a rendezvous with the 15th air force's Fortresses from the south. Italy based aircraft also smashed at targets in Austria and Czechoslovakia. Early reports indicated 24 American heavy bombers were missing.

CHAUFFEUR TO GET MENTAL TEST.

A psychiatric examination was ordered yesterday for Charles DeVoney, 18, of 1243 Bosworth av., a chauffeur and ex-sailor, by Judge Joseph J. Drucker in Boys' court. Hearing of a disorderly conduct charge was continued to April 6 after DeVoney denied charges of striking John Spanos, 1717 Division st.

ROBERT CROMIE
Chicago Tribune War Correspondent with Lt. Gen. Patton's 3rd Army

to keep you in touch with Chicago and midwest men

FOLLOW Robert Cromie and you follow the war in Germany with an outstanding Chicago Tribune war correspondent who is up front with Lt. Gen. Patton's 3rd army in Germany. His dispatches, in keeping with the now widely followed Tribune style of reporting, are filled with the names of Chicago and midwest men and eye-witness accounts of their experiences.

Not many correspondents in this war have seen so much action in so many theaters of war, east and west, as has this midwest born, educated and trained newsgatherer who got his baptism of fire in the blazing Solomons.

Shortly after American troops landed on Guadalcanal, Cromie was in there with them. His dispatches from this first stepping stone to Tokyo are among the most brilliant eye-witness stories of the war.

From the heart of the jungles of Guadalcanal, Cromie accompanied Chicago and midwest men in the fighting up and down the Southwest Pacific. He gave the world the first full story of the exploits of Capt. Joe Foss. His eye-witness story of the raid on Rabaul, seen from a Liberator bomber, is regarded as a classic of war reporting.

Thirsting for a taste of war on the other side of the globe, Cromie got himself assigned to the staff which the Tribune was assembling in England to cover the invasion of the continent. Since D-day, his file is the day-by-day story of the bloody battles which liberated France and stabbed into Germany.

Cromie's coolness under fire, his disregard of personal safety and his modesty and total suppression of self, have won for him the respect of Yanks in every theater of war in which he has hailed them with his customary greeting, "Any of you men from around Chicago?" With G. I.'s and readers alike, Cromie is there.

During war or peace, it takes experienced reporters to gather and present the news in the forthright manner readers want. As are all Tribune correspondents, Cromie is a topnotch reporter who worked to the top the hard way and won his war assignment as a result of proved ability to deliver for readers.

There is no substitutefor eye-witness accounts by seasoned war reporters who are there with the fighters and know what they are writing about. That is why the Tribune today maintains at the fronts more war correspondents than are accredited to any two other Chicago newspapers combined.

For the full story of the war, as seen by Americans who write from the American viewpoint and name the names and recount the experiences of Chicago and midwest fighters, read the Chicago Tribune.

ARMOR SLEUTHS LEARN GERMAN SECRETS FOR G.I.s

Captured Weapons Help Shape Tactics.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, March 22.—The American army has introduced something unheard of in any army before—a special ordnance intelligence service. A branch of the technical division of the ordnance service, its job is to get working models and make drawings sc copies can be made of every weapon, from knives to tanks and big guns, that the enemy is using.

Near Paris is a machine shop operated by 90 technicians, machinists, toolmakers, and draftsmen capable of making anything. Lt. Col. John L. Atkins, 2351 Cleveland av., Chicago, a chemist, is one of the key men of this outfit, whose agents at the front have first priority on all captured weapons. The weapons are sent here, where repairs and drawings are made, and are then shipped to England and America to be tested.

Knowledge Dispels Fear.

"If we can show our soldiers what is being used against them they are no longer afraid, for it is the unknown that one fears most," Lt. Col. Atkins said today. "When they know what weapon is being used against them they know how to combat it. When they know the firing range and armor of a tank, they know what's needed to knock it out."

He said the Germans have used 280 types of shells and guns against our troops. They have used every type of gun and weapon captured by them in Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Greece, Romania, Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium, France, and Russia.

The equipment made by the Germans is the only all-around first class armament used against us now, Lt. Col. Atkins said. The ordnance department has found no sign of any critical shortage in materials used by the best German divisions, he added.

Among equipment recently captured was an 18 inch [500 pound] rocket and apparatus for firing it from a tank. A tank carried 10 of these rockets.

Captured Tools Used.

The Germans also were found to have tanks firing 20 smaller rockets, but we have surpassed them with a rocket firing tank that throws 60 projectiles simultaneously or separately.

Capt. L. Schumacher, Evansville, Ind., and Lt. John J. McTighe, Pittsburgh, Pa., welders, showed this correspondent the metal cutters and other machine tools in the shop here. All had been captured from the Germans, many of them in a V-1 bomb factory.

Processes have been worked out on these machines so that we could use our ammunition in German guns and German ammunition in ours.

Ready to be sent to England and the United States were the latest model amphibious automobiles, trucks, command cars, guns, revolvers, and shells.

In the drafting room, making drawings of German shells, was Sgt. Herbert Deardorff, Muncie, Ind. At battalion headquarters another Indiana boy, Corp. Edwin G. Geerken, Fort Wayne, was on duty in the personnel department.

WATCHMAN SHOOTS HIMSELF.

Clyde Jones, 21, Negro, shot himself accidentally in the leg yesterday when he transferred his gun from one pocket to another while at work as a watchman in a tavern at 528 E. 43d st.

"We of the 3d have met the enemy in many trying circumstances and in all kinds of weather and under all kinds of difficulties. We have beaten him in every case. NAZI V-BOMB TURNS ENGLISH PLANT INTO HELL; MANY VICTIMS

LONDON, March 22 (AP).—A German V-bomb scored a direct hit on a southern England factory recently, exploding inside and turning the building into an inferno, it was announced tonight.

Rescue workers, including American soldiers, toiled for hours amid the smoke and debris to save those trapped in the wreckage as a crowd gathered anxiously around the main gate. Many watchers collapsed when they learned relatives had been killed or injured.

Another V-bomb exploded in the gardens behind a row of cottages in a southern England community, killing six persons. Thirteen more persons were killed and six injured when two V-bombs struck other localities, including the grounds of a hospital.

TROOPS SO FAST AMG TAKES TO 'ISLAND HOPPING'

Yanks Toss Over Towns, Say 'They're Yours.'

WITH THE U. S. 3D ARMY IN GERMANY, March 22 (AP).—The military government is doing a fancy "island hopping" job trying to keep up with Lt. Gen. Patton's 3d army and its rampaging tanks.

Armored combat spearheads figuratively have been snatching hundrers of cities, towns, and villages and tossing them in the direction of the military government with shouts of "Pick them up, boys; they're yours."

The result is that military government [AMG] teams trained to take over the administration of conquered territory are deep in work trying to organize and control civilian affairs in an archipelago of 4,225 separate communities suddenly cut off from the rest of Germany.

Differs from 1918 Occupation.

It was a much simpler job in 1918 when the Americans occupied a small portion of Germany. Then the fighting was over, the people were friendly, the towns undamaged, and the policy was simply to tell the local German officials to carry on but to remember that the Americans were giving orders inside the American zone.

This time the Americans are moving in with a determination to mop up conquered towns politically as well as militarily. Nazi office-holders must go; Nazi organizations, institutions and influences must be dissolved.

Instructions issued to military government detachments coincident with the development of the latest allied offensive stress that there must be no dallying with politically unsavory characters. Not only Nazis but adherents to the German Nationalist party and the German Peoples' party, which were used by the Nazis in achieving power, will not be tolerated as civil officials or in any private post of great influence.

Bar Stahlhelm Members.

Former members of the nationalistic Stahlhelm [steel helmet] organization, as well as former officers of the general staff, or even career officers or men who served in the pre-war reichswehr [Republican Germany's army after 1918] also must be excluded from public office now.

The political purge also means exclusion from influential posts of all Nazi sympathizers and any persons who contributed sizable sums of money to the Nazi party or in any way profited from the Nazi systems or were German officials in Nazi-occupied countries.

This is a large order, and detachment commanders taking over newly captured towns are having a tough time finding any Germans eligible to serve.

Simultaneously with this political purge military government detachments must supervise restoration of wrecked public utilities, safeguard public health, insure the feeding, housing, and removal of foreign workers and other displaced persons; seize food stocks, survey food production and food distribution, open banks, and revive retail trade.

NEW 11 TON 'VOLCANO' BOMB DESTROYS AN ISLAND IN ONE BLAST

LONDON, March 22 (AP).—The R. A. F.'s new 11 ton "Volcano" bomb literally destroyed a small granite island off the British coast in its first test, the magazine Aeroplane said today. Describing the bomb, now in use on Germany, the magazine said:

"Its first tests were conducted on a remote and uninhabited granite island off the British coast. Release of the bomb was followed almost immediately by a colossal explosion, and when the large smoke cloud, characteristic of the new bomb, disappeared the island was conspicuous by its absence."

The "Volcano's" probable area of destruction was described as "almost twice that of the 12,000 pounder," which is credited with an 81,235 square yard area of destruction.

SMUTS URGES SOUTH AFRICA TO FORM LEAGUE

CAPETOWN, South Africa, March 22 [Reuters].—Premier Jan Smuts, in a statement on policy in the Union of South Africa assembly today, said he favored the creation of a conference system for southern Africa on the principle of the Pan-American union for consultation on common questions.

Saying South Africa had no intention to make inroads on the rights, boundaries or status of her neighbors, Smuts asserted there was no question of imperial union in the south.

The question of administration must rest in the hands of the countries themselves, and a country like Britain, with colonies, must retain her control, he said.

Colonial Plan Held Faulty.

Dr. D. F. Malan, leader of the opposition, had asked for a statement of policy in view of the prime minister's impending departure for the San Francisco conference. He inquired whether Smuts' views on the regional regrouping of British territories in Africa were the views of the British government.

Smuts said he did not want his public statements regarded either as the opinions of the British government or the union government. He asserted he had frequently expressed the opinion that British colonial arrangements in Africa were not the best possible, that British colonial policy had developed to the stage where there were a number of British colonies, big and small, in Africa.

He said he had, therefore, expressed it as his opinion that there were too many administrations, not promoting the interests of the various parts of the continent in the best way. It would be better to have regional groupings and a smaller number of administrations, he added. It was remarkable, Smuts said that soon after he had expressed these opinions, Col. Oliver Stanley, British colonial secretary, expressed the same idea in the British parliament.

Cites America as Example.

Smuts asserted it would be useful to have a conference system to discuss such common questions as trade communications. He held that the same development was possible in Africa as had taken place on the American continent. The Pan-American union, he added, was an example on a bigger scale of the kind of organization which could be built up in southern Africa.

TERROR KEEPING U. S.-JAPS FROM RETURNING HOME

WRA Cites Treatment Shown Evacuees.

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Terror—meted out by hoodlums, arsonists and nightriders—is keeping some of the evacuated Japanese and Japanese-Americans from returning to the west coast.

Only about 1,700 of the 110,000 evacuated after Pearl Harbor have gone back. Sixty thousand still are in relocation camps, waiting to go back or to find homes elsewhere.

Terrorization, intimidation, and discrimination have been used against about one out of every 70 evacuees who have returned, according to officials of the war relocation authority.

Homes Set Afire.

This is some of the picture given by WRA records here on the treatment given some of the evacuees who returned to the west coast, mostly in California:

Their homes have been set afire; nightriders have fired shotgun blasts into their homes; their homes have been stoned; near Fresno a group of ranchers and business men gave returned Japanese a deadline for leaving the area; a Los Angeles postoffice refused to hire back a returned Japanese-American, even tho he's an American army veteran of this war and has been taken into an American Legion post; and an aluminum company in Los Angeles fired a returned Japanese-American because other workers threatened to quit if he stayed.

"Afraid to Go Home."

Atty. Gen. Biddle says the "relocation of the Japs will continue rather slowly and quietly because most of the Japs will stay in the camps because they are afraid to go home."

The 110,000 removed from the west coast were placed in WRA camps. More than 2,500 of them have gone into the military services. About 30,000 were released from the camps to settle in other parts of the country.

By Supreme court orders all the evacuees found to be loyal and law abiding were free after last Jan. 1 to go back to the coast.

The Japanese in the WRA camps are not to be confused with the disloyal Japanese in a special camp at Tule Lake, Cal. There are 18,000 Japanese and Japanese-Americans at Tule Lake, 5,000 of whom want to be returned to Japan.

FAILURE TO BOMB HIROHITO SEEN AS BUOYING UP JAPS

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, resident commissioner of the Philippines, told the house foreign affairs committee today that delay in bombing the Tokyo palace of the Japanese emperor was helping to keep up enemy morale.

The Roosevelt administration was taken to task by other witnesses for "ineptitude and indecision" in adopting a policy regarding the post-war punishment of axis criminals.

Emperor's Safety Baffling.

Thruout a lengthy hearing, the theme was stressed that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill appeared strangely reluctant to air any plans for the penalizing of Hitler, Hirohito, and their satelites. Action was deferred on a resolution aimed to speed up the preparation of such plans by appointment of a special commission.

Romulo, former military aide to Gen. MacArthur, said he could not understand this nation's failure to drop bombs on the Japanese emperor's domicile.

"In the Shinto religion, the emperor is the direct descendant of the sun-god," he remarked. "The Japs believe that no one would dare to attack him personally. We help to substantiate that belief by not daring to subject him to injury. The most effective breakdown in Japanese morale would be accomplished by dropping bombs on his palace. That is my opinion, based on my far east knowledge and experience."

Rep. Celler [D., N. Y.] added that "some high officials" in the government feel that "Hirohito and the ruling class of Japan should not be punished."

Herbert Pell on Stand.

The state department sent Herbert C. Pell, American representative last year on the united nations war crimes commission, to be a witness for the committee's inquiry.

But he confounded members by stating that he didn't know his present status, that he was apparently no longer a member of the commission, and that nobody would tell him where he stood since he returned to the United States last January.

He testified that the commission, operating in London, had received some 2,000 cases involving enemy war criminals and had recommended about 1,000 cases for trial. But neither the British foreign office nor our state department has answered the commission's six month old request for international courts to try the criminals, he said.

"Why haven't they answered?" Pell was asked.

"They seem to be afraid to make a decision," he replied.

"What are they afraid of?"

Pell said some "hidebound legalists" were apparently responsible for the delay.

Russia Shuns Group.

"The work of the war crimes commission has been hamstrung by the British foreign office and our state department, in the opinion of some," remarked Celler. "Are these criminals to be tried by judicial processes or is punishment to be meted out according to the caprices of political leaders of the united nations? What's behind this cloak of secrecy and silence?"

Soviet Russia, it was noted by members, refused to send a representative to the war crimes commission. It has set up its own group.

Allies Set to Fingerprint 10 Million Germans—Soon

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY, March 22 (AP).—The job of registering and fingerprinting Germans has begun and 10,000,000 registration blanks have been sent to military government detachments in the conquered Rhineland areas. There are not that many people living in the occupied areas at present but AMG authorities expect to use up all the blanks, fingerprinting 10,000,000 Germans in the next few weeks.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

G.I.s HOP STRAIT AND TAKE ISLE OPPOSITE PANAY

Cebu Lashed with 240 Tons of Bombs.

MANILA, March 23 [Friday]—(AP). Fortieth division doughboys, invaders of Panay, hopped across a mile and one-half strait and seized 25 mile long Guimaras Island without opposition Wednesday in a move to safeguard the shipping lane into the captured port of Iloilo.

Heavy bombers, meanwhile, lashed Cebu Island with 240 tons of explosives in three successive days.

Mountainous Guimaras is directly opposite Iloilo and helps form one of the best harbors and seaplane bases in the central Philippines.

Jap Bivouacs Bombed.

Gen. MacArthur reported this 27th island invasion of the Philippines in his bulletin today, announcing only that "in a shore-to-shore operation our troops seized Guimaras Island, southeast of Panay."

The bombing of Cebu Island, across the Camotes sea from Leyte, was concentrated on Japanese bivouac and supply areas in the vicinity of Cebu City, midway along the island's east coast.

Sink Midget Submarine.

"Many explosions and fires were observed," the bulletin said. Meanwhile naval P-T boats patroling the Cebu coast by night sank several enemy small craft and navy rocket firing planes sank a midget submarine.

General advances on all ground fronts on Luzon were reported. Forward elements of the 33d division, probing closer to Baguio from the west, reached the Naguilian river and an air field at the outskirts of the Philippine summer capital.

In southern Luzon, the 158th regimental combat team drove into the environs of Cuenca, southeast of Lake Taal, and cut the main road east of the town.

Only 300 Japs on Leyte.

EIGHTH ARMY HDQ., Leyte, P. I., March 22 (AP). — Eighth army forces now figure there aren't more than two or three hundred Japanese left on Leyte.

During the first 67 days from the initial invasion until last Dec. 26 when the 6th army turned the job over to Lt. Gen. Eichelberger's 3th army, by actual count, Japanese dead totaled 55,344. These figures ignored estimates of others probably killed or wounded. It does not include enemy losses when convoys were sunk off Leyte's west coast.

748 Taken Prisoner.

From Dec. 26 to March 18, 8th army troops killed and counted 21,774 Nipponese—about as many as were killed on Iwo Island. Before Eichelberger took over, 375 Japanese prisoners were taken. His troops have captured 373 more.

Occasionally there were Japanese counter-attacks. On Jan. 15, a battalion made a well coördinated infantry-artillery attack near Billaba, on the west coast. They were in good condition, well trained, and apparently unhurt in previous combat. The attack carried thru the Yank lines briefly, but like most others petered out and ended in bitter defeat.

More than 380 Japanese dead were counted after the battle. Now the doughboys can turn the job over to the 1st Filipino regiment—a fighting unit comprising American and Filipino volunteers and draftees.

3 MILLION QUIT TOKYO; SPLIT IN EMPIRE VISIONED

San Francisco, Cal., March 22 (AP). —The evacuation of nearly 3,000,000 air raid victims from Tokyo—one of the greatest mass civilian evacuations of the war—is in progress in the bomb-torn capital, the Japanese radio indicated Thursday.

A Domei news agency broadcast said Home Minister Shigeo Odachi told a diet committee that Tokyo probably had less than 4,000,000 inhabitants now, with more to leave. The city's pre-war population was 7,000,000, making it the third largest in the world.

The prospect of population centers of Japan being isolated by an American invasion was raised as the government speeded steps to organize a civilian national, or "special attack" corps.

Gen. Kaneshiro Shibayam, vice minister of war, was quoted by Tokyo radio as telling a diet committee the corps would be on a national scale, so that "every member of the nation may be assigned appropriate defense duty in case of emergency."

Premier Koiso was quoted as telling the diet—in reply to a question raising the possibility the homeland "may be split apart by the enemy" —that an "area-by-area defense structure" was being set up.

Tokyo radio quoted Koiso as seeing "bright optimism" all about him, despite the war setbacks and fire bombing of homeland cities.

Koiso's words were, "The mental outlook of the entire Japanese nation has changed from one of stalemate to bright optimism since the formation of my cabinet."

RED OF MANILA'S BLOOD REPLACED BY THAT OF TAPE

Passes and Priorities the Rule Now.

BY WALTER SIMMONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, P. I., March 22.—Where machine guns blasted a month ago, typewriters are clacking sedately today. That's the new Manila—a battered, rubble strewn metropolis rising from its ruins to new heights of army red tape.

The dirty, unshaven, green clad waves of G. I.'s who took the city weeks ago have moved on to other fighting chores. They have been replaced by gentlemen in clean khaki and stripes on their sleeves who are often heard to complain of the discomforts of war. Shoe shine stands have arisen for the convenience of officers and men moving up from rear areas.

You have to have a special pass to drive a civilian car. To cross a bridge in the same car you need another special pass irrespective of your pocketsful of credentials.

New regulations on air travel are interesting to war correspondents, who usually travel from place to place in this poor man's theater by the well known thumb route. Now they must obtain air priority certificates and sit quietly waiting.

One of the 1st cavalry division men who took Manila blinked today when he learned of the new rules and orders piling up. Then he sighed.

"Well," he said, "I guess the next time I come here I'd better bring a white mess jacket and a purple bow tie to wear."

U. S. TASK FORCE ON PROWL NEAR RYUKYU ISLES

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Guam, March 23 [Friday]—(AP).—Vice Adm. Mitscher's carrier task force presumably still was on the prowl today, with the Tokyo radio hinting it might scourge the Ryukyus or Formosa while withdrawing from the mauling given Japanese warships Monday in Japan's Inland sea.

There has been no official word on the whereabouts of the force, a part of the 5th fleet, since it moved close to Japan to permit its planes to search out enemy fleet units at their bases.

In the days that have elapsed since that strike, Adm. Mitscher has had time to move his ships into the Formosa area, 900 miles from the scene of Monday's blows to imperial warships. In so doing he would pass the Ryukyus, lying between Formosa and Japan.

Reported Near Okinawas.

Continuing its claims that the American force was "fleeing," the enemy radio said Thursday that it was in waters "to the east of the Okinawa Islands." Okinawa is the principal island in the Ryukyu chain. It has been hit by United States carrier aircraft several times, the last reported raid being on March 1.

Thursday's fleet bulletin made no reference to the carrier aircraft attack in the Inland sea. Radio silence maintained by the fleet prevented any new assessment of damage dealt the enemy. A preliminary report the previous day said 15 to 17 Japanese combat ships had been damaged.

A Japanese bulletin claimed that Japanese planes damaged another American battleship yesterday, making a total of eight United States warships claimed to have been sunk and three damaged in four days. Adm. Nimitz announced yesterday one United States ship was heavily damaged, a number less seriously hurt, but none was sunk.

Jap Hopes Blasted.

Japanese propagandists asserted "seven or more of the enemy carriers have either been sunk or rendered unserviceable."

If Japanese naval leaders hoped to salvage a fleet out of the wreckage of the second battle of the Philippine sea their dream has burst. This once formidable sea power was blasted by the carrier attack Monday.

Even before this hunting down of Japanese naval units, the enemy didn't have sufficient faith in his sea forces to challenge the United States' invasion of Iwo Island. Not a single hostile ship approached the American invasion convoy or the island itself. Air attacks were few.

Bombers Hit Kuriles.

ELEVENTH AIR FORCE HDQ., Alaska, March 21 [Delayed]—(AP).—Five targets on Paramushiro and Shimushu Islands in Japan's northern Kuriles were hit today by Aleutian based Venturas, Mitchells, and Liberators.

Many hits were noted at Kataoka naval base on Shimushu and the staging area on Paramushiru. Other targets were Hayake Gawa installations, Ashi Gawa installations and Masu Gawa installations, all on the eastern coast of Paramushiru.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER.

The body of Vincent Sabia, 39, of 8054 Yale av., was taken from the river near Polk st. yesterday. His widow told police he had been despondent over financial affairs.

STRIKE OF 1,500 LAID TO ERROR BY WLB CLERK

3 Decisions Jumbled, It Is Charged.

A war labor board clerk's error in "jumbling" three WLB decisions into one, and then misdirecting the resulting telegram, was blamed yesterday for a strike of 1,500 employes of the Pettibone Mulliken corporation, 4710 Division st. The company is engaged in the production of 155 millimeter and 8 inch howitzer gun carriages.

Only a skeleton crew remained in the plant yesterday afternoon. The others, according to Leon J. Garrie, industrial relations director for the company, had left "to attend union meetings to discuss what effect the order had on them."

Garrie explained that five AFL unions represent the 1,800 employes of the company. Three of the unions have had cases before the WLB. Yesterday, one of the unions, which was not involved in a dispute, received the telegram which had been misdirected by the WLB clerk and which was so worded that it appeared to apply to all the employes of the plant instead of one group.

Interpreted as Rejection.

Garrie said most of the strikers had interpreted the telegram as a rejection by the WLB of an 8 cent an hour increase for night workers, which previously had been recommended by the board. Actually the WLB had deferred action in that case for further consideration.

"The members of each union," Garrie continued, "interpreted the 'muddled' language of the telegram as being contrary to what they had sought from the board.

"If the WLB had handled this matter as it should have done, instead of letting a clerk, who knows nothing about the case, 'jumble' three separate decisions, this interference with war production would not have occurred. I hope the workers learn quickly what the WLB intended, so they will be back to work in the morning."

300 Steel Workers Strike.

Another strike caused by a dispute over the settlement of grievances resulted in paralysis of war materials production at the Kensington Steel company, 505 E. Kensington av., when 300 workers went on strike yesterday, Capt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail announced.

Meanwhile 40 members of the AFL Upholsterers' International union "continued in meeting" and remained away from their work at the National Casket company, 1911 Roosevelt rd. They started the meeting last Saturday to discuss the company's refusal to accede to a union demand for a monthly contribution of 3 per cent of its gross pay roll for the establishment of a health and accident benefit fund for the union.

GUNMAN, WOMAN GET $6,040 LOOT IN FLAT HOLDUP

A prosperous appearing gunman, about 40, accompanied by a young woman, held up Theodore Levy, 2332 Farwell av., a loan appraiser, in his second floor apartment last night and got loot valued at $6,040. The couple arrived to keep an appointment made by telephone to see a mink coat Levy had advertised for sale. The gunman made Levy take him on a tour of the apartment in a search for valuables. In addition to the coat, valued at $2,500, the loot included a diamond lodge ring, also valued at $2,500; an $800 silver fox coat, a $200 wrist watch, and $40.

5TH GRADE PUPIL IS FOUND HANGED IN HIS BEDROOM

John Thompson, 11, a fifth grade pupil in Boone school, was found hanged last night in the bedroom of his home at 6553 N. Francisco av. The body was suspended by a clothesline from a door hinge, and around his neck, in addition to a noose, was a section of inner tubing. His father, Martin, told police he believed his son was conducting an experiment. When Thompson and his wife left an hour earlier on a shopping trip, the boy was reading a newspaper story of a hanging with deep interest, they said.

Highland Park Votes No on Caucus Nominations

Highland Park citizens voted 465 to 371 last night against the proposed adoption of the caucus plan of nominating candidates for municipal offices. They met in the Elm Place school. One of the chief objections voiced was that any change now would be unfair to more than 2,100 voters in military service who would not be present to vote on the plan.

CITY WILL TRADE TEACHERS WITH LATIN AMERICA

Exchange of teachers between the Chicago schools and Latin American nations to promote a greater development of cultural and trade relations is one of the post-war aims of the board of education, James B. McCahey, board president, said yesterday.

McCahey explained the school board is anxious to make a start on the program as soon as conditions permit. Teachers from Mexico and Cuba would be teaching Spanish in Chicago night schools now had not war problems intervened, he said.

The board president also stressed the importance of Portuguese to the United States, because this language is spoken in Brazil, one of the largest nations in the world. Supt. of Schools Johnson said that Portuguese would be taught in the Chicago schools when there is a demand for it if competent teachers can be obtained.

REPORTS NATION NOT READY FOR REDS' PROGRAM

The lament that America is not ready for Communism was voiced by Alfred Wagenknecht, president of the Cook County Communist Political association, to 150 persons at a meeting held by the Rogers Park Communist association in the Rogers Park civic center, 6805 N. Clark st., last night.

Wagenknecht conceded that many American labor leaders are opposed to the nationalization of industry. He excused the American attitude toward Communism by saying that even in Europe some countries are not ready for it.

To a question from the audience, "Why must we choose between Hitler and Stalin?" Wagenknecht replied that the American choice is between Hitler and the united nations. He lauded the Yalta conference as a guarantee of a so-called people's peace and post-war security.

HURLEY PLANT YIELDS TO WLB ON UNION SHOP

The regional war labor board was informed by letter yesterday that the Hurley machine division of the Electric Household Utilities corporation, Cicero, has complied with all the board's orders in a dispute between the company and the United Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers union [CIO].

Altho the WLB refused to make public the four page letter from the Hurley company, it was learned that it outlined a contract containing a union shop clause, the point of dispute, which the Hurley officials have submitted to the union.

The WLB had given the company until Wednesday to comply with a directive requiring inclusion of a maintenance of membership and a dues check-off provision in the union contract.

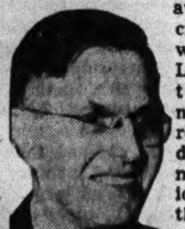
CIVILIAN ENGINEER GIVEN ARMY AWARD FOR WORK ON LOCKS



Herman F. Rook.

Herman F. Rook, 58, of the Oak Parks Arms hotel, 408 S. Oak Park av., Oak Park, a civilian employe with the Great Lakes division of the army engineers, yesterday received the war department's meritorious service award, one of the highest honors the war department bestows on civilian workers. The presentation was made by Col. H. A. Montgomery, division engineer, at his offices in the Civic opera building. It was given in recognition of Rook's outstanding work connected with supplies and maintenance on the MacArthur locks at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., which "contributed to shipping of increased tonnage for wartime demands."

BIG TWA PLANE PAUSES HERE ON TRAINING FLIGHT

A Transcontinental and Western Air four engined plane stopped at Chicago airport yesterday on a trip across the country to familiarize the company's ground personnel with operation of five transports of the type which will be placed in service April 1.

The planes seat 38 passengers and cruise at 200 miles an hour at 10,000 feet, TWA announced, faster than the twin engined planes [Douglas DC-3s] standard on most airlines. They are Boeings and were used by TWA for more than a year before the war, the first four engined planes on any scheduled domestic airline service.

During the first month of operation, Chicago will not be a scheduled stop for the planes. Beginning May 1, they will stop here on a route from San Francisco, Cal., to Los Angeles, Cal., Albuquerque, N. M., Kansas City, Mo., Chicago, Dayton, O., and Washington, D. C. The time from Los Angeles to Washington will be 14 hours 40 minutes.

SCHOOL OF AIR INDUSTRY WILL BE HELD HERE

A forum to acquaint Chicago business men with the future of the aircraft and air transport industries was announced yesterday under joint sponsorship of the University of Chicago and the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Consisting of 10 two hour meetings, the program is the first in the country embracing addresses by leaders in the most vital phases of aircraft manufacturing and air travel.

Vital Angles of Development.

Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the association, said:

"The development of aviation is dependent not only on traffic but on airport development and governmental regulation and taxation. An analysis of the various phases of the aviation industry by the most competent men in America will provide an understanding of the field and contribute greatly to the specific decisions that Chicago business men and public officials must make in planning for Chicago's future place in aviation."

All of the meetings will be on Tuesdays in the La Salle hotel. Dates, subjects, and speakers:

April 10. "The Growth of the Aircraft Industry" [speaker to be selected], and "The Growth of Air Transport"—L. C. Sorrell, director of research, Air Transport Association of America, and professor of transportation at University of Chicago.

April 17. "Prospective Passenger Traffic, Volume, Rates, and Service"—L. C. Sorrell.

Air Line Head to Speak.

April 24. "Prospective Expansion of Air Line Routes and Services in the United States"—W. A. Patterson, president, United Airlines, Inc.

May 1. "Future Overseas Air Transport—to and from the United States" [Speaker to be selected].

May 8. "An Adequate Air Transport System for the United States"—Arthur E. Raymond, vice president, Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc.

May 15. "The Future of the Aircraft Industry"—E. E. Wilson, vice chairman, United Aircraft corporation and chairman, board of governors, Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, Inc.

May 22. "Airport Location, Design and Financing"—John Groves, director, operations division, Air Transport Association of America; formerly manager municipal airport, Washington, D. C.

Legal Phases a Topic.

YES, those neighbors of yours who operate Chicago Surface Lines are at your service day and night.

They would much prefer to have a street car or bus right where you want it, when you want it.

But nowadays that isn't always possible. Just as your storekeeper is unable to let you have all the cigarettes or meat or butter you want, so are we unable to provide all the service you deserve.

It's the familiar reason—wartime conditions. As Chicago hurries to and from its essential job of producing weapons, upwards of 4,000,000 riders step on and off Surface Lines cars and buses every work day. To get these home-front soldiers to their battle stations we are operating more route miles than ever. And doing it in the face of a critical manpower shortage brought about by today's disturbing effects upon employment.

Depend upon it; the men in CSL uniforms are doing all that is humanly possible to speed you on your way—working extra hours; giving up days of rest and so on. Right now the best isn't enough but we'll keep on trying.

SAYS AUBREY'S FOES PUSH PINS INTO F.D.R. TOES

But Roar of Tumbrel Is Heard from Afar.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Roosevelt administration leaders fought to the last ditch in the senate today to spare President Roosevelt the humiliation of defeat in his campaign for confirmation of Aubrey Williams as rural electrification administrator.

The fight was against other members of Mr. Roosevelt's own party, for the movement to defeat Williams is led by Democrats.

At the end of the fourth day of debate, Majority Leader Barkley predicted a vote tomorrow. Sen La Follette [Prog., Wis.], a Williams supporter, told the senate earlier today that Williams' rejection was a "foregone conclusion," and that the "roll of the tumbrel" [the cart on which victims were hauled to the guillotine] could already be heard.

Pins Under F. D. R.'s Toenails?

Republicans who are aligned with the anti-Williams Democrats chuckled today as administration spokesmen rambled far afield. Principal spokesmen were Senators Taylor [D., Idaho], known as "the singing cowboy"; Pepper [D., Fla.], and Hill [D., Ala.] who recently offered as a recommendation of Henry Wallace for secretary of commerce that Wallace could speak to the Chinese and Russians in their own language.

Taylor told the senate the fight against Williams was "just an attempt to push pins under President Roosevelt's toenails."

Taylor then defended Williams for accepting Presbyterian schooling and later renouncing promises to enter the ministry by saying:

"My father was a minister. He sent my brother to theological school. He was expelled because he liked the ladies more than his studies. But he became a splendid man."

Pepper Defends "Aubrey."

Pepper defended Williams, whom he called "Aubrey," against a hypothetical attack that Pepper said could have been made before World War I. Enemies might have called Williams a "sissy," then, Pepper argued. But if they had, Pepper explained, they would have been wrong because Williams fought in the war.

"Fought in combat!" Pepper exclaimed. "I didn't say Communist. I said combat."

Republicans moved over to the Democratic side when Hill began rebuking Sen. Bilbo [D., Miss.] for enlisting "our Republican brethren" in the fight against Williams.

Sen. Hoey [D., N. C.], who was presiding, adjusted the tails of his long gray coat at this point, sniffed reflectively at the scarlet carnation he always wears and then recognized Minority Leader White [R., Me.].

White informed Hill that the Republicans were following no Democrats, either from Mississippi or Alabama.

New Adjectives for Pearson.

Bilbo brought Sen. Wheeler [D., Mont.] to his feet by accusing Williams of padding works progress administration pay rolls at election time for political purposes when Williams was deputy WPA administrator under Harry Hopkins.

Wheeler told the senate:

"Any one who says a man working under Harry Hopkins is going to make policies just doesn't know Mr. Hopkins. The senator from Mississippi has been an ardent supporter of the President. If the charge which the senator is making is true, he should not make it against some subordinate.

"He should make it against the responsible head, who is the political head of the Democratic party as well as President. What the senator is trying to do is take a kick at the head of the political party, but he does not want to do that. So he takes a kick at the man below."

During the debate, Bilbo called Drew Pearson, Washington columnist, "a multiple, multitudinous, multiplied, ball bearing continental damnable liar."

ROOSEVELT ASKS CONGRESS FOR ANOTHER BILLION

Requests 15 Millions More for OPA.

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—President Roosevelt asked congress today to appropriate $1,120,453,300 for 19 civilian war agencies for the year beginning July 1.

The request included funds for selective service functions to provide an average "call" of approximately 93,000 draftees a month.

The total for the 19 agencies, compares with $1,166,722,935 for the current fiscal year, or a reduction of $46,000,000.

The President asked for $54,500,000 for selective service compared with $55,672,120 for this year.

Slice WPB Budget.

The fund requested for the war production board—$48,042,000 as compared to $60,512,208 for this year—is to meet "the constant changes anticipated in the munitions program due to strategic consideration and battlefield experience."

The WPB budget also "takes into consideration the continuation of a tight civilian supply situation during the next fiscal year."

The White House said the overall decrease of $46,000,000 compares with a decrease of $113,000,000 that was anticipated when the President transmitted tentative lump sum budget estimates last January. At that time no specific estimates for the war agencies were sent to congress because more time was desired to examine war needs.

485 Millions for WSA.

Other funds requested today include:

War shipping administration: $485,595,000, including $407,000,000 for the revolving fund, $78,270,000 for the maritime training fund, and $325,000 for state marine schools. No comparative figure was given.

War labor board: $13,405,000 compared with $13,399,622 for this year.

Office of price administration: $178,000,000 compared with $162,276,786. The increase was said to recognize "growing inflationary pressures and a decrease in the supply of civilian goods."

Cuts OWI Request.

Office of war information: $54,100,000 compared with $55,535,084.

Office of censorship: $19,150,000, compared with $25,674,777.

Foreign economic administration: $19,002,800 compared with $17,936,133. The new fund provides among other things for enlarged staffs to prepare plans for the economic control of enemy countries and "for the review of supply programs in liberated countries."

Office of defense transportation: $11,000,000 compared with $15,145,610.

Office of civilian defense: $369,000 compared with $720,175.

Office of economic stabilization: $100,000. Virtually the same as this year.

Office of war mobilization and reconversion: $2,359,500 compared with $1,251,780.

OSS Funds Reduced.

Office of strategic services: $38,166,000 compared to almost $56,000,000.

Office of coördinator of inter-American affairs: $15,880,000 compared with $17,586,835.

Committee on fair employment practice: $599,000 compared with $453,800.

War relocation authority: $25,140,000, a reduction of about $12,500,000.

Petroleum administration for war: $4,345,000, a cut of about $1,000,000.

Office of scientific research and development: $90,700,000, a cut of approximately $30,000,000.

Office of alien property custodian: $3,370,000 compared with $3,589,043.

TRACTION BILLS AT AMENDMENT STAGE TUESDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 22.—The Kelly-Green bills for public ownership of Chicago's traction lines will be at the second reading stage, the stage where amendments can be offered, in both houses when the legislature reconvenes Tuesday. A new series of amendments, agreed upon at yesterday's committee hearing, was ordered printed at today's brief session of the senate.

Philip Harrington, Chicago commissioner of subways and superhighways, and Werner W. Schroeder, who has been legal spokesman for the state administration, said they didn't know which bills, the house's or the senate's, would be given the right of way for passage. That will depend on which chamber acts most quickly on the proposed amendments.

One of the new amendments, suggested by spokesmen for Cook county suburbs, would allow outlying municipalities, by ordinance, to permit the metropolitan traction authority to give service on specified streets without requiring the suburb to adopt the act.

Other changes would require competitive bidding on bonds, require the traction authority to hold a public hearing when requested by any municipality, and regulate the letting of contracts.

FLYNN REVEALS TALK WITH POPE ABOUT RUSSIA

ROME, March 22 (AP).—Edward J. Flynn smilingly disclosed after an audience with Pope Pius today that the question of relations between Russia and the Vatican had been discussed, but "only conversationally," and added that he was bearing no personal messages from President Roosevelt to anybody.

Flynn, a friend of Roosevelt, arrived in Rome from Moscow yesterday and was granted the hour long audience with the pope today.

He said he "happened" to meet Cardinal Luigi Maglione, papal secretary of state, and implied he would see Premier Ivanoe Bonomi before leaving Italy Friday.

THE BRITISH THESIS.

Ambassador Halifax, in an interview at Tulsa the other day, said:

"What you have sent and lent us was for the defense of your land, which surely would have been attacked had England fallen in the beginning."

The spokesman for the British empire in America would have come closer to the facts and the probabilities if he had said:

What you have sent and lent us saved England. If England had fallen you might have been attacked in America, but if you had been you would have had little difficulty in repelling the invader. You are beating the pants off the Japanese across the Pacific and you have the Germans on the run across the Rhine. If you can defeat these enemies on their home grounds, where all the stupendous advantages of distance are with them, you surely had little to fear from invasion.

That, we submit, is a more accurate interpretation of events since 1939 than Ambassador Halifax offered. The past is past, and the point would hardly be worth making if it did not bear directly upon the present and future policies of this country. Very few Americans regret having saved Britain, but the British, the Russians, and the sycophants of both in America would like us to continue to deal with our allies as if our safety really depended in great measure upon them. No doubt it was for that reason that the ambassador spoke as he did, and he would have been a very poor representative of his country to have done otherwise.

But the facts are plain. America's safety, the events of this war have shown, depends in no great degree upon Britain. On the other hand, Britain cannot survive without our help. If she recovers her great Asiatic empire, she will do so thanks to us. Without our help she might well have lost Africa. She cannot feel safe even in her own islands unless she can count upon our help to rescue her if she is attacked. Any one who was not persuaded of the truth of that proposition after 1918 cannot question it in 1945.

If the relations between America and the nations of Europe are founded upon the proposition that we are all equally in danger of invasion the world will seek to build peace upon a rotten foundation. In the long run that can't benefit anybody.

GIDDY OVER BILLIONS.

Four financial wizards of the New Deal persuasion cut loose on the radio of a recent Sunday on the subject of "taxing for prosperity." They were Prof. Alvin Hansen of Harvard, special economic adviser to the federal reserve board; Randolph Paul, former tax adviser to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau; H. Christian Sonne, a banker and professional "planner," and Prof. Maynard Krueger, University of Chicago economist, who is frequently a Socialist candidate for something or other.

Mr. Krueger asked whether a federal budget of 25 billion dollars a year, predicted for the post-war period by Mr. Paul, was not about three times the maximum budget during Mr. Roosevelt's pre-war years.

"Yes, it is," said Mr. Sonne. "But I would say that a 25 billion budget may do the trick [i. e., attain prosperity]."

"It may do the trick," said Mr. Krueger, "but it certainly is not going to do the trick unless there is thoro planning and unless we have a tax program that is thoroly coördinated and timed."

Somewhat later the oracles decided that an annual national income of 140 billion dollars might provide 32 billion in taxes

"You say," said Mr. Krueger, "that we will need 25 billion dollars [for the annual budget]. As I subtract 25 from 32, that leaves a margin of about seven billion dollars to play around in."

Thus we learn that attaining post-war prosperity is "a trick." It is a trick which may be pulled off by "taxing for prosperity." When the New Dealers tax for prosperity, they expect to have a mere seven billion dollars "to play around in" so that they may pull off the trick. It's something like pulling a rabbit out of the hat. You supply the hat, of course; also the rabbit. But the magicians are having fun.

COMING TO TERMS WITH THE VICTORS.

Finland held an election the other day in which the not unexpected result was that a people who detest communism and Russia voted the communist candidates 50 seats in parliament and the old conservative parties lost a corresponding number. Even parties which in former years hadn't the slightest leaning toward Moscow submitted candidates this time who were pledged to a policy of "reconciliation."

None of this is surprising, for Finland went to the polls as a defeated country, whose only hope, for the moment, at least, was to come to terms with the Kremlin. The Communist party newspaper Pravda in Moscow had served warning on the Finns that they had better do what was expected of them. The elections, it said, "are not to be considered an internal affair of the Finns."

The Vichy regime which grew out of the collapse of France was viewed with distaste by any one mindful of the French tradition of republicanism. It was regarded as virtually a German puppet government, and was reviled, along with the aged Marshal Petain, not only on that score but because of its temperamental inclination toward authoritarian procedure. Our left wingers were particularly vociferous. Now that Finland has made a similar political capitulation to the victors, it will be interesting to watch the reaction among those who are so loud in proclaiming their attachment to democratic processes.

Some people will say that the Finns are entitled to no sympathy. They lined up with the Germans in 1941 and were guilty of picking a loser. It will be recalled, however, that the Finns had a deep seated resentment against Russia, for Stalin had engaged in an unjustifiable war of aggression against them in 1939, which even led Mr. Roosevelt into some public reflections concerning the immorality of the attack.

In 1941, the Finns may have thought that they would get back the territory wrested from them by siding with a victorious Germany. In fact, they had little option. The Germans sent in a number of army divisions to "protect" their country, and they were in no position either to protest or to force out the interlopers.

The Finns fought in a half-hearted fashion in this second war, stopping every now and then to point out that they were making no real effort to take the offensive, and this country never took the trouble to declare war on them.

The election in Finland has a further application, in that it precedes the "free and untrammeled elections with a secret ballot" that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill have promised will be held in Poland. It is to be wondered whether Pravda's dictum that elections "are not to be considered an internal affair" will also hold good for the Poles. There are many disquieting signs that such is the fact. Whether a country is defeated or, to employ the popular Russian euphemism, is "liberated" makes very little difference these days if it is so crushed that it cannot protect itself. The result in either case is that it must come to terms with the nation that wields the power in its particular part of the world.

ADMIRAL OR LOBBYIST?

Rear Adm. Joseph R. Redman appeared before a senate subcommittee this week as a proponent of a government controled monopoly of all American overseas communications. Last Dec. 1, Adm. Redman had been the star guest at the annual banquet of the Radio Corporation of America, which would be one of the principal beneficiaries of any such monopoly. He hadn't been invited by accident. His hosts knew what they wanted from him and he obliged by unveiling the monopoly scheme. [Applause.]

Adm. Redman is director of naval communications in Washington. The navy and army together now control a global communications network which is said to represent an investment of a quarter of a billion of taxpayers' dollars. Presumably this system would be included as a major constituent of the monopoly which is being urged. The 13 American radio, telegraph, cable, and press wireless companies would also be part of the merger. Among them is R. C. A.

This corporation has been agitating for a monopoly in the radio communications field for 17 years. Its president, David Sarnoff, who is also chairman of the board of National Broadcasting company, entered the army signal corps as a colonel a year ago and is now installed as special consultant on communications to Gen. Eisenhower, allied supreme commander in Europe. While every action of his corporation has attested to an addiction to monopoly, Mr. Sarnoff has talked in quite a different tenor when out in public.

A characteristic utterance was, "Where private enterprise is able and willing to meet the needs of society, it should not be the function of the government to create industrial enterprises, or to finance them, or to run them." But now Mr. Sarnoff's company is the front runner in the movement to permit the government to set up a monopoly in which the army and navy and government departments would possess one-quarter of the directors and, in all probability, a controling voice in management. Mr. Sarnoff has placed himself in a strategic post in army communications as Adm. Redman is similarly placed in navy communications and his company and the admiral speak with a single voice.

Whether R. C. A. fancies that it would, with Washington's tacit consent, wind up in possession of the communications facilities built up for the army and navy with the taxpayers' money, and whether it sees the further advantage of elimination thru merger of certain other private facilities now offering embarrassing competition, will bear further exploration.

When the senate inquires into these matters it should also investigate the propriety of an admiral appearing virtually without disguise as the lobbyist for a corporate interest. It can also find a trail which might be profitably pursued in investigating the enthusiasm which Secretary of the Navy Forrestal has shown for the monopoly proposal. As a leader in the Wall st. investment banking firm of Dillon, Read & Co., Mr. Forrestal may not turn out to be exactly disinterested.

The press has a direct interest in this monopoly scheme and the related issues which have been suggested. The press is not only concerned with the question of censorship arising from any possible monopoly exercised under government control over communications, but has had long and sad experience with poor service and high rates in the transmission of news thru facilities of some of the corporations which have shown the greatest interest in effecting a monopoly. They wouldn't object if public money were used to bail out investments in obsolete equipment.

Press Wireless, operated as a common carrier by seven leading newspapers and four press associations, which engaged themselves to bear the expense and assume the headaches of organizing an efficient radio communications system which would offer low rates equally to all newspapers and news bureaus, has now progressed to the point where it is independent of older companies interested in maintaining high rates. The chairman of the federal communications commission himself concedes that it offers service superior to that of the British merger—Cables and Wireless, Ltd. Now that Press Wireless is functioning as a world-wide organization, the newspapers of America would be well advised not to let themselves be gulled by schemes which would put them at the mercy of the politicians and whatever interests they are serving.

BENEFITS OF TRAVEL.

When we saw in the papers that British Ambassador Halifax had ridden to hounds in a coyote hunt, with airplane spotters to locate the prey, at Elk City, Okla., a dormant cell of memory gave a faint signal. "Elk City, Elk City," it said. "You have slept a night there." But then another cell put in a call: "Maybe it was Deer Lodge, Mont., a state prison town." But the brain cell that contained nothing but a ghost of Elk City continued to mutter, so we dug up the logbook for the summer vacation of 1941.

* * *

We were rolling westward along U. S. 66, and the first stop for the night out of St. Louis was Vinita, Okla., pop. 4,500. The next halt, in mid-morning, was Claremore, where the Will Rogers Memorial museum invited inspection and proved to be surprisingly good in architecture and exhibits. Tulsa was passed in stride, and Chandler, pop. 3,000, seemed to be the right place for lunch, which was taken at Roy's.

* * *

Oklahoma City appeared and disappeared, and the gloaming brought us into Elk City, now mildly historic, but then nothing but a name. We remember that it looked exactly like vanished Vinita, tho it seemed to be bigger. Pop. 5,500. We found lodgings at the Motor inn, and then repaired to Campbell's Steak House [sounds good, doesn't it?] for dinner. Duncan Hines' "Adventures in Good Eating" says of Campbell's:

"Another place that is convenient when you are traveling thru this sparsely settled country. Modernistic, air-conditioned."

* * *

We remember the modernistic fittings, which were strictly according to the new rules, and an air of keeping up with the streamlined ideal of life. The customers were numerous, and Mr. Campbell's waitresses were dealing steaks and chickens off the arm quite actively. Then we strolled back to the Motor inn to sleep, and if we had dreamed that a British ambassador was chasing coyotes on a high horse over the surrounding prairie, we would have called it a nightmare due to overindulgence at the Steak House.

WHO CALLED TO ME?

Across the stillness of a winter waste
A robin called, and eager brown wings whirred
Insistently that springtime song averred
The Resurrection. Something dormant stirred
Within me, wakened by that clarion "Cheer!",
The cadenced note of one red-breasted bird
Who called to me across the barren year.

At once, that vibrant song of "Cheer!" retraced
My thought to older solitudes, deep-firred
And vaulted, where frail tendrils interlaced
And wood-flowers carpeted and lavendered
The path beneath our feet. Spring-harbingered
By woodland robins there, you spoke in clear,
Impassioned tones of love-light blurred—
(Who called to me across the barren year?).

"She who remains behind, forever faced
With life-aloneness and unarbitered,
Must be the bravest; she, alone, unpaced,
Must run the course, unguided and unspurred."
Prophetic lines you spoke, and then demurred,
"The badinage of birds seems less austere. . . ."
Today, this robin echoed your last word—
Who called to me across the barren year?

Ah, Love, was it a robin's voice I heard?
Or was it yours from some celestial sphere?
Or yet the voice of One once sepulchered?—
Who called to me across the barren year?

Ruth Crary.

Letter to a Country Girl.

Who wants spring in the country? Did you ever sniff the warm, moist wind off Lake Michigan? The minute that first gentle gale blows in, the nostrils of loyal Chicagoans quiver in ecstasy. Who wants to glimpse the first shy violet hiding in the woods? I want to see the papers skittering down the gutters, men lumbering down the avenue after skimming fedoras, girls clutching at wisps of hat and hair, and smoothing down impudent skirts. I want the wind shrieking in glee around the corner of the building, rattling at the windows, or swooping papers to the floor and me making futile grabs and using everything but my hairpins for paperweights. That's what I always want . . . spring in Chicago! Anonymous-Lee.

IN A CLASSICAL LIBRARY.

A thousand books of stern philosophy,
Theology, stacked high against the wall—
Proud kings and statesmen at my beck and call;
Wise criticism, vague theosophy,
The ancient sages, Plato, Socrates;
The war reporters, Caesar, Livius,
Bold Cicero and famed Herodotus;
The golden poets, Homer, Sophocles.
And lest I tire of their austerity,
Macaulay, Gibbon, Grote invite my mind,
While Dante, Goethe, Shakespeare help me find
The inner truth of life and destiny.

Of all this wisdom I have had my fill—
A bluebird singing on the window sill!

[Advice and assistance on draft and military questions and problems of dependents of service men and veterans are given here or by mail if a stamped envelope is sent. Personal advice and assistance are given to veterans by appointment.]

F. W. asks: "Can you explain how the readjustment allowance for World War II. veterans works? Is the veteran entitled to a certain sum or is it figured entirely on a time basis? Is it figured the same way in cases of partial employment?"

Payments are made for a certain number of weeks, but not for any definite sum. Allowance paid for weeks of partial employment counts as full weeks of assistance. We have a leaflet available on request which describes the administration of readjustment allowances in simple language.

R. G. S. asks: "Is it possible for a 17 year old to enlist directly into any of the medical corps?"

Yes, young men under 18 may enlist directly and immediately into the navy medical corps if they have a reasonable education and aptitude for the work. Those enlisted are rated as hospital apprentice, second class, at $54 a month. In the Chicago area, full information is available at the navy recruiting station at 321 Plymouth ct. Arrangements should be made at once to take the physical examination and complete pre-enlistment papers.

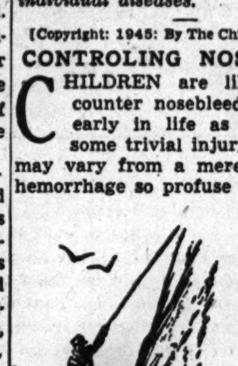
CONTROLING NOSEBLEED.

Children are likely to encounter nosebleed [epistaxis] early in life as a result of some trivial injury. Bleeding may vary from a mere trace to a hemorrhage so profuse that the entire household is disrupted. So much fluid may be lost as to produce anemia. There are scores of causes for this disorder. Most commonly it occurs after scratching the nostrils or blowing so violently that the lining over one of the numerous blood vessels in this area is broken. The condition may accompany any ulceration or tumor, as well as injuries to the nose and fractures of the base of the skull. Many occupants of aircraft flying at high altitudes and some deep sea divers complain of hemorrhages, for marked changes in atmospheric pressure may bring them on.



The manifestation may appear during the course of many illnesses. In rheumatic fever, for example, it may indicate continued activity of the ailment or that the acute or subacute phase has not entirely passed. With typhoid fever, oozing may be distressing from the second to the fourth day of the malady. Likewise during scarlet fever, diphtheria, and other acute infections it is an upsetting but not an important factor. Disturbances of the blood such as leukemia and hemophilia are associated with nosebleeds. The problem is primarily failure of the clotting mechanism to operate, and the stage of the disease may be judged roughly by the frequency and gravity of the episodes.

Victims of high blood pressure may encounter this symptom and here it acts as a safety valve, encouraging a fall in tension before more serious damage is done elsewhere. For this reason, these individuals may well be allowed to bleed for some time, thus benefiting from nature's simple protective mechanism.

Treatment depends upon the origin and the severity of the sieges. Bouts that are so marked and prolonged that weakness and anemia have developed must be checked at once. The first step is to allay fear and provide rest. The time honored remedy of placing ice, a piece of metal, or a cloth wrung out in cold water, on the back of the neck is probably of value in that the patient must remain quiet in order to keep the object in position.

The victim should be instructed to breathe thru the mouth and not to blow the nose in an effort to remove the clot. Relief may be obtained by pinching the nostrils between the thumb and forefinger for 30 minutes or longer. This pressure may be exerted by the patient himself.

Local applications may consist of adrenalin solution, silver nitrate, trichoracetic acid, or powdered alum. Occasionally, electrocoagulation is demanded. If simple measures fail, a search for the source will be necessary. The lining of the nasal cavity may be shrunk by spraying it with epinephrin. If the bleeding point cannot be found, packing with gauze for 12 or 24 hours may be resorted to. If recurrence follows, the plugs may be reinserted and left in place for several days.

After hemorrhage has been controled and the immediate discomfort has passed, a thoro investigation may determine the underlying cause.

REPLY.

Yes—inflammation of near-by structures may be responsible.

Front Views & Profiles

Wherever They Roam.

It seems safe to say that wherever you find more than 10 American warriors in this war, you'll find the Red Cross. They roam from Alaska to Agra [120 degrees in the shade of India's plains], from Guadalcanal to Greenland, from Wau to the western desert. A new book about the Red Cross' overseas operations in this war, "At His Side," by George Korson, is just off the press to tell their trials and triumphs.

American laconicism is legendary, but our favorite in this book concerns a flight out of Port Moresby on an unarmed transport to which Gen. MacArthur had given a first priority that it might bring four tons of Red Cross Christmas packages to the men fighting in New Guinea. Instead of circling to gain height, the pilot took it on the run, the engines straining as the plane rushed tree high over the matted jungle. Peering out, all the passengers could see were razor ridges rising ahead and vegetation so dense on either side it looked like an endless plot of green broccoli. At this tense moment a sergeant nudged the Red Cross director. "What a hell of a nice place to throw old razor blades," he observed thoughtfully.

Then there was the time in France when in the midst of the fighting the infantry retreated to high ground where three Red Cross girls were serving coffee and doughnuts. Thus the clubmobile became the front line. Shells whistled all around, and every one ducked. One girl continued to cut candy until she heard the rat-tat-tat of a machine gun. Then she, too, huddled under the truck. She looked up to see a plane spinning down, on fire. It crashed across the way, the American pilot dangling from a tree to which his parachute cords had caught. They helped him down, and his first remark, as he felt for broken bones, was, "My gosh, I've lost my pencil!"

Greenland is little more than a glacial icecap, a bare, desolate, treeless spot. When a Red Cross field director arrived there, he wrote home in desperation: "Was Eric the Red color blind when he named this place?" [Answer: No. It actually was green once but changing ocean currents cured that.] But when Christmas came, the American forces there wanted a Christmas tree, a foolish dream in a land where trees are as rare as bathing suits. So the undaunted Red Cross worker went to work. He had a 2 by 4 cut down to size and mounted on a platform. Green camouflage paint was sprayed on the "branches." Tinsel and icicles were cut out of tin cans, burned out light bulbs were painted red, blue, and green, and the large star on the top of the tree was cut out of the heavy tinfoil the army's dehydrated potatoes come in. "It was a beautiful tree," the R. C. worker wrote, "and I know that even Joyce Kilmer would have forgiven me."

Occasionally the Red Cross slips up on its detection of ability. Mary K. Browne, who rose to fame in the '20s as women's national tennis champion for three years, directed a Red Cross club in Brisbane and was about to open a new recreation room with a soldier show. A few hours before curtain time she discovered the wiring was faulty. A young Australian soldier offered his services. An hour or so later he called her. A fuse had blown out. He wanted to know where to find the fuse box. At this point an assistant took Miss Browne aside and whispered, "I'm afraid this Australian doesn't know too much about electricity." Miss Browne took him to the main switch box and as he started to inspect the fuses asked timidly, "Do you know enough about electricity to do this?" The boy calmly located the blown fuses, replaced them, turned to her, and grinned. "I ought to, ma'am," he told her. "I wired the tunnels at Tobruk."

We-do-it-better note: The soldier looking at the Pyramids who observed, "They should have gotten Kaiser over here. He'd have done a much better job."

PHILIPPINE ECONOMY.

Chicago, March 8.—To grant the Filipinos their independence next year without reëxamining and removing some of the harsh and selfish provisions in the Philippines independence bill, in regard to trade relationship with the United States would only create chaos and future suffering for the 18 million inhabitants. The economy of the islands has been geared under dependency on the United States. Unless free trade is to continue with the granting of freedom, I am afraid the economy of the Philippines for several years will only produce unrest and eventual civil war.

There is no doubt that the war is going to set back the islands more than 15 years in their economy. Damage to private and public properties is going to amount to billions.

To give to the Filipinos the freedom they so richly deserve without first restoring their pre-war economy would prove disastrous. If there was ever a time when the Filipinos needed the help of the American people it is right now and after the war. Political democracy without economic stability will end in disaster. GEORGE R. PENA.

REACTION TO INSULIN.

Champaign, Ill., March 12.—A few evenings ago my husband, who is a diabetic, had an insulin reaction in a business house downtown. When he failed to return home at the time expected, I appealed to the police. They told me they had him locked in jail on a charge of being "drunk."

I questioned the manager of the business house. He said my husband was in a state of partial collapse. Not knowing who he was, not knowing what to do, the manager called the police.

When I called at the jail and administered orange juice, my husband made a quick recovery. Don't you think that with as many diabetics as we have in our country, and with the use of insulin as common as it is today, our policemen should be educated to tell the difference between insulin shock and alcoholic intoxication? MRS. LAWRENCE MESSMAN.

THEY'RE DANDY FOR THROWING.

Chicago, March 17.—It is almost impossible to buy a palatable drink of whisky in a Chicago saloon. Nearly all places serve shots in huge, thick sided hunks of glass that deprive a drink of all its savor. The barkeep's idea is that the magnification of the liquor in the big glass will fool the customer into thinking his 30 cents is buying more whisky than is actually there. My opinion of the mentality of the average barfly is low indeed, but I contend that the head that needs to be examined is the one that thinks that even a barfly is fooled with these clumsy chunks of glass. S. L. R.

SUGGESTED ORIENTATION.

Sycamore, Ill., March 7.—If President Roosevelt could have been with the marines during the terrible fighting on Iwo, I wonder if he would be so willing to give away the islands that have been paid for so dearly. Perhaps some time spent under bombardment, which our boys everywhere have been taking, would change his carefree, humorous attitude toward many things. President Lincoln always signed his letters, "Your obedient servant," instead of "Your commander in chief." MRS. E. W. W.

FROM THE GENERAL.

IWO JIMA, March 11.—Attached is a copy of a letter I have written to your correspondent, Thomas Morrow:

"It has been a pleasure to have had you with the 4th marine division during the seizure of Iwo Jima from the Japanese forces.

"I am certain that your accurate coverage has brought the people of Chicago a more vivid picture of what their boys are doing out here in the Pacific.

"You have made many friends among the officers and men of this division during your frequent visits to the front lines and these trips were appreciated especially by the 'home town' boys.

"Best of luck on your next assignment. C. B. CATES,

"Maj. Gen., United States Marine Corps."

SECRET DIPLOMACY.

Peoria, March 10.—Now that some of the deals arranged at Yalta, Teheran, and elsewhere by governments without knowledge of their people are beginning to come out, the old outcry against "secret diplomacy" is being revived. The best comment on the subject is this: "It has been the one song of those who thirst after absolute power, that the interest of the state requires that its affairs should be conducted in secret. . . . But the more such arguments disguise themselves under the mask of public welfare the more oppressive is the slavery to which they will lead. . . . Better that right counsels be known to enemies than that evil secrets of tyrants should be concealed from the citizens, as they who can treat secretly the affairs of a nation. . . plot against the enemy in time of war, so do they against the citizens in time of peace."

Who said it? The great philosopher, Spinoza, about 300 years ago. O. S.

BELT LOOSENING.

Chicago, March 20.—The recent announcement by the President that we must tighten our belts in order to keep others from starving may be correct, but what "others" is he talking about?

A recent letter from a man at the front in Germany tells of his getting a 24 hour pass. During this furlough he and his companion purchased three steak dinners each during their short visit to two Belgian towns not over 10 miles from the German border. They also visited with a Belgian family while the Belgians stowed away a husky meal.

Evidently "others" doesn't mean Belgians, nor, according to this morning's Tribune, does it mean Romanians. Who are these starving "others?" F. V.

BROKER'S COMMISSION.

Chicago, March 21.—We recently advertised property for sale. A real estate man brought in some people and they decided to buy. 1. By law is there any set amount we should pay the agent? 2. Perhaps because we had no agreement with him, we do not owe him anything? R. F.

1. Yes. If he is employed to sell property and does so, he is entitled to the regular commission.
2. If you dealt with his clients, knowing that he was a broker, you would impliedly be agreeing to pay him.

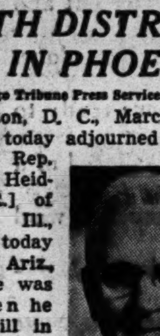
REP. HEIDINGER OF 24TH DISTRICT DIES IN PHOENIX

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—The house today adjourned out of respect to Rep. James V. Heidinger [R.], of Fairfield, Ill., who died today in Phoenix, Ariz., where he was taken when he became ill in Washington a month ago. He was 64.



Rep. J. V. Heidinger.

Heidinger, who represented the 24th Illinois district, had been a member of congress since 1940. His death cuts the Illinois Republican delegation in the house to 14, compared with 11 Democrats, and changes the total house lineup to 242 Democrats, 189 Republicans, and two minor party members.

In Springfield, Ill., Gov. Green's aids reported he had no immediate plans for calling a special election to name Heidinger's successor. Both in Springfield and the national capital, tributes were paid to the dead legislator's statesmanship.

Funeral services for Heidinger, a Wayne county judge for many years, were set tentatively for Tuesday at Fairfield. Mrs. Heidinger, who was at the legislator's bedside when he died, will accompany the body back to Fairfield. Also surviving is an only son, James S., a navy lieutenant stationed in the Pacific.

URGES HOUSE PROBE FIGHT ON SISTER KENNY

Minneapolis, Minn., March 22 (AP).—Sister Elizabeth Kenny expressed pleasure today when informed of a proposed congressional investigation of opposition which Rep. O'Toole [D., N. Y.] said in Washington had hindered her work in treating infantile paralysis.

The Australian nurse, who won fame with a method of polio treatment and lately has been experimenting in treatment of spastic paralysis, said only a congressional inquiry would cause her to reconsider a decision to drop her work here and leave the country.

"If it is the desire of the people of America that I leave the country, I shall go," she added. "If it is their desire that I stay, I shall stay. I have confidence in their sense of justice."

In Washington, O'Toole introduced a bill calling for an investigation. He said some doctors had gone out of their way to criticize and hinder her work and declared the medical fraternity must be progressive and try new methods, "even when those methods are originated and conceived by individuals outside the profession."

Sheridan Warrick of the army air forces, and Miss Betsy Fowler, daughter of the Herbert Carey Fowlers of Norwood. The ceremony will take place in the afternoon in Grace Episcopal church, with the Rev. John P. Moulton, rector, and the bride's grandfather, the Rev. Arthur Thomas Fowler of Waltham, Mass., officiating. A reception will follow in the Fowler home.

"The Smiffenpoofs," a double quartet at Smith college of which the bride is a member, will sing at the reception, and several Smith college classmates will attend the bride, among them Miss Barbara Hill of Anderson, Ind., who will be maid of honor. Mr. Warrick will be his son's best man. Four former Amherst classmates of Pvt. Warrick will serve as ushers.

Pvt. Warrick's grandmother, Mrs. Wilbur Fletcher Sheridan of Evanston, will send her good wishes from St. Petersburg, Fla. Among the Chicagoans who will attend the wedding are Lt. [j. g.] and Mrs. Warren Greene [Betty Roberts] and Lt. [j. g.] and Mrs. Warren Hamer [Marilou Heilman], who are living in Boston now. After a wedding trip, Pvt. Warrick will return to Charleston, S. C., and his bride to Smith, at which she is a senior.

In a vesper service yesterday in the quaint old chapel of Christ church cathedral, New Orleans, Miss Cecily Elmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Frederick Elmes of New York and Sarasota, Fla., formerly of Chicago, became the bride of Lt. White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Quick Operator.

The award of the week for ingenuity and speed goes to the secretary who, on her noon hour, dashed out and bought some shampoo, washed her naturally curly locks, dried them, and was back at her desk on the dot, looking fresh as a daisy.

Reminder.

He stands on a tree stump,
A bag at his side,
Attention is given,
Our eyes open wide.
For now comes the moment
That brings us a thrill—
A man, and a bag,
And G. I.'s on a hill—
He puts out his hand
For silence to fall,
The crowd then is hushed,
For this is MAIL CALL.

Office Irkers.

Fellow workers who say "stren'th" and "len'th."

THE SHADOW.

Fellow white collar girls who greet me, "Hello, old lady," on the day when I'm feeling just that.

In a certain office there is a beautiful receptionist, only the poor girl isn't as brainy as she is beautiful. The other day she was trying to change the ribbon on her typewriter and having a bad time with it. A gentleman waiting to see some one in the office, got up, walked to her desk; and changed it for her! And without so much as getting ink on his fingers! NOSEY PARKER II.

The marriage of Miss Susan Petty, daughter of Mrs. Henry T. Gerdes of Lebanon, Pa., and of the late John Petty, to Lt. John J. O'Laughlin Jr. of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. O'Laughlin of River Forest, took place March 17 in St. Patrick's rectory in New York, with a reception following in the Gotham hotel. After a wedding trip to Mont Tremblant, Canada, Lt. O'Laughlin and his bride will live in New York, as he is stationed at the Newark army air base. O'Laughlin attended Dartmouth college and Northwestern university.

Mr. and Mrs. George William McSweeney of Highland Park announce the marriage March 1 of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Aviation Cadet Waldo Richard Murphy of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo J. Murphy of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. The ceremony, which was read by Chaplain Mark T. Warner of Gardiner General hospital, took place in the home of the bride's parents, where a reception followed. Cadet Murphy and his bride met while students at Lake Forest college. They will be at home with her parents while he is stationed temporarily at Gardiner General hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Meade Marshall of Waveland av. announce the marriage Feb. 17 in the North Shore Baptist church of their daughter, Beatrice, to Gilbert C. Easter Gloves Are Sleek, but They're Scarce

BY REA SEEGER.

Easter gloves are sleek and white or delicately pastel. So far the supplies are ample, but it's only fair to warn hesitating shoppers that the newest and smartest vanish almost while you wait. Snow white washable suedes are, of course, the first choice of the fastidious woman. Nothing equals the swank of soft white suede for either suit or coat contrast, and if washed with care they will last for at least three seasons of general wear.

Very short gloves are this spring's most popular model. They're extremely simple pull-ons, beautifully made and when decorative have such typically feminine accents as shallow scalloped cuff outlines, eyelet embroidery along fingers and top, or a triple row of fine hand fagoting. Suit gloves of white suede have contrast thread stitchery of black or navy, and there are the swank all white affairs stitched with heavy white thread that make a handsome sturdy finish.

Sleek white capeskin and kidskin gloves are luxury items because they must be cleaned to be kept spic and span. But they're worth this care and cost as the 1945 spring numbers are particularly well designed. White gloves of cape or kidskin come in brief "shorties" for suits and coats as well as the longer pull-on lengths for dress parade clothes. They also feature decorative motifs such as complicated patterns of eyelet work; embroidered vines, flowers, and leaves; cut-out work in fanciful patterns, and tiny tucks and ruffles with pinked edges. The collections are varied and at prices that are easy on all budgets.

Rubinstein's "Rhapsody" Puts Brilliant Period to Chicago Symphony Orchestra Concert.

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Desire Defauw, conductor; Artur Rubinstein, pianist. Presented at Orchestra hall Thursday evening, March 22, 1945, and scheduled for repetition Friday afternoon. The program:

Overture, "Fingal's Cave" ..... Mendelssohn
Two Nocturnes, "Clouds," "Festivals" ..... Debussy
Symphony No. 5, in D major..... Williams
[First Chicago performance]
Prelude to "Penelope"........... Faure
Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini, for Piano and Orchestra..... Rachmaninoff

Artur Rubinstein arrived at Orchestra hall last night almost as late in the proceedings as the Gentleman Caller shows up at "The Glass Menagerie," but when he finally got there he made things happen, too. I could well have dispensed with some of the other things on the program to let Mr. Rubinstein appear twice, as is usually the case when a soloist is scheduled for Rachmaninoff's Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini, but it was a crackling pleasure to hear him at all—tho the lateness of the hour made me miss his encore, which Mr. Goldberg reports by telephone as Chopin's Ballade in A flat.

But what I heard of Mr. Rubinstein was superb, if more tantalizing than satisfying. When that man sits down at the piano you know it isn't going to talk back. He simply took command of the shining showpiece and gave it bravura performance that had depth as well as glitter, for thru all its febrile furies you felt the magnificence of untapped resources in the leash of perfect control. The orchestra, which was in better than average condition last night, did some expert playing to keep him company, and when the music began to flow like molten lava there was some of that old time sense of excitement possible only when an orchestra meets a great soloist on his own ground. But that didn't last. The timing was imperfect and some of the score was jangled. It lacked a master coördinator at the helm.

Next to Mr. Rubinstein's dynamic presence, major interest in advance of the concert centered in the first Chicago performance of Vaughan Williams' Fifth Symphony, which many found dull, but which I would like to hear again after more rehearsal. It is a work intent on simplicities and it demands immaculate performance. The first movement sounded like an orchestra run thru at rehearsal and the finale blew up in a harsh attempt to express exultation. But the rustling of the scherzo was admirably handled, and the romanze, which takes its somber theme from "Pilgrim's Progress," was extremely effective, ending with a violin solo not unlike the song of the viola in the "London" Symphony. I hope it isn't shelved before the orchestra has time to pull the whole thing together.

The concert opened with "Fingal's Cave," adequately played, and tucked in Faure's Prelude to "Pénélope," which was just a stage wait for Mr. Rubinstein, but the performance of "Clouds" and "Festivals" amounted to the best Debussy Mr. Defauw has coaxed from the orchestra when I was around to hear it. It was clean and fresh in tone, sensitive in style.

Mr. Rubinstein, as no doubt you all know, returns Tuesday afternoon to play Chopin's F minor concerto with Hans Lange.

As long as canned meats remain on grocery shelves you don't need to pull a long face over the butcher's familiar, "No meat today."

There'll be some long faces in the family, however, unless you vary the preparation of this good but often mistreated meat item. To slice it, brown it, and serve it hot offers little appeal after the first time or two, but there are many serving tricks which will permit its frequent appearance.

Creamed meat with vegetables, canned meat hash, and ground meat and potato cakes are some of the more usual variations, but here's a potato-meat dish that's simple, savory, different:

Pork Loaf and Potato Puffs.
[Serves five.]

1 can pork loaf
2½ cups seasoned mashed potatoes
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper

Mix onion and green pepper with potatoes. Slice meat in 10 thin slices; lay half of them in a flat baking dish, and heap each slice with ⅓ cup of potatoes. Cover with rest of meat slices and bake 20 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

The following dishes using canned meat also should appease fresh meat appetites:

Baked Pork Loaf with Raisin Sauce.
[Serves four.]

1 can pork loaf
½ cup seedless raisins
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Add raisins to 1 cup water and bring to a boil. Mix cornstarch, sugar, and fruit juices and add to raisins. Cook over low heat until clear. Place pork loaf in casserole, pour sauce over it, and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Barbecued Pork Loaf.
[Serves four.]

1 can pork loaf
1 tablespoon margarine
½ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup catsup
3 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice

Melt margarine, add onion, and cook until tender. Add rest of ingredients, except meat. Cut meat into 8 slices and bake in the sauce in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Serve between toasted buttered buns.

Pork Loaf O'Brien.
[Serves five.]

1 can pork loaf
¼ cup bacon drippings or other fat
1 cup diced cooked potatoes
1 cup chopped onions
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon salt

Cut 5 thin slices from loaf. Dice the rest. Brown potatoes and onion in hot fat. Add diced meat and green pepper when potatoes are beginning to brown. Brown slices of meat and serve with potato mixture.

Pork Loaf and Egg Scallop.
[Serves four to six.]

1 can pork loaf
6 hard cooked eggs
2 cups medium white sauce
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 cup dry bread crumbs

Cut four slices from loaf and dice the rest. Add seasonings and parsley to white sauce. Arrange ¾ cup crumbs, quartered eggs, sauce, and diced meat in alternate layers in a greased casserole. Combine the remaining ¼ cup bread crumbs with 1 tablespoon melted margarine and sprinkle over the top. Arrange slices of meat on top and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Try Serving Baked Beans in Cups Made of Bologna

To make use of two food items which are readily available nowadays, serve baked beans in bologna cups. Have large bologna sliced ¼ inch thick, and allow two slices for each serving. Heat bologna in hot fat in skillet just long enough to make slices curl into cups. Arrange meat cups on platter and fill with hot baked beans. Serve with cole slaw and cornmeal muffins for a luncheon or supper.

Brown Sugar Substitute.

If you can't get brown sugar for hot cereal topping, substitute maple flavored corn sirup. Served with cream, this breakfast number is one to put a ring around.

Meat Saving Split Pea Soup

Now that soup bones and even a scrap of meat for the kettle are hard to find, other ways must be devised for adding flavor to homemade soup. Split pea soup made with bouillon cubes and wine provides a luncheon or supper main dish with flavor to equal the ham bone variety. Here's the recipe:

Wash 1¼ cups green split peas for four hours or overnight. Drain and save water. Put peas, 1 cup chopped celery, 2 chopped onions, 3 teaspoons salt, and 1 bay leaf into soup kettle. Add soaking water and enough additional water to equal 6 cups. Cover kettle and simmer mixture two hours. Stir in 2 bouillon cubes, ¾ cup milk, and ¼ cup white wine. Reheat and serve, topping each portion with crisp croutons.

Family Ham Just a Slice This Easter

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON.

The per capita supply of Easter ham for civilians will be the lowest in history this year, according to stock yards distribution experts, and the best that most average families can expect, if they have saved enough points, is a slice or two instead of the usual whole baked Easter ham.

Few butchers would release a whole ham to one customer nowadays anyway, even if some one did manage to hoard enough red points. It would take more than a month's supply of points for one individual to buy a whole ham, and with so little meat point-free now, not even a magician could produce the needed points—unless, of course, he ate out every day this month or went without meat at home.

Ham is wanted more urgently now by the military services than at this time last year, and 30 million fewer hams have been produced so far this year than in the same period last year. The weight of hams also runs lighter, adding to the tonnage reduction. Normally all packers carry huge stocks of hams from the winter hog slaughter into the holiday trade, but this year their holdings are the lowest on record, because of the production decline and the huge war time requirements.

Crop planners in Washington have attempted several times in the last decade to bring a hamless Easter to America, but all previous attempts failed because the civilians were not fenced in from imports from other countries as they now are.

In 1937 this country was feeling the pinch of a program of scarcity pushed for several years from Washington, climaxed by two of the worst drouth years in American agricultural history. However, the gates were thrown open to the world as meat prices soared, and the United States quickly became the biggest of all meat importers, even buying from Germany, Italy, and Japan. Some meat came from China. Almost every important country in the world supplied Easter hams to America that year.

Before the war several foreign nations, particularly Poland and Denmark, built up an enviable reputation in the American ham trade for their specially prepared canned products. The appearance of hams from these countries on the menu of Iowa restaurants, in the heart of the nation's hog producing belt, caused quite a stir in the packing industry when domestic production was being held down. New York port alone, before the Germans overran the smaller countries, received upward of 2 million pounds of ham weekly for the Easter trade. It was not uncommon for New York to receive hams from as many as 22 countries in one week. Canada and Denmark were the last to cut off their supplies.

To most families such succulent dishes as a whole loin of pork for roast, baked ham, or a skillet of pork chops have been only memories for some time. For every two big pigs that went to market in 1944, only one smaller pig goes now. And of the one lighter pig the services are taking more tonnage than they took from the two heavier pigs last year. Lend-lease and civilians get what is left of the pig. The result is practically no pork on most retail counters for the housewife, except some pigs feet, tails, neckbones, and the like, products not wanted by lend-lease.

Wise Cooks Should Seek to Stretch Canned Foods

Make the most of canned foods today by stretching them. Use half a can of corn in a souffle, and save the remainder for the next day's corn fritter luncheon. Use a few peach halves to combine with a fresh fruit cup; use the rest to make a peach sauce for plain cake or pudding.

For EXTRA ENERGY Eat Energy-charged WONDER BREAD

Thanks to a revolutionary new baking method, you can now get bread with no big holes that leak sandwich fillings on shirts or dresses.

Compare a slice from the middle of the loaf of new Wonder Bread with ordinary bread—see the amazing difference!

Get Extra Energy

Energy comes only from the food you eat. Thus, to get more energy—eat more energy food.

Nature gets energy out of food with the help of Vitamins B1 and B2 and Iron.

This is how: The two vitamins help to oxidize food in the cells; and the iron in your blood brings oxygen to the cells.

Study the chart. Then eat extra slices of energy-charged Wonder Bread every day to get extra energy.

Get Vitamins, Iron

Ask for Wonder Bread by name because it contains Vitamins B1 and B2 and Iron necessary to help Nature properly transform it into energy for your body.

Remember—only Wonder Bread is sold under its famous $1,000 Vitamin B1 guarantee.

Doubly Fresh

In addition, energy-charged Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it, fresh when you eat it.

Because Wonder Bread is slo-baked—13% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness.

Overseas Yank Has Mandolin, but No Music

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

We hope our readers will be able to fill the request of Mrs. B., who writes as follows:

"Dear Miss Brown: My son, overseas 28 months, has obtained an old mandolin. Since he is not a natural born musician, he must have the score of a song in order to play it. He has requested that I send him mandolin scores of western songs and popular music of the 1930s. Music, however simple, means a great deal to these boys who have been away so long. During their brief hours of recreation, they like to get together for a bit of song reminiscent of home.

"I have inquired of friends and at stores thruout the city, hoping to find mandolin music of the type mentioned, but my search has been fruitless. If any of your readers have such pieces which they will be willing to let me have, I shall gladly pay the postage."

An offer of shoes in an unusual size has recently come to our attention, and we are submitting it for the benefit of those women who have difficulty in finding size 11AA. Mrs. X. has five pairs of oxfords in good condition which she is willing to give to women who otherwise would be unable to obtain footwear in this size. Those interested may write their requests to this department. All letters will be forwarded to the donor for selection.

Legion Auxiliary Board to Hear Reports Today

The board of directors of the American Legion auxiliary, department of Illinois, will gather at 9 a. m. today in the Hotel Sherman for an all day session devoted to business and to reports of officers and chairmen. There will be a luncheon at 1 p. m. for Mrs. O. Linn Perry, national vice president of the auxiliary's central division.

Thru the Looking Glass

We asked an older woman of our acquaintance how she managed always to seem so full of pep and filled with the joy of living. The accomplishment has brought her many compliments and made her a woman toward whom people naturally gravitate. And her formula was so simple we wondered why more people hadn't discovered it.

She said that when she was about 10 years old she started to grow at such a rate she soon was head and shoulders above her playmates and felt awkward and out of place. She was unhappy about it all until an older brother, taking her in tow, told her that her height was not a burden and if she always carried herself like a queen, holding her back straight and her head erect, she'd look and feel like a new person. He impressed her with the idea that cultivating a mental and physical attitude which indicated she was at ease and in command of any situation would help her to meet life straight on and brighten her whole outlook.

She remembered that advice daily since then, and when life begins to get her down she pulls herself up, literally and figuratively, and things fall into perspective more readily. A straight back is part and parcel of her personality now, and she said it is responsible for much of the good health she enjoys. She agreed it is one of the reasons she always looks well dressed and accounts largely for her trim figure.

If more women, short or tall, practiced her philosophy they'd feel years slipping off their shoulders and look and act less cowed by life. Sagging in the middle and moping over the big and little trials of everyday life as many of us do, we seem burdened and unhappy. It's worth the small effort it takes to stiffen the spine physically and mentally and thereby foster a look and feeling of well-being and ease.

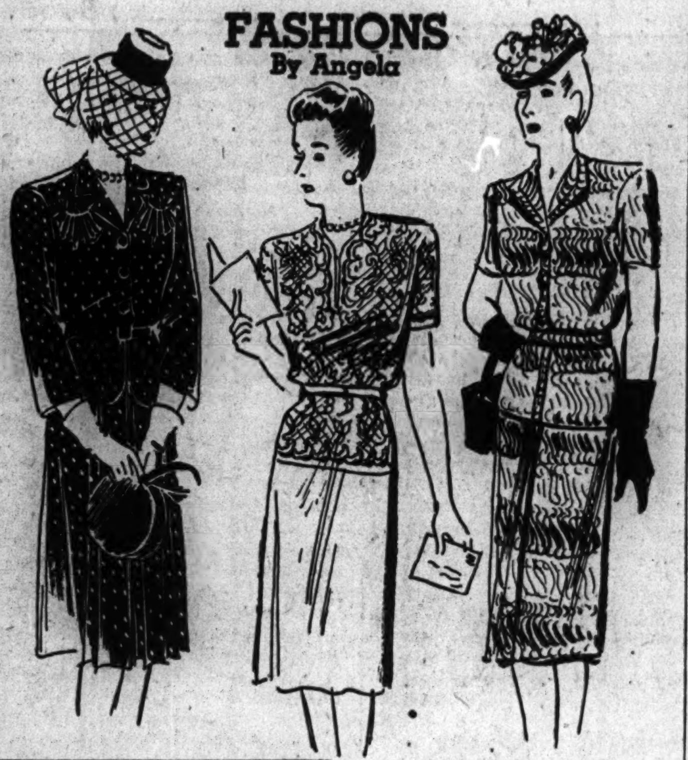
FASHIONS

By Angela



Full figured women who wear sizes 38 to 44 and 16½ to 24½ are having an eventful spring shopping season. Montones, jersey prints, pastel sheers, and delightful rayon mesh sheers are only a few of the outstanding choices for smartly groomed mature women.

An ideal all-around dress is the navy blue and white polka dot two piece model at the left. Cartridge plaiting forms two decorative chest pockets. A narrow collar and neat lapels of the vee neckline create a slenderizing illusion. The inset belt and rounded corners of the jacket also add to the silhouette's slimness. The skirt has two box plaits in front and is straight in back.

For festive occasions any one would feel well dressed in the soft, aqua sheer two piece dress in the center, with its straight up and down lines. Cotton embroidered sheer is used for the front and sleeves, while the back and skirt are of rayon crepe [sheer]. It also is available in shell pink and white.

One of the season's smartest jersey dresses is the one at the right which combines soft gray and rich purple in an all over border print. It is a one piece dress with a two piece effect in front. Collarless, it has small lapels and three pearl buttons trimming the bodice. Below the long torso front treatment is an inverted plait.

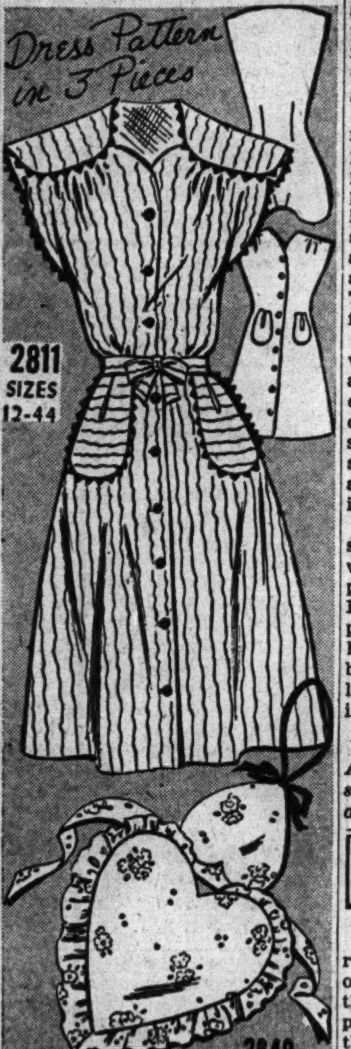
Apron Fashions



The woman who keeps house and "lives in" aprons all day long, needs a large wardrobe of them. Here are two new patterns suggesting a pair of aprons you will like. One is a full frock, trimmed with simple rickrack braid outlining shoulders and pockets, and the other is a diminutive, whimsical item to toss on over your frocks. Style No. 2811 is designed for sizes 12 to 44. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 35 or 39 inch material with 4½ yards of braid. Style No. 2840 is designed for one size, requiring only one yard of 35 or 39 inch fabric. The pattern makes heart, club, diamond, and spade designs.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The spring fashion book, on sale at Tribune Public Service offices, is 15 cents; 12 cents if ordered by mail with a pattern.

Mrs. Ed W., Chicago—To attach a rubber vacuum cup firmly to glass or similar surface, give the cup a thin coating of fingernail polish and press it quickly into place before the polish dries. This polish will keep the air from seeping in and breaking the vacuum.

Mrs. Leslie R., Chicago—This last fall we gave our children's school books a tough, transparent coating of varnish as a help against soiling and scuffing. Lacquer would have been as good, and it's a nice protection for cook books, too.

Give Teen-Age Child a Little Independence

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

One evening in mid-summer a 15½ year old son said to his father:

"I know we can't go anywhere in the car this summer, Dad, but would you say it would be okay for me to take a bicycle tour for a couple of weeks? It would be a swell vacation."

His mother's heart missed a beat or two but she waited. She knew her husband always could handle such things far better than she ever could, because he thinks before he answers, and she usually speaks too soon. She only hoped that he also saw Roger's [the younger son's] anxiety to be included.

"Well, Jack," finally came the reply, "it sounds like a pretty good idea to me, but it would be kind of lonesome traveling along, mile after mile, alone. Better take young Roger, here, for company."

"O, he's such a kid. He couldn't keep up with me and I don't want to waste time."

"You were his age, Son, just a little over a year ago. Would you have thought yourself too young to have taken such a jaunt then?"

"Okay, if that's the way you want it, let him come along."

Jack always had been unconsciously jealous of Roger, but that trip was a veritable turning point in the lives of the two boys. Shortly after they returned, sunburned, healthy, and justly proud of their first trip strictly on their own, Jack remarked, "Roger's a right guy, you know, Dad. The day we stopped and helped a farmer, for a good dinner and a night's lodging, he worked hard at it and never grumbled. And boy! Was he tired!"

This reaching out for new fields to conquer is natural and normal, and we should help our boys to satisfy reasonable desires. It does all of us good to get out of a habitual groove, to have a change of base, as it were; and often such a change makes us appreciate our own little groove much more when we again return to it. It's refreshing, and the things that happen during that recess, however short it may be, often give us a broader outlook.

Boys, and girls, too, need freedom to be on their own, to do things for themselves. The sense of liberty and responsibility for one's own actions that goes with it are valuable experiences.

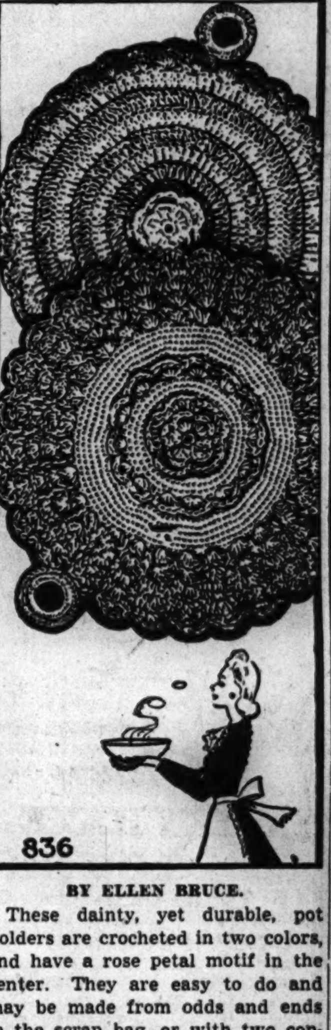
Pot Holders



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

These dainty, yet durable, pot holders are crocheted in two colors, and have a rose petal motif in the center. They are easy to do and may be made from odds and ends in the scrap bag, or with two contrasting shades in harmony with the kitchen color scheme. The only two stitches used are the single and double crochet, but they are cleverly combined in a pattern which defies heat and steam from pans or kettles.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 22.—The Norwegian government has protested to our state department because Metro wants to do "Victoria," by Knut Hamsun. It's about a Quisling. The Norwegians don't want the bad side of their country shown in America. We're the only nation that does that. We've shown our gangsters, even glorified them, so people all over the world think we're either multimillionaires or gangsters. They don't know the difference, and, frankly, sometimes neither do we. . . . I'm glad Paulette Goddard has gone blonde. She's the blonde type. And gentlemen still prefer them. . . . Rochester has been added to "For Better, For Worse," at Metro. He plays a comic janitor. Last thing he did there was "Broadway Rhythm."

Movies Make It Seem So Simple.

"The Time, the Place, and the Girl," with Jack Carson, Dennis Morgan, Martha Vickers, Janis Paige, and Angela Greene at Warners is a tale of youngsters who put over a night club, then end up having a big musical hit on Broadway. It's easier to do that on the screen than in real life these days. David Butler says, "Maybe it'll turn out to be a fantasy." Leroy Prinz, doing the dance routines, says the movie strike isn't standing in their way. Now they paint backdrops and floors instead of having fancy ones. He doubts whether anybody will notice the difference. Jack Carson warbles, "I'm a Solid Citizen from the Solid South"—funniest thing I've heard Jack do. . . . Even our dogs are suffering from the film strike. Two trained Pekes were needed for "Dolly Sisters," but the owner turned out to be a painter on strike. So they're using Pomeranians, and those Pekes will just have to do without chicken livers and breast of guinea hen for the duration.

O, To Be Young Again!

Peggy Ann Garner was too cute for words on the "Junior Miss" set. She was wearing her first party dress. She wouldn't even sit down in it—afraid it would muss. . . . Newcomer Barbara Whiting, who got her job thru George Seton, director, says he's so good—why, he's too good for this business. She's 13. . . . Newcomer Michael Francis looks like the real thing. . . . I went to watch a spectacular glass shot for "State Fair," meaning part of the set is real, part painted on canvas. The Ferris wheel is miniature—it would delight the heart of any child. It works. While there I met two friends I'd worked with 20 years ago. One of them told of finding on the old "Hunchback" set at Universal a check made out to Lon Chaney for $17. He showed it to Chaney, who said, "I'll give you $17 for it—I'd like to frame it." That was Chaney's salary check when he first started there.

All Around the Movie Town.

Mainbocher will only do Mary Martin's clothes, while Vladimir Bajansky will do the others for "One Touch of Venus." . . . Iris Adrian returns to "The Stork Club" via Paramount. . . . The Jimmy Benhams [Earl's son] are expecting. They were married at John Charles Thomas' home here a year ago. . . . Pretty smart of Donald Ogden Stewart, writing himself as a young man with a bottle into "Without Love," then giving the part to Keenan Wynn, who lapped up the contents and romped home. . . . Wonder why Ginger Rogers is so anxious to buy the life story of Gertrude Lawrence. Gertie's as sophisticated as Noel Coward. Ginger's the perfect Kitty Foyle. And those two never met outside a Coward novel.

JOURNEY UNDERGROUND

[The story of a Chicago hero's escape from German occupied France]

(Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune.)

By Flight Officer David G. Prosser

SYNOPSIS: The author enlisted in the Canadian air force in 1941, at the age of 20, and became a navigator. In 1943 he transferred to the American air force. On his ninth combat mission his Flying Fortress was shot down over France, and the crew bailed out. Prosser was injured. A French family hid him in their attic for 13 days, until he was able to walk, then helped him go by railroad to Nevers, 135 miles south of Paris. In Nevers he got in touch with members of the underground movement who hid him in their homes. Eventually he was introduced to Alphonse and Johnny who arranged to take him to Paris. Johnny was the son of an American soldier who married a French woman in the last war. They boarded a train for Paris which went by way of Bourges because there had been an "accident" [sabotage] on the direct Nevers-Paris line.

INSTALMENT XXIV.

We arrived in Bourges two hours late, but stayed only long enough for me to look at a trainload of Messerschmitt wings and engines, and at the beautiful cathedral of which one gets such an impressive view from the train. Johnny hoped this unusually short stop meant we would gain some time on the rest of the journey. He said we were going to be met at the station by some friends, but if we were more than an hour late they might not wait.

We arrived in Paris just a few minutes before the subway stopped running. I had put on Alphonse's coat, and in doing so felt two bomb containers in each pocket. It gave me rather a start, because the penalty for carrying arms in France was death, but there was nothing I could say since both of them were carrying even more than I.

We jumped off the train the minute it stopped and ran as fast as we could to catch the last Metro. The crowd was terrific and in the pushing and shoving I hurt my ankle several times. Alphonse and Johnny looked for their friends, but there were so many people rushing about that it was impossible to find them.

My foot was so painful that I made my way to the first seat in the subway, with the two men following me. As I sat down, Alphonse noticed that his coat, which I was wearing, had slipped off my knee and was exposing my blue peasant's trousers. He rushed up to me nervously and told me to cover the trousers up.

As the coat was too small for me it slipped off my knees two or three times, and in great agitation Alphonse again rushed to the rescue. At the same time Johnny spoke aloud in broken English, telling me to cover up. To calm Alphonse I held the coat together, which must have looked as awkward and unnatural to the onlooker as it felt to me. I asked Johnny not to speak English any more, but he replied rather proudly that he often spoke English in the Metro with his friends, just to irritate any Germans within earshot. I assured him that I did not want to irritate any one at that moment.

We had a mile to walk to Johnny's flat, and in the black-out I stumbled and hurt my foot several times. Before he entered the resistance movement he had lived with his mother, but it had been too dangerous to remain there and he had moved. The police had called upon his mother twice to ask why he hadn't reported for work in Germany, and another time the Gestapo called.

Johnny sometimes visited his mother after dark, and occasionally they went out for dinner at a small cafe. He telephoned her every night to tell her he was safe, but he had been sent to Nevers unexpectedly, and he was afraid she would be worrying. However, as there was no telephone at his flat she would have to wait until morning to hear from him.

Johnny's flat was on the top floor of a new apartment house. It was pleasant and colorful and altho rather sparsely furnished it was done well, and suited an artist. The front door opened into a large studio which extended about 20 feet to the front of the building. The wall facing the street was made completely of glass, which when we entered was covered by great black-out drapes.

On the right side of the room a door led to a small sleeping room and then into a bathroom kitchenette. In this room there was a small sink and stove and a very odd castiron bathtub deeper than it was wide or long. A person bathing in it sat on a little step with his feet in the bottom of the tub and his head just peeping over the top. The vague references to a dinner at Johnny's which had been made on the train failed to materialize. We went into the big studio room and smoked a cigaret.

Johnny had a double bed which either Alphonse or I were to share with Johnny that night. The question was soon decided when I reminded them of my lice. I slept alone on a little bed.

Just before we all retired Johnny locked the door. This was a real operation, for not only were there two locks, but also a very large sliding bolt. After the door was firmly shut, Johnny hid the bombs we had brought to Paris.

When I awoke the next morning Alphonse had already left and Johnny had started to dress. I hurriedly put my clothes on and we were soon ready to go out for breakfast. Johnny knew a little cafe around the corner, where we had some fair coffee and a roll with a tasteless bit of sausage in it. Our coffee was served in glasses.

Johnny suddenly remembered that he had not as yet called his mother, so we rushed off to the postoffice where the nearest telephones were to be found. He insisted that I speak to his mother. I did as Johnny asked, and his mother seemed to be very pleased.

When he finished talking to her she said that he had to call Jean Marie. I was unable to distinguish between this name and the word gendarmerie, and I asked rather anxiously why he was calling the police station. He laughed and said he was telephoning Jean Marie, his friend, to tell him that I had arrived.

While he talked, I stood outside the telephone and looked around the postoffice.

We set off to buy some bread and had to walk a long way up the Boulevard Victor Hugo before we found a bakery that was open. The atmosphere of this rather typical Parisian boulevard seemed to be spoiled by the empty, drab shops that we passed. The big second Empire buildings along the boulevard which looked shabby and in need of repairs, made that once beautiful and cheering boulevard quite depressing.

Arriving back at the flat we found a very dapper young man standing in front of the door. He was very well dressed in a blue suit, a well starched blue and white striped shirt, and a bright tie. A thin, bristly mustache seemed almost to make his face look younger. He had sparkling blue eyes and curly short hair. His name was Georges—one of the men who was supposed to have met us the night before at the station.

First he wanted to know what had happened to us at the station, for he had waited until our train arrived. We told him that we had looked for him but had missed him. Then he asked about the bombs, and said when he heard we had them, that he must call Jean Marie.

I took off my tight, uncomfortable suit coat and put on my battle dress, completely forgetting the people on the fifth floor right across the street. When I finally came to my senses and looked at the apartment across from us I saw a woman staring right at me. I almost started to run out of the room, but realized that such a movement might confirm any suspicion she had, and that probably she did not know a British style battle dress from a German one.

I stealthily moved toward the door of the little bedroom to change back into the old, uncomfortable coat.

When I returned to the studio she was still gazing at our window and it seemed as if she had not noticed anything peculiar.

Georges told me about Flo, a Texan he had recently brought to Paris and kept at his house for a few days. Altho he knew a little English, Georges said he could not understand anything at all Flo said. He had taken the Texan boy to his mother's house. She could speak English well, and was not in the least baffled by a Texan accent, but Flo did not have much to say. When they asked him of the conditions in the United States or England, he said that they were good, but would not explain the reports the Germans put out about the food shortage and strikes.

Georges thought the boy was still a little suspicious of them and did not want to talk for fear of giving away some vital information. He pretended not to mind being excluded from the secrets of the American domestic front, but I think he was a little hurt, for all the Frenchmen that I met liked to be "in the know," and would do anything to hear the more confidential side of the war. Georges laughed when he told me about bringing Flo into town. On the way they saw several German soldiers and Flo exclaimed at seeing his first, "Why, there is a Heine soldier."

Until only three months before, Georges had worked in his father's office, but he felt he should be doing something more for the cause than just "hoping" for allied victory, so he had joined Jean Marie's organization.

He was happy to be in the underground and doing work that really hindered the Germans. Most of his work was sabotage. He and his comrades operated by night in their automobiles. They drove up to the building or objective which they were to attack, quickly left their explosive bombs, and drove away. Georges said he had only once run into any difficulty, when a night watchman tried to stop them, but without success.

I asked if his group could get all the gasoline it needed. He assured me it could, and in fact, in respect to gasoline, had the advantage over the police, for all government cars were strictly rationed.

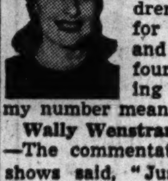
THE QUESTION.

What amusing or embarrassing experience have you had while modeling in a fashion show?

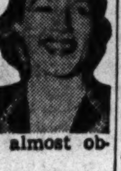
WHERE ASKED.

Marshall Field & Co. store [asked of models].

THE ANSWERS.

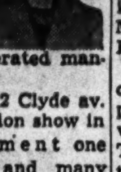


Cathleen Treacy, 207 Hamilton st., Evanston—While modeling we carry a large number. I was in the dining room when I heard some one yell, "Come on, children, we have a table for five." I turned and saw a woman with four children following me. She thought my number meant a table for five.

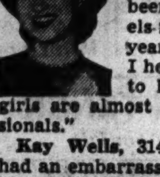


Wally Wenstrand, 4317 Dayton st.—The commentator at one of our shows said, "Just to prove that the hat is for sale the model is wearing the ticket on the outside of the hat." I was the model wearing the hat and was so embarrassed. It was a small hat and the exceptionally large ticket almost obscured the hat.

Dorothy Hicks, 5817 N. Odell—I was modeling a trim black suit. When I turned around I heard several gasps and whispers. I thought the audience was impressed and walked off quite pleased. When I took off the skirt I discovered a big white patch on the back where I had sat on a newly whitewashed bench.



Virginia Crouse, 1046 Lake Shore dr.—This was during a tea room show. I was modeling an outfit and going thru the usual motions. Every one started laughing. I turned around to see a happy go lucky gentleman dancing behind me—mocking everything I was doing in an exaggerated manner.



Nancy MacBurney, 7012 Clyde av.—We were having a fashion show in the basement one afternoon and many experienced models participated. Some had been professional models for seven and eight years. During the show I heard a lady whisper to her friend, "These girls are almost as good as professionals."

Kay Wells, 3140 Sheridan rd.—I had an embarrassing experience one afternoon while modeling sports clothes. I walked to a spot where I was supposed to turn around. My shoes were too big and as I turned I slipped out of them. I had to stoop over, put them back on and shuffle out. The incident caused considerable mirth.

Annual Garden Sale Plans Laid in Lake Forest

enne, Wyo., attended her sister as matron of honor, and Richard K. Sweeney of Chicago was his brother-in-law's best man. A small reception followed in the Roosevelt hotel. Lt. Bruckner is stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss., after having served in the Aleutians.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd Wright announce the marriage Tuesday in Miami, Fla., of their daughter, Iovana, to Lt. Waring S. Howe of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gedney Main Howe of Charleston, S. C. After a wedding trip to Key West, Lt. Howe, who attended the University of Charleston, will return to sea duty. His bride, an accomplished harpist, has been studying in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Wright passed thru Chicago Wednesday from their winter home in Phoeniz, Ariz., to New York.

Here and There.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon M. Welsh will welcome home their daughter, Ensign Sallie Ellen Welsh of the WAVES tomorrow for she is being sent to Chicago from her present post at Radcliffe college. Ensign Welsh is to be stationed here and probably will be able to live with her parents in Winnetka. Her younger sister, Miss Posie Welsh, just has left to return to her classes at Wells college.

The Jeffrey R. Shorts of Winnetka learned of the birth of their latest grandchild in Castle Hot Springs, Ariz., where they have been vacationing. Young Allen Trumbull Short, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Short Jr., was born March 7 in Richardson House, Boston, Mass. While young Mr. Short is serving with the state department in Ankara, Turkey, his wife and children are staying with her parents, the Thomas Allens, in Brookline, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. William Harris Polk [Lurena Widden] of Milwaukee, Wis., are being congratulated on the birth of their first child, a daughter, Tuesday in Milwaukee. The little girl will be named Lurena Elizabeth for her grandmothers, Mrs. Roswell C. Widden and Mrs. William J. Polk. She is the fifth in line to bear the name Lurena. Mr. and Mrs. Widden, formerly of Evanston, are living in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Erskine Wilder and her year old daughter, Candace, arrived by plane last week for a month's visit with her mother, Mrs. Edgerton A. Throckmorton, and Mr. Throckmorton in Barrington. Mrs. Wilder and Candace have been living in Savannah, Ga., where Lt. Wilder is stationed with the army air forces.

The Chicago branch of the English-Speaking union will entertain at tea today for Polish Consul General and Mrs. Julyusz Szygowski. Mrs. Laban J. Brady and Mrs. Paul Russell will be hostesses for the afternoon.

Kathleen Ryan Lane will give a program of songs at the Cordon club's tea from 4 to 6 p. m. today, accompanied by Robert Sheehan.

Council to Entertain South American Officers

The Pan-American council will entertain South American army and navy officers at a musical and tea at 4 p. m. tomorrow in the International Relations center, 84 E. Randolph st. The visitors are in Chicago to attend a judge advocate conference, and before returning home will inspect military installations thruout the United States. The program has been arranged by Mrs. Allen C. Howes and Miss Lucile Carewe.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 spades	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead, five of hearts.

An interesting illustration of the combined technique of safety and timing is provided by today's hand. The technique of proper timing in the play of the hand is perhaps one of the most difficult to perfect. It frequently involves employing your entries at precisely the right occasion.

The final contract of four spades was sound enough on the merits of the cards, but the means of reaching that contract require perhaps some comment. South's rebid of the four card spade suit, unsupported by partner, is not quite conventional, but he found himself in a position where there was no other course for him to pursue. He should have thought it all out before opening the bidding in that manner. The prediction that partner will respond with two diamonds or two clubs can hardly be considered fanciful. He ought to have prepared for such a contingency. Most players prefer to pass with this holding. Those who insist upon opening frequently do so with a club, tho such a procedure is not very desirable without a high honor in the suit.

The opening lead was the five of hearts. Dummy's queen was covered by the king and taken with the ace.

To avail himself of the short suit in dummy declarer immediately returned a heart for the ruff. He then tried two rounds of trumps and got the bad news. He was obliged therefore to lose two diamonds and two tricks in trumps.

While normally trumps should not be extracted when there is a short suit in dummy, in this case, with the solid club suit available for discards, trumps should be gotten out with dispatch and in the safest possible manner. After winning with the ace of hearts declarer should play a top trump. When the 10 falls from East, suspicion of a possible bad break should arise. The winning play at trick two is a low trump towards the dummy. If East has the doubleton queen-10 of trumps the overtricks are sacrificed, but if the 10 is a singleton, this is the only way to insure the contract. West can win with the queen and cash two diamond tricks, but declarer has the rest. Note that if declarer plays the second high trump, he cannot win the hand against proper defense. For, when he leads the third round of trumps, West wins and forces dummy with a heart promoting his nine of trumps into a winner.

[The usual weekly quiz will appear tomorrow.]

BILL NICHOLSON INFORMS CUBS HE'LL BE READY

Slugger Agrees to Club's Terms.

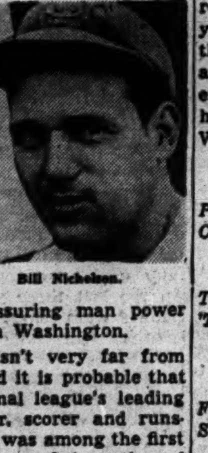
Reds to Move In

BLOOMINGTON, IND., March 22 (AP).—The Cincinnati Reds will break camp here April 2 and move to the Chicago Cubs' headquarters in near-by French Lick for the remainder of the spring training season. This will enable the two clubs to play a series of exhibition games without violating the spring travel pact, inasmuch as the spa is on the Reds' route home.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., March 22.—Bill Nicholson's promise, made from his home in Chestertown, Md., that he will be in right field for the Cubs on opening day, April 17, was accepted at face value by club officials today as they contemplated yesterday's reassuring man power developments in Washington.



Bill Nicholson.

Washington isn't very far from Chestertown and it is probable that Nick, the National league's leading home run hitter, scorer and runs-batted-in champ was among the first ball players to hear of the action of WMC Chairman Paul McNutt easing the man power situation insofar as ball players are concerned.

Bill Likes the Wage.

Nicholson hadn't signed his contract at the time of McNutt's statement but says he is satisfied with terms. It is expected the signed contract will start for Chicago and Nick will start for here at about the same time, now that McNutt's statement has been digested and adjudged highly favorable to the likes of the 29 year old Nicholson.

Nick has sent word that Manager Charley Grimm need not worry about his physical condition—that he has been taking specialized exercises to tone his ample baseball muscles. Just the same, Grimm says, he'd like to have Nick here as a sort of bellwether for the hitters.

Nick Is Rated 1-A.

If it were not for Nick's own statements that he would be available opening day, the club might still be in doubt about his status. The latest military data announced by the Cubs in regard to Nick [announcement accompanied by sighs anent his 33 homers, his 120 runs batted in and his 116 runs scored] are that he was in 1-A. In his statement at Chestertown Nick did not say whether his classification had been changed since last he reported to his baseball employers.

Tho the return of bright sunshine and the re-receding of Lost river brought considerable cheer to the camp today, there continued to be some wishful thinking about absentee pitchers, especially Paul Erickson, Hy Vandenberg, and in a lesser degree about Jorge Comellas, the Cuban who won 18 games for Los Angeles last season. Henry Wyse, another mound mainstay, arrived today.

Claude Still in Mississippi.

Claude Passeau has been accounted for, but the time is approaching when Skipper Grimm will be anxious to have him come out from under his tung nut trees down in Mississippi.

Groundkeeper - Trainer - Umpire Andy Lotshaw was up at 6 o'clock this morning bailing the remaining pools off the training field. Later he made a bet with Manager Grimm that he will have it ready for tomorrow's workout.

MAURIELLO AND OMA READY FOR TONIGHT'S BOUT

New York, March 22 (AP).—Tami Mauriello, New York heavyweight boxer, and Lee Oma of Detroit today completed their preparations for tomorrow night's Madison Square Garden 10 rounder, with Oma the 1 to 1 favorite.

Oma, who won the second of their previous meeting and was ahead until knocked out in their first, isn't expected to scale more than 185 pounds. Mauriello has cut his poundage from 220 to 196.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

MORE than 60 prominent athletes already have signed to play in the All-America Football conference. . . . The voluble Dizzy Trout of the Tigers claims he once made a triple play without pitching a ball to the batter. . . . The bases were filled and there were two strikes on the batter when Trout resorted to the amazing strategy. . . . He extracted an extra ball that he had hidden in his shirt for an emergency. . . . With a ball in each hand he wound up with both arms and being ambidextrous suddenly threw to third with his left arm and to first with his right. . . . The two unsuspecting runners were called out and the batter was so confused that he swung for the third strike. . . . If you don't believe this one, Dizzy has others. . . . This department has received several orders for All-Star football tickets from soldiers overseas. . . . All express hope they'll be home by Aug. 30, night of the game, but if they aren't, they want them sent to their mom or dad. . . . When the Cubs arrived in French Lick, Ind., on March 19 last year there was an inch of snow on the ground. . . . When the first intraclub game was started this year on March 16 the thermometer on the hotel veranda showed an even 80 in the shade. . . . Mordecai Brown, one of the Cub immortals from the west side days, will retire from his Terre Haute service station April 1. . . . The team trophy won by Chicago in this year's Golden Gloves finals has been sent to the Los Angeles Times, whose team finished second in the standings only a point behind Chicago. . . .

The Cleveland Rams set a National league record last fall when they tipped four forward passes into opponents' hands for touchdowns. . . . New Orleans high schools have adopted a rule barring athletes from competition for two years after transferring from one school to another. . . . Lt. Comdr. Francis Tappaan, former All-American lineman at Southern California, is on his way back to Luzon after recovering from wounds incurred in a Jap dive bomber attack which killed eight and injured 10. . . . Best mark in the India-Burma track meet held recently at Calcutta was a 6 foot 5 inch jump by Ernie King of Los Angeles. . . . Jack Matheson, Detroit Lions' end, twice turned down for military service, has set himself up in business in Kalamazoo with a brand new recipe for preparing the national dish—hamburgers. . . . This is the year the suffering of the grouch columnists will be fiercest. . . . If they couldn't stop major league baseball in 1945, they'll have less chance after the collapse of Germany, which even pessimists predict will be effected before another season rolls around. . . . Chicago currently is host to two of the most popular entertainers with overseas forces—Willie Shore and Jackie Heller.

Kokomo Sue.

Pretty Kokomo Sue
Caused a hullaballoo
When she wore a fried egg for a hat;
Tho it looked mighty good,
'Twas the wasting of food
That started the neighborhood spat.

For the ration board said
She had food on her head,
And they felt mighty peeved about that;
And they solemnly vowed
That before the town crowd
They would make the poor girl eat her hat.

But, when Susie refused
To conform to their views
They just severed her headpiece in two;
And instead of a meal,
Susie could not but feel
They had favored her with a shampoo. —T. E. B.

The Ladies.

"Aren't the hats this spring a perfect scream?"
Said our Minnie to Flora Mae;
As the two of them met at the window
Of a hat shop along the way;
"Look at that one with the plume at half-mast!"
Then a giggling, laughing fit,
"And that pancake number there on the right,
Would you be found dead in it?"

"Suppose we go in and try some on.
Just for the fun, you know,"
Our Mamie said to Flora Mae,
"It'll be better than a show."
So in they went and when they came out
After an hour or two,
Each tenderly carried a hatbox gay—
I wasn't surprised. Are you?

WMC OFFICIAL CLARIFIES NEW DIAMOND RULING

All members of professional baseball teams, except those players, coaches, and managers who were engaged in diamond activities last season and have contractural relationships with a particular club may be hired only upon referral by the United States employment service. William H. Spencer, regional director for the war man power commission, announced this yesterday in explaining WMC's policy.

Those who have contractural relationships or options, may be recalled to their teams and also may be transferred by sale to other teams without securing statements of availability or referrals from the USES, he said. But all others, such as new players, may be hired only upon referral.

'DON'T HOLD US BACK,' CHICAGO GLOVERS PLEAD

Coaches Put Brake on Enthusiasm.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chicago's 1945 Golden Gloves team, having received the challenge of a New York squad determined to win the 18th annual Intercity battle between the two in the Chicago Stadium on April 4, yesterday couldn't wait to get into the gymnasium of the Illinois Athletic club for the first serious workout.

The Chicagoans weren't due to go to work in earnest until 2:30 o'clock, but Head Coach Johnny Behr and his associates found an eager group ready to go a half hour before the appointed time. Capt. Behr and Co-coaches Issy Kline and Fred Caserio were hard pressed to restrain the members of the squad from going to bat against each other as soon as they hopped into fighting gear.

They'll Be Ready Today.

Several of the boys obviously were disappointed when Behr announced that there would be no boxing exercises until this afternoon. His opening program, supervised by Kline and Caserio, as well as Pop Howard of the Madison Athletic club, Dick Fitzpatrick of the Catholic Youth organization, and Eddie Nichols of the Savoy Athletic club, consisted largely of working with the gymnasium's fistic paraphernalia.

Realizing they are certain to be able to fling punches at one another in this afternoon's workout, the boxers settled down to making the most of the hour allotted to them. They already had enjoyed a fast road drill in Grant park at 6:30 a. m. under the direction of Caserio.

Four champions were on hand for the workout, including Chicago's own trio—Jackie Boyd, the Madison A. C. 112 pounder, and the Savoy A. C. twosome: Bernard Paige, lightweight, and Luke Baylark, heavyweight. Joining them was Bob Jarvis, 16, Kansas City high school sophomore who won the bantamweight title in the Chicago finals at the Stadium on March 9.

Seldom has the Illinois A. C. gymnasium witnessed such a concentrated stretch of activity. The slender little Boyd was hammering a heavy bag only a few feet from where Sgt. George Siebert, the 175 pound air corps soldier from Chanute field and Peoria, who distinguished himself in the March 9 finals, was skipping rope.

Have Tradition to Uphold.

The boys went at it with a will, but it was plain that they can't wait to hop into a ring to prime their shootin' weapons for the big job against New York. They have a tradition to carry on, this 1945 ensemble, one which has seen their predecessors win 10 of the first 17 matches in the Intercity series, while losing only four and tying three.

Two valuable additions to the Chicago team will arrive Monday morning. They are Corp. Tom Attra of the Fort Worth Star Telegram, winner of the 1942 title at 175 pounds and runner-up for this year's golden glove in the same weight division, and his Texas teammate, Gilbert Garcia, Houston shipyard worker who captured the welterweight crown in the 1945 Chicago finals. Sports Editor Flem Hall of the Star Telegram yesterday informed tournament officials that Hector Marquez, the Fort Worth bantamweight, who had been picked as a squad member, will be unable to make the trip because of the serious illness of his father.

MARS INTERESTS SELL MILKY WAY BREEDING FARM

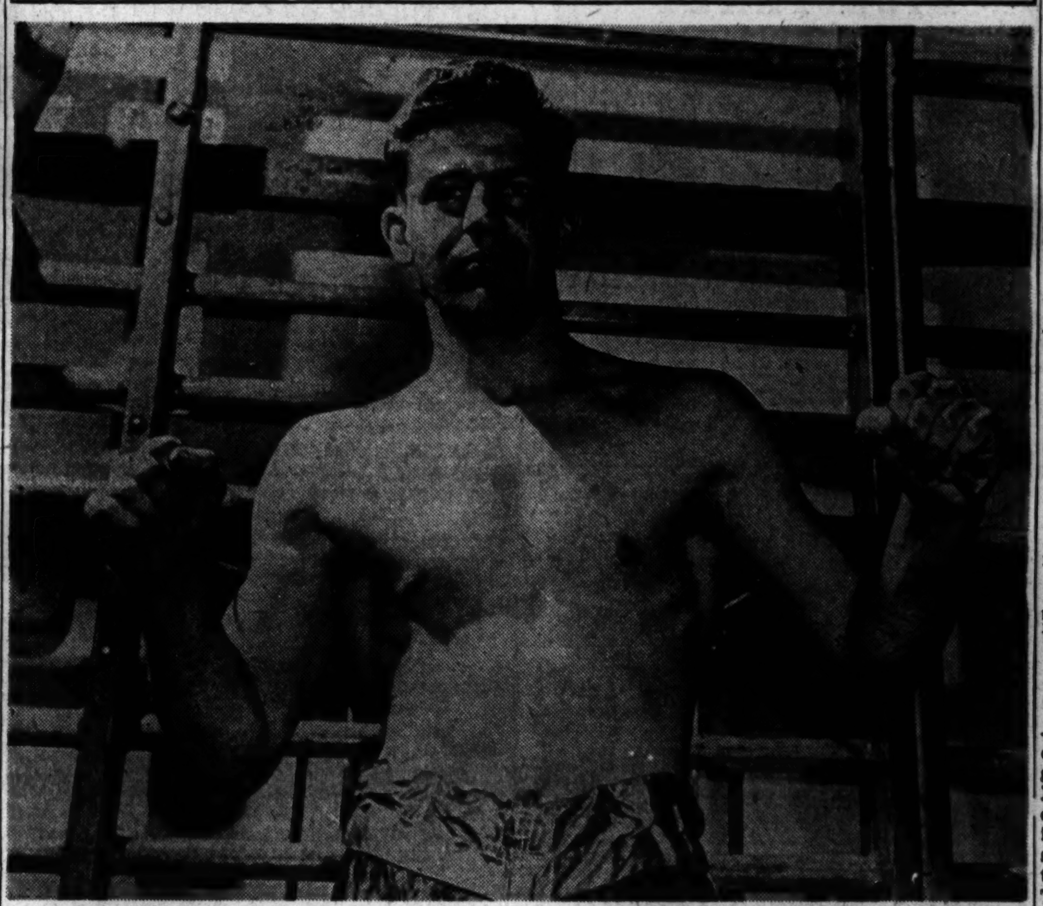
Pulaski, Tenn., March 22 (AP).—Tennessee's most celebrated country estate, the 2,704 acre Milky Way farm near here, has been sold to a west Tennessee hotel operator and cattle breeder.

Purchase of the farm—noted for its racing stable—from Mars, Inc., Chicago candy firm, was announced by Albert D. Noe Jr. of Jackson, Tenn., who said that he had bought it for an undisclosed sum.

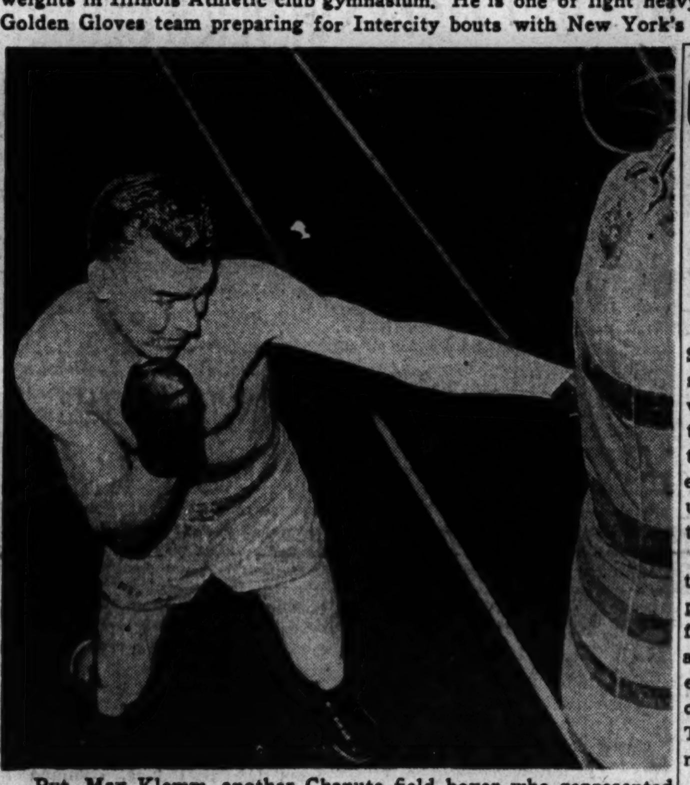
The farm had been listed for sale the last four months with state and national agents at a purchase price of $975,165.

Development of the farm was begun 15 years ago by the late F. C. Mars by the purchase and consolidation of several other estates. Since his death it had been operated by his widow, Mrs. Ethel V. Mars.

THEY STRIVE FOR PHYSICAL PERFECTION



Most persons would think a torso like the one displayed here by Sgt. George Siebert of Chanute field and Peoria just about the acme of perfection, but not George, who works industriously on chest weights in Illinois Athletic club gymnasium. He is one of light heavyweight members of The Tribune Golden Gloves team preparing for Intercity bouts with New York's best in Chicago Stadium April 4.



Pvt. Max Klemm, another Chanute field boxer who represented Peoria in Tournament of Champions, in which he won the Joe Louis heavyweight sportsmanship trophy, works out on heavy bag to sharpen up for sparring sessions which will begin today.

Sox, Tigers Schedule Four Spring Games in Terre Haute

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Terre Haute, Ind., March 22.—A possible chance to salvage at least a few of the exhibition games erased by the travel ban hit the White Sox training camp along with a large batch of sweat producing sunshine today.

Jack Zeller, the Tigers' general manager who, like all the other major league executives, hopes to find some sort of worth-while pre-season competition, came over from his team's base in Evansville to determine how James Dykes, the Sox boss, felt about getting together—if it can be done.

Dykes was most agreeable, in fact enthusiastic, so they decided they'd play here April 7, 8, 9, and 10, altho the whole thing depends on whether the higher-ups decree it will not be a violation of the restriction on side trips where baseball players are involved.

The Tigers' scheme at present is to remain in their camp until it's time to start for St. Louis, where they will open the season April 17. If the proposed series here is arranged at the expense of a few extra miles that could be covered in buses that run every day, whether or not a few ball players are passengers, the Tigers would close their camp earlier than scheduled, and after their series with the Sox, stay here to continue training. The Sox can't stay because of their dates with the Cubs in Chicago April 12 to 15 inclusive.

After a three day pause in batting practice because of a wet diamond, the Sox were able today to slam, or try to slam, the ball all over the lot, this variety of labor also being valuable because it gives the pitchers a whack at throwing from a regulation mound. After observing the batting practice into which he tossed a heavy dose of running, Dykes told his boys he would treat them to a six inning camp game tomorrow as well as on Sunday. He isn't sure how he'll line 'em up but, in view of the scarcity of big leaguers, he'll try to find at least one "star" for each team.

CURTRIGHT IS READY.

Mexico, Mo., March 22 (AP).—Guy Curtright, White Sox outfielder, said today he will leave Saturday to report for spring training with the club in Terre Haute, Ind.

OHIO STATE WINS OVER KENTUCKY QUINTET, 45-37

New York, March 22 (AP).—Ohio State's rugged basketball team squared accounts for the season with the University of Kentucky tonight, scoring a 45 to 37 victory to enter the finals of the N. C. A. A. eastern division tourney. New York university defeated Tufts, 59 to 44, to become the other finalist.

Putting up a defense that forced the Southeastern conference champions to take most of their shots from a distance, the Buckeyes avenged a 62 to 52 licking they took early in the season before a crowd of 15,584 at Madison Square Garden. The finals will be played Saturday night.

Call 39 Fouls.

It was a roughly fought affair with 21 fouls being called against Ohio State and 18 against Kentucky. Neither team, however, was especially accurate from the free throw line, the Wildcats missing repeated opportunities to close in late in the game when the Ohioans were protecting a 10 point lead.

Both teams lost their chief operatives six minutes from the end when Arnold Risen, Ohio's 6 foot 9 inch center, went out on personals and Jack Tingle, slippery Kentucky forward, suffered a badly sprained ankle.

Ohio Never Trails.

Ohio State never trailed, altho the score was tied twice in the first half before Rod Caudill led a sprint that gave the Buckeyes a 21 to 15 margin at the intermission. With Don Grate finding the range, the Big Ten boys took a 12 point margin early in the second period but Tingle's scoring spree made the game an argument until he was forced out.

Dorothy Hurd, Ex-Golf Star, Killed by Train

New York, March 22 (AP).—Dorothy Campbell Hurd Howe, 62, famous woman golfer, was killed when struck by a train in Yemassee, S. C., Tuesday, it was revealed tonight by Mrs. Wilson Seymour. Mrs. Seymour is the mother of Mrs. Sigourney Hurd, daughter-in-law of the golfer.

Only woman ever to win the British, American, and Canadian championships, the former title holder was born in Edinburgh in 1383. She was divorced from Jack Hurd, Pittsburgh steel magnate, in the early 1920s. Their son, Sigourney V. Hurd, now is a staff sergeant in the United States field artillery stationed in the Philippines.

Mrs. Hurd later married Edward Lee Howe, chairman of the Princeton, N. J., Bank and Trust Co. They likewise were divorced.

The international golfer won more than 700 prizes in the sport. Her triumphs during three decades of competition included:

British Women's championship, 1909, 1911; Scottish championship, 1905, 1906, 1908; United States championship, 1909, 1910, 1924; Canadian championship, 1910, 1911, 1912; North and South championship, 1918, 1920, 1921; Philadelphia Ladies' championship, 1925, 1926, 1927, 1929, 1931, 1934; Bermuda championship, 1931, 1934.

The fatal accident occurred when Mrs. Howe fell beneath an Atlantic coast line express which was just starting.

Services and cremation will be conducted Saturday morning in Ardsley, N. Y.

MONTREAL, Que., March 22 (AP).—Staving off a furious third period drive, the Toronto Maple Leafs gained a 3 to 2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens before a crowd of more than 12,000, to go two up in their Stanley cup semi-final series. The two teams will resume their best of seven game play-off in Toronto Saturday night.

Eleven penalties were dealt out by Referee King Clancy, with most of them resulting from a wild first period that involved practically everybody on both teams at one time or another. Four of the five goals came while the teams were shorthanded.

Kennedy Starts It Off.

Ted Kenndy, who made the only goal in the Leafs first victory Tuesday night, started them off right with the only score of the first period, combining with Bob Davidson and Babe Pratt on a power play while Murph Chamberlain was in the penalty box.

Butch Bouchard got that one back for the Canadiens in the second but before the period ended the Leafs had banged in two more. Lorne Carr got the first and Nick Metz made it 3 to 1 late in the period, when his sliding shot went under Bill Durnan as he fell.

The Canadiens tried desperately in the third period but succeeded only in tallying once when Elmer Lach scored on a play from Bouchard and Maurice Richard.

Detroit, Mich., March 22 (AP).—The Boston Bruins gained a commanding lead over the Detroit Red Wings in their first round National Hockey league Stanley cup series by beating the Wings, 4 to 2, before 12,136 tonight for their second straight victory. Detroit hopes were crushed when, after the Wings tied the score at 1 to 1 in the second period, Ken Smith and Paul Gladu of the Bruins scored two goals in 15 seconds.

The series will be resumed in Boston Sunday and, with the next two games scheduled on the Bruins' home ice, the latter, who had failed to defeat Detroit thru the entire regular season, were in position to repeat the feat of last year's fourth place Chicago Blackhawks who upset the second place Red Wings in the first cup round.

EASTERN GLOVES SQUAD PUNCHES WITH VIM, VIGOR

Boys Enthusiatic Over Resuming Work.

BY BILL MURTHA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bear Mountain, N. Y., March 22. —The New York Golden Gloves coaches, Teddy Martin, Pete Mello, and George Gainford, were both surprised and happy over the eagerness with which their charges opened their first arduous training drill this afternoon. The young men acted as tho they were pleased to be back in the ring after a week of idleness since the eastern Tournament of Champions.

They started the day with a long run over the wooded slopes which surround the Bear Mountain inn at which they're staying and, as Martin pointed out, probably got more good out of this type of road work than they possibly could on the level terrain of Central park where New York teams in the past have been accustomed to stretch their legs.

Work Harder than They Know.

"The boys themselves don't realize it," Martin said, "but some of these slopes are pretty tough and will pay dividends in wind and leg strength when we face THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE champions on April 4 in the Chicago Stadium. You know road work too often is neglected in favor of gymnasium work and that's wrong."

This is one of the most scenic regions in the east. Bear mountain for which the resort was named, drops right down to the gleaming Hudson and is precipitous enough to be the site of one of the most famous ski runs in the east.

The sparring started in midafternoon and for two hours the boys had it hot and heavy as they slugged away with the big training mitts.

Small but Powerful.

One of the most sizzling settos of them all was the two round session which pitted Adolfo Calderon, the bantamweight champion from Puerto Rico against his compatriot, Jorge La Porte, who is expected to fight in the alternate flyweight berth behind the champion, Francisco Colon Garcia.

Both Calderon and La Porte are exceptionally strong for little fellows and the coaches pointed out that they'll be meeting a strong pair in the Intercity show. Calderon, as champion, will be pitted against the western 118 pound titlist, Bob Jarvis, but La Porte will have to earn his spot against the Chicago alternate and he'll get plenty of competition from Bill Simon, the 16 year old New Yorker who went to the finals with Garcia.

The team leaders frankly think that Garcia will have a much easier time of it against Jackie Boyd, the Chicago flyweight champion, than will the New York alternate, who, they anticipate, will be fighting Frank Rivera.

No Weight Problems.

Garcia got in two rounds with Simon and was hitting sharply. Altho he's a southpaw, Garcia packs a lot of power in his straight right hand shots.

The eastern trainers count themselves exceptionally fortunate in having no weight or injury problems on their hands. As a matter of fact, there are a couple of alternates on the team who'll be built up. One of these is Wendell Wilson, an Intercity winner last year, who came up as a welterweight but will move up a notch. The coaches feel that Wendy could pack on six or seven pounds without losing any of his speed or sharpness. He then would fight in the middleweight alternate spot.

The glovers haven't seen much of their neighbors, the Brooklyn Dodgers, who were forced by the weather to do their practicing in the West Point fieldhouse on the near-by military academy grounds.

ARMY, M'PHAIL WIN OVER ODT; GIANTS SERIES ON

Atlantic City, N. J., March 22 [Special].—Larry MacPhail called on the army today for aid in cutting his way thru ODT travel red tape to assure the playing of a two game series between the Yankees and Giants here Easter Sunday and Monday. The games had been canceled but were placed on the schedule again when army officials promised to provide transportation for the Giants to this Yankee training base.

In return, all soldiers in the area will be admitted to the games free. Wounded men will be admitted to all Yankee games here without charge but, except for the Easter series with the Giants, other service men will have to pay. Two of the exhibitions between the Red Sox and Yanks will benefit the Red Cross.

Cards Battle Cairo Water; Pitching Key to Tiger Hopes

Cairo, Ill., March 22 (AP).—The world champion St. Louis Cardinals were squarely up against the decision today of moving their spring training camp or facing the prospect of having to go into the season's schedule without batting and fielding practice.

Long time residents here say club officials are fighting a losing battle in attempts by pumps and ditches to dry out Cotter field sufficiently for use as a training park. The outfield was under about four feet of water when the club arrived Sunday. Mose of this has been drained by the ditches and pumps, but seepage continues.

INDIANS 15 SHORT.

Lafayette, Ind., March 22 (AP).—Vice President Roger Peckinpaugh counted noses among his Cleveland Indians today and arrived at a deficit of 15 players.

Of this number, Peck said he expected only four—Outfielder Roy Cullenbine, 1st Baseman Mickey Rocco and Pitchers Joe Heving and Charles [Red] Embree—to arrive before the Indians break camp April 6. Cullenbine, Rocco and Heving are holdouts but the club official believes he'll have little difficulty coming to terms with them.

PIRATES REGULARS WIN.

Muncie, Ind., March 22 (AP).—Rip Sewell uncorked his famed blooper ball for the Pittsburgh Pirates today and was credited with his first victory of the season. The Regulars beat the Yanigans, 6 to 4, in an eight inning intra-squad game.

Sewell, who gave up four hits, also contributed a double and a single. Preacher Roe allowed 3 hits and Art Cuccurullo 2. Nick Strincevich, pitching for the losers, yielded 7 of 13 hts.

Evansville, Ind., March 22 (AP).—Detroit pitching, sounder today than last season when it was the best in the American league, is the Tigers' big item in plans to corral the pennant that eluded them on the last day of the 1944 baseball campaign.

Hal Newhouser and Paul [Dizzy] Trout, the Tigers' left-right mound team which toiled a total of 664 innings and contributed 56 victories last year, are the backbone of a pitching staff strengthened by service discharge of big Al Benton, star relief pitcher of the 1940 season, and a pair of standout recruits from the minors.

Les Mueller, army dischargee who won 18 games for Beaumont in his last full year before his induction, and Walter Wilson, 29 year old winner of 18 games last season with Buffalo, are the top newcomers.

WALKER IS HOLDOUT.

Bear Mountain, N. Y., March 22 (AP).—Dixie Walker, National league batting champion, has definitely become a holdout, it was announced by Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, today. "Before I heard from Walker today I believed he would be in our lineup opening day, but now I'm not so sure about that," said Rickey.

There is a possibility that Howie Schultz, 6 foot, 7 inch first baseman, recent classified 1-A in the draft, may be rejected when he is called for his physical and resume his baseball career.

21 IN BRAVES CAMP.

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Outfielder Tommy Holmes, who batted .309 last season, and Frank Drews, infielder, joined the Boston Braves today, making 21 men in camp at Georgetown university.

Cold, wet weather drove the Braves indoors for a light workout. Manager Bob Coleman has been sending them thru two workouts daily.

WEBB IN TIGER CAMP.

Evansville, Ind., March 22 (AP).—Jimmy [Skeeter] Webb, Chicago White Sox shortstop for five years, moved into the Detroit Tigers' infield today, pushing Joe Hoover over to third as the Tigers took their first fielding workout of the training season.

SPROULL JOINS PHILS.

Wilmington, Del., March 22 (AP).—Pitcher Charley Sproull, who won 16 decisions out of 23 games for the Milwaukee Brewers, joined the Philadelphia Phillies today. Rain, for the second straight day, halted all practice.

SUN SMILES ON REDS.

Bloomington, Ind., March 22 (AP). —Under a warm sun—the first since their arrival here Monday—Cincinnati's Reds worked outside today. Woody Williams, infielder, signed his contract within a few minutes after arrival.

IRISH ANNOUNCE SCHEDULES FOR TRACK AND GOLF

Notre Dame, Ind., March 22 [Special].—Hugh Devore, Notre Dame's athletic director, announced today the Irish golf and track schedules for the spring season. The Irish golfers, who last year won the intercollegiate title, may add several matches to the list that follows:

JACK LAMOTTA UNVEILS SECRET WEAPON IN DRILL

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Jack Lamotta, middleweight contender from New York floored Bob Satterfield, Chicago light heavyweight, with a left hook to the jaw during a workout in C. Y. O. center gymnasium yesterday.

The incident came as a surprise to every one except a few aware of the fact that Lamotta, who is preparing for a 10 round bout with George Costner in Chicago Stadium Monday night, is a converted southpaw.

Used Right in Other Bouts.

In two previous Chicago appearances, against Sgt. Lou Woods, whom he defeated in the Stadium a year ago and against Nate Bolden, to whom he lost in Marigold Gardens in 1941, Lamotta indicated his best weapon was his right.

Until scoring that knockdown yesterday the fact that Jack is a lefty was a well kept secret since the stance he employs in the ring is that of an orthodox boxer.

Lamotta, who uses a knife and fork with his left, bowls and bats from the port side, changed his ring stance in 1939 before he had his first amateur bout. His explanation was simple.

Switched to Get Fights.

"One day while working out in the gymnasium I decided to revert to an orthodox stance because a southpaw style was not popular and I couldn't get any fights," Lamotta said.

Jack participated in 12 bouts as an amateur and turned professional in 1940 when he ran out of opposition. He has had approximately 68 battles as a money fighter, winning 58, fighting one draw, and losing nine decisions. He never has been knocked out.

BIERMAN SEES VETERANS WITH NEW INTERESTS

Minneapolis, Minn., March 22 (AP). —Bernie Bierman refuses to go along with forecasts that wholesale return of veterans will bring about a super sports era in the post-war period.

Bierman said today he expects only a small percentage of those eligible will return for college competition—and that those who do come back will find intercollegiate sports pretty tame compared with war experiences.

They'll Have New Outlooks.

Bierman, who is back on the job as head football coach at the University of Minnesota after three years in the marine corps, turned out some of the nation's best football teams in his 10 years at Minnesota.

"Many football players who had competition remaining at the time they left school have received specialized training fitting them for a remunerative occupation after the war," he said.

He Will Rely on Freshmen.

"There will be no incentive for these men to return to school. Many others will have married and must become income earners. Others will feel that they are too old to go back to college classes and participation in intercollegiate sports."

"As for the comparatively small percentage we can expect to return for college competition, the all important competitive spark may be missing."

Bierman himself will look to incoming freshmen as his principal source of material. "But," he added, "I'll sure be glad to see any of the old gang back."

Hagg's Goal Is Victory in 4;12 Tonight

Cleveland, O., March 22 (AP).—Gunder Hagg will aim at a 4:12 mile and the first victory of his 1945 American tour in his fourth board track appearance tomorrow night in the Knights of Columbus games.

Altho still far from peak condition, a 4:12 figure would enable Hagg to clip 19 seconds off the 4:31 he posted in Madison Square Garden three weeks ago only 50 hours after reaching the United States. He was clocked at 4:14.5 in finishing 12 feet behind Jimmy Rafferty in Chicago last week.

Likes Hagg's Record.

Sig Steinwall, Hagg's trainer on the tour, predicted his charge would make 4:12 "provided the other runners in the events coöperate—that is, don't stall around jockeying for position early in the race. I think he has done exceptionally well thus far, considering he doesn't like to run indoors and that he has competed in only three races on indoor tracks," Steinwall added.

Gunder worked out in one of the local parks yesterday despite snow and wind and then warmed up for 15 minutes on an indoor oval. He took another jaunt outdoors today.

Rafferty Won't Run.

Jimmy Rafferty of the New York Athletic club, who outdistanced Hagg in his other three starts, won't oppose him tomorrow. Rafferty declared he could not obtain time off from his job to appear here.

Gunder's opposition will be provided by Tommy Quinn of the New York Athletic club, Rudy Simms of New York, Forrest Efaw of Bainbridge [Md.] Naval hospital, and James Cavanaugh of Rhode Island State.

The Catholic league basketball season will end tonight in the Loyola university Alumni gymnasium, 6500 Sheridan rd., when the junior championship game will be played at 8 p. m. The same two schools who fought it out for the senior title, Leo, south section champion, and St. Philip, north zone, title holder again will be opponents.

St. Philip won the north section crown by winning 11 of 12 games, scoring a total of 627 points. The one loss was handed the Gaels by De Paul academy by a three point margin, 41 to 38. The other loss St. Philip suffered during the entire season in winning 22 games and losing two was in the finals of the Fenwick tournament when Weber won the title.

Playoff for Section Crown.

Leo also dropped one game in 12 league contests, scoring 522 points. The defeat was by Weber, 29 to 24, in an overtime period. Leo gained revenge later by turning back the Red Horde, 31 to 25, in the playoff game for the south section crown.

High individual scorer on the Leo quintet is Forward Ted Moskal with 46 field goals and 52 free throws for 144 points. Hugh Califf and Mike Stenson shared scoring honors on the St. Philip club, each with 156 points. Califf came thru with 71 field goals and 14 free throws. Stenson gathered 67 baskets and 22 free throws.

Another Game for Winner.

The winner of the junior title will qualify to meet Marshall, City league champion, in the opening game of the charity double header which will be played in the Chicago Stadium on April 7.

PULLMAN GETS YEAR TO YIELD SLEEPING CARS

Alternative Order Denied U.S.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 22 (AP).—The United States District court today granted Pullman, Inc., one year in which to arrange for sale of all capital stock it owns in its subsidiary, the Pullman company, or disposal of the 80 million dollars of physical assets of this sleeping car business.

No ruling was made as to what would be done if the company failed to produce a sales contract within the year.

The court's order was designed to carry out its decree of May 8, 1944, to divorce Pullman's sleeping car and manufacturing businesses. The court held two years ago that Pullman, Inc., and three subsidiaries were violating the Sherman anti-trust act thru operations in both the manufacture and servicing of sleeping cars.

U. S. Fails to Obtain Ruling.

The government failed to obtain a ruling on its request for an immediate order that Pullman company could not go out of business if not sold within the year, leaving the public without sleeping car service.

In answer to another government request that it order Pullman to offer the business to any responsible purchaser, the court said Pullman, Inc., parent corporation, "may cause the Pullman company to offer to treat with the railroads or any other persons for the sale of the sleeping car business."

Contracts for the sale of the servicing business will be subject to court approval as will any sale of the sleeping cars.

Alternate Order Urged.

At a hearing Monday Fowler Hamilton, assistant to the attorney general, termed the Pullman plan to sell its sleeping car business to a buying group composed of the nation's railroads a "gesture at compliance."

He urged the court to insert in its decree an alternative directive requiring Pullman to sell its manufacturing unit should attempts to sell the sleeping car business fail.

If the court waited a year to decide whether Pullman would operate or manufacture sleeping cars, he contended, independent manufacturers of cars would lose a year's planning and face further delays occasioned by possible appeals to the Supreme court.

RULING HELD FAIR.

George A. Kelly, vice president of the Pullman company, said the provisions of the court order entered at Philadelphia yesterday gave Pullman, Inc., "broad freedom of action" in its effort to dispose of the sleeping car unit.

"We regard the order as properly considerate of the public interest, of the interest of our employes, and of the interest of the 35,000 stockholders of Pullman, Inc.," said Kelly.

ROYALTY POINT STALLS PARLEY ON MINE WAGES

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Government intervention appeared inevitable to some bituminous operators today as John L. Lewis refused to budge from his 10 cent a ton royalty demand and operators continued to oppose it in negotiations with Lewis' United Mine Workers for a new contract.

Conference Chairman Ezra Van Horn reported the situation remained unchanged with no progress to date. Charles O'Neill and George Campbell, the operators' subcommittee who talked to Lewis privately yesterday, reported a stalemate over the royalty demand.

Meantime the two department of labor conciliators stood by, as they have thruout the negotiations which started March 1, ready to step in whenever they appear to be needed.

OPA MAY TAKE OVER BANKING IN RATION COUPONS

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—OPA may take over operation of its ration banking program from commercial banks to save possibly 6 million dollars a year. All set to institute the new plan in a few weeks on a small scale experimental basis, OPA at the request of the American Bankers association agreed to study the matter further.

Harry C. Hausman, secretary of the Illinois Bankers association, said it seemed a waste to change ration banking from the banks to OPA offices so late in the program, but that it would relieve banks of one war imposed duty. The banks have been able to handle ration accounts satisfactorily despite man power shortages, he said.

RFC Strikes at Senate Unit on Surpluses

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—The Reconstruction Finance corporation tangled with the senate war investigating committee today in a quarrel over surplus property sales. Stung by a committee description of the organization of surplus sales as "extremely confused" and by its insistence on wide publicity, the RFC retorted it had been doing just what the senators said was needed.

Further, said a memorandum sent Chairman Mead [D., N. Y.] by RFC Chairman Henderson, Mead's committee requested, received, and then ignored RFC information on how it operates.

The situation was unusual in two ways: [1] An executive agency seldom quarrels publicly with any branch of congress, and [2] Fred M. Vinson said pointedly last week in his first news conference as federal loan chief that he did not "participate in feuds."

Committee Warns of Chaos.

The RFC did not comment on the committee warning that delay in the functioning of the new surplus property board, on over-all agency created by congress, "may result in as chaotic a condition as we had at the end of the last World war," but took sharp exception to any implication that the public had not had sufficient notice of sales of surplus.

The committee should recognize "great progress" in publicity, said the RFC. It recalled it had advertized in 840 newspapers for the sale of a batch of aircraft, had engaged a "competent advertising agency," and followed a policy of fixed prices thru price tags and full information.

RFC has the responsibility of disposing of surplus capital goods and producers' goods. The treasury disposes of consumer goods, and the war shipping administration also handles some surpluses.

Offers Pat on the Back, Too.

The senate committee said the new surplus property board, headed by former Sen. Gillette [D., Ia.], should: "Set up uniform rules and regulations and a single information center. The effect of having a multiplicity of agencies is to make it easier for 'insiders' and others with special privileges to operate."

Speculators out after excessive and quick profits "to date have not been very successful," it added.

Another implied pat on the back amid the criticism came from Sen. Hatch [D., N. M.] in submitting the report. He said the abuses were mentioned "because they serve as excellent examples of what could happen if our surpluses were not properly administered. We know the surplus disposal agencies are determined to exert every effort to prevent such occurrences."

CHICAGO FIRMS MAKE POWERFUL NEW SHELL FUSE

A new concrete piercing fuse, manufactured by two Chicago companies, was credited yesterday by Col. John Slezak, chief of the Chicago ordnance district, with major success in demolishing enemy pillboxes and concrete fortifications in Europe and the Pacific.

The fuse, which can be attached to the nose of an artillery shell from 75 mm. to 240 mm., converts an ordinary high explosive shell into a concrete piercing projectile, eliminating the necessity of manufacturing special shells, Col. Slezak said. It has a timing device that delays the explosion for the fraction of a second required for the shell to imbed itself in the concrete.

Producers of the fuse, the M-78, are Gaylord Products and Roth Manufacturing company.

U. S. RUBBER CO. DOUBLING PEACE PLANT CAPACITY

New York, March 22 (AP).—The United States Rubber company today announced it will more than double its pre-war capacity this year to produce large size military tires urgently needed by the government.

Terming the program well advanced, Herbert E. Smith, president, said: "When it is completed this year we will be able to produce more than twice as many large size tires and 75 per cent more large size tubes of the military type than in 1941."

People and Events

Arthur A. Pieper has been elected financial vice president of Republic Aviation corporation, Alfred Marchev, president, announced yesterday. Formerly with International Harvester company, Pieper became associated with Republic last year as assistant to the president.

OMAHA TRYING TO UNSNARL ITS UTILITY TANGLE

Seeking Last Major Private Plant.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Omaha, Neb., March 22.—Omaha is seeking to unscramble a deal for public ownership of the Nebraska Power company, the only large electric utility in the state still a private enterprise.

Right now the issue seems to be whether Omaha itself is to acquire the power company and have home rule, if public ownership comes, or whether the Loup river public power district at Columbus, 82 miles away, is to grab control.

The Loup district is one of the PWA projects in what is sometimes called Nebraska's "little TVA."

Act to Head Off Deal.

A new people's power commission of Omaha was appointed by Mayor Dan B. Butler a few days ago to iron out the muddle and head off a deal for the Loup in which Guy C. Myers of Washington state served as fiscal agent at a commission of $530,000.

Controversy has been rampant for more than two years, and the Omaha power situation is as complex as Chicago transit. Some leading advocates of private enterprise, deeming public ownership is in the cards, are now working with those of opposite views in trying to chart a program by which public ownership, if it comes, will be by Omaha and not from outside.

The city council opposed the Myers-Loup program, as it is called, and May 15 the city is to vote on condemnation of the Nebraska Power company properties, tho this may be changed if the new peoples commission turns out well.

Six Lawsuits Pending.

As landscape for the controversy are high finance, dummy corporations, criticism of fat commissions, lobbying at the state capitol at Lincoln, and a series of battles in the courts, with six law suits still pending.

Some leading state officials express concern over the development of a public power political machine in the state and high pressure politics.

High spots in the power muddle, which involves bales of court briefs and some 14 contract documents totaling 157 pages, have for a center a nonprofit corporation which was set up last year, now known as the Omaha Electric Committee, Inc. It is composed of public ownership advocates. Thru its fiscal agent, Myers, this committee bought 970,922 shares of common stock of the Nebraska Power company from the American Light and Power company, the holding company, for $14,421,000.

15 Millions Obtained.

The Electric committee had no funds of its own, but it obtained from the Loup river power district $15,600,000. This was to pay for the common stock, which is the controlling stock, the Myers' fee and expenses of $530,000, and a financing fee of $300,000 to a syndicate of bankers, mostly in the east. The Electric committee is now called the new owner of Nebraska Power, but no one seems to know for sure.

The Electric committee, a dummy or "stop-gap" agency, to use the term of the promoters, made power contracts for 21 years with the Nebraska Power company. These were then assigned by the Electric committee to the Loup river public power district, and became a chief basis for financing thru Loup revenue bonds of the $15,600,000 which had been borrowed from the banking syndicate by the Loup on its 30 day notes. The syndicate agreed to take $10,400,000 of these bonds, while American Power and Light bought $5,200,000.

"Service" Charge in Contract.

Under the contract, the Nebraska Power company is to pay to the Loup, to which the contract is assigned, a "readiness to serve" charge of $134,275 a month for 13 years. Critics say this will be more than enough for the Loup to liquidate the $15,600,000 and it will come from electric users in Omaha.

About 44 million dollars is computed by experts as total cost of Nebraska Power if taken over under the Electric committee plan. Base price, before expenses and costs, was set at $40,680,000. Lawyers say a contingent commission of $600,000 for the banking syndicate is provided in a purchase contract in the plan.

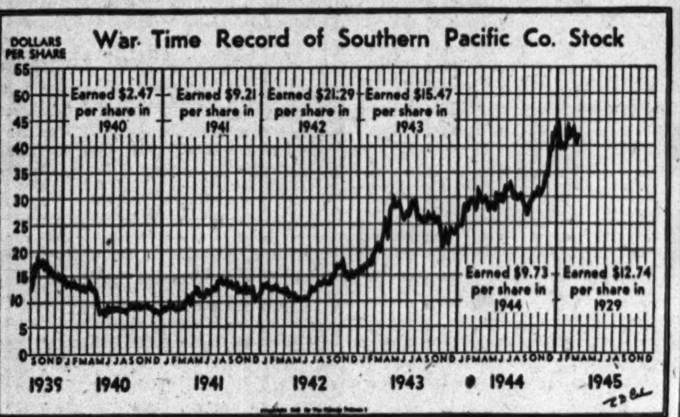
The Loup is one of the three big hydro districts financed by the federal government thru the public works administration. The cost so far has been nearly 68 million dollar in PWA loans and grants.

Happy Hunting Ground.

Indications are that during the period Nebraska has been happy hunting ground for investment bankers outside the state and for Myers, who has served as fiscal agent acquiring private utilities for the districts. Myers ingratiated himself into the scene soon after PWA began pouring in funds.

At Lincoln, Myers is spoken of as a "financial genius." A holding company, known as Consumers Public Power district, was set up to buy the private utilities for the hydros. A report of the legislative council last fall said altogether Consumers bought 14 properties at a total purchase price of $42,206,245.53. The report says Myers' commissions on all these purchases totaled $853,509.02, out of which he paid his staff, and for legal and engineering work.

In addition he got $45,662.28 in connection with refunding bonds, the report says, "making a grand total of $899,171.30 paid to him by the district [consumers] over a period of some five years."



Foreign Funds Boost Colgate Profit in 1944

A large increase in dividends from foreign subsidiaries resulted in increased net earnings for Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company in 1944, E. H. Little, president, said yesterday in his annual report to shareholders. Profits from domestic operations fell, altho domestic sales rose to a record for the second year in a row. Domestic sales rose 18 per cent to $134,007,782 and total sales, including those of foreign subsidiaries, were $170,463,924, against $146,424,512 in 1943.

E. H. Little.

An increased output for civilian as well as military consumption was accomplished "under continued government regulation and restriction" and "in the face of man power and material shortages," said Little.

Foreign Dividends Larger.

Net income rose to $7,002,483, or $3.30 a share, from $6,616,969, or $3.10 a share. Dividends from foreign subsidiaries constituted $862,001 of the 1944 profit, against $29,714 in 1943.

War time measures have restricted modernization and maintenance of manufacturing facilities, Little said, but directors have approved a 9 million dollar post-war property replacement and modernization plan.

Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company's sales rose to a record $379,485,631 from $295,996,435 in 1943, and net income swelled more than a million dollars, said Walter Geist, president. However, he said shifts in war production requirements cut the order backlog 126 million dollars in 1944 to $209,680,268 at the year-end. Bookings in 1944 totaled $253,239,255, compared with the peak of $461,490,230 in 1943.

Profit Equals $4.77 a Share.

Net income of the Milwaukee farm equipment manufacturer rose to $9,327,616, or $4.77 a share, from $8,006,369, or $4.51 a share. Profit in both years was computed after a 2⅓ million dollar reserve for inventory, post-war adjustments, and other contingencies.

North American Car corporation reported 1944 net earnings were $430,031, or $2.12 a share. Profits of $793,697, or $4.50 a share, in 1943 included nonrecurring income of $522,000 from the sale of cars and oil and gas properties.

The Chicago company continued with "moderate success" its oil and gas drilling operations, said William M. Spencer, chairman. It holds varying interests, usually one-half, in approximately 44,000 acres of oil and gas leases. The company's fleet on Dec. 31 consisted of 4,357 tank cars and 2,457 refrigerator cars.

SPAIN PAYS OFF MOST OF DEBT IN UNITED STATES

BARCELONA, Spain, March 22 (AP).—Within the last year Spain has liquidated 40 million dollars of 55 million due exporters and investors in the United States and has spent approximately 55 million for purchases in the dollar area. Ralph Ackerman, United States commercial attache in Madrid, gave these figures today at a luncheon of the American Chamber of Commerce.

Ackerman said he had been assured by the Spanish minister of commerce, Demetrio Carceller, that Spain soon will liberalize its import licensing policy on goods from the United States. Carceller says he "has no intention of hoarding dollars but plans to use them rapidly as they are received," Ackerman said.

POST-WAR TAX POLICY IS HELD KEY TO NEW BUSINESS ENTERPRISE

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Before his company decides to purchase a government aluminum plant for post-war operation it must know "pertinent facts" relative to taxes, F. S. Elfred, general manager of Olin Industries, aluminum division, today testified before the senate small business committee.

He said his company will want information on raw materials and economic conditions, but he termed the tax question paramount.

"The government's post-war tax policy must give some assurance of a reasonable return on venture capital to the investor," he said. "I have a very definite belief that unless changes are made there will be very few new business enterprises established after this war."

He suggested "assurance" might be obtained by reducing personal taxes, or by eliminating or reducing the present 95 per cent excess profits tax.

ELECTRONS AT WORK—8.

[HALLICRAFTERS.]

From a relatively small volume of $865,824 in 1939, sales of the Hallicrafters company, specializing in short wave radio apparatus, grew to more than 40 times that amount in the fiscal year ended last Aug. 31, as a result of war orders. Profit, which was only $25,221 in 1939, soared in 1944 to $691,064 derived from sales of $37,033,799.

Against this background of war time expansion, steps recently were taken to market thru an underwriting group 225,000 shares of the company's capital stock, of which a total of 675,000 shares, par value $1, would then be outstanding. Of the stock included in the offering, 75,000 shares were supplied by the company, and 150,000 shares by 12 stockholders who previously owned the entire issue. After arranging to sell 107,500 shares to the underwriters, the largest stockholder and his family will retain a 47.9 per cent interest.

At the public offering price of $8 a share, the company is capitalized at $5,400,000, altho the book value of the capital and surplus as of last Jan. 31, with patents and trade marks listed at $1, was only $1,264,727. Giving effect to the sale of the 75,000 shares at $7 a share net, the capital would be increased $525,000. Current liabilities at $9,348,396 were large in relation to current assets of $10,158,908. All the company's manufacturing plants are on leased property.

In relation to published earnings for years prior to 1943, the offering price is high. So far as abnormal war time earnings are concerned, it is not considered conservative policy to capitalize such profits highly. Hallicrafters began operations in 1934. The only pre-war year for which earnings have been published is 1939, when they were equal to 4 cents a share as applied to 600,000 shares outstanding before the recent financing. The share profit on this basis for subsequent periods was: 1940, 5 cents; eight months ended Aug. 31, 1941, 7 cents; fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1942, 33 cents; 1943, 78 cents; 1944, $1.15; five months ended last Jan. 31, 46 cents. No cash dividends have been paid on the common stock.

Since early in 1942 Hallicrafters has been making short wave receiving sets and transmitters, radar, and other electronic equipment for the military forces exclusively. After the war the company plans to concentrate on the same products as before Pearl Harbor—short wave apparatus for amateur radio operators, for short wave listeners, and for commercial uses. It also intends to make radio telephone equipment for marine use and mobile two way radio apparatus for aircraft, railroads, and buses.

GRAINS ADVANCE ON TALK OF BIG CCC RYE ORDER

Rye futures prices rose yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade on general buying induced by reports that the Commodity Credit corporation had purchased 3 million bushels of cash rye for lend-lease shipment to Europe. May rye advanced 2¼ cents to $1.17¼ a bushel at one time, but profit taking held the net gain to 2 cents. Deferred deliveries were 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents higher.

Other grains rose with rye. Wheat closed ½ to ¾ higher, corn ⅜ to ½, and barley ⅜ to⅝. Oats finished ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher.

Traders speculated as to where the rye had been purchased. Some brokers told of a report that 1½ to 2½ million bushels would be shipped out of Chicago stocks.

BUTLER, BELDEN REPORT GAIN IN FIRST QUARTER

Expect More Items to Be Scarce.

Presidents of two Chicago companies reported to stockholders at annual meetings yesterday that business increased in the first quarter this year. T. B. Freeman of Butler Brothers said sales and estimated profit were larger than a year ago and Whipple Jacobs said Belden Manufacturing company shipments and profits gained.

T. B. Freeman.

Freeman, discussing post-war prospects, said Butler would have none of the reconversion problems facing manufacturing companies and would start various types of improvements thruout the company when equipment and personnel were available.

Third Store Group Started.

C. D. Southard, vice president in charge of distributor stores, disclosed that a third group of houseware stores using the name "Homecrest" would be operated on the same franchise basis as the present Ben Franklin and Federated stores. The first is in operation in Allegan, Mich. Others will be added as conditions permit.

Increasing scarcities of civilian merchandise, especially in textile and leather goods, were predicted by M. C. Pond, director of merchandising.

Should the German phase of the war end soon, a noticeable increase in civilian supplies would occur in time to aid the company's fall volume, he said, but otherwise the fall business undoubtedly would be lower than last year.

Price Drop Not Expected.

Pond said he did not expect any major price declines soon, and asserted that markdowns after the collapse of Germany would be confined largely to inferior war time "substitute" merchandise.

Stockholders voted to eliminate the 350,000 shares of authorized convertible 5 per cent preferred stock. All outstanding shares were redeemed last month.

Directors elected Pond and C. W. Harris, director of operations, vice presidents and voted the regular quarterly dividend of $1.12½ on the new preferred stock and a 15 cent dividend on the common.

Jacobs told Belden stockholders that indicated first quarter shipments would exceed those of a year ago by about $200,000 and that profits would be about 10 per cent higher. He said demands for war goods continued at a high rate and that the backlog of orders represented approximately five months' shipments.

Warns Control Follows Aid.

"Insofar as one dares to prophesy as to the future in these times, the second quarter should be about the same as the first quarter," he said.

Explaining that the company had not applied for and did not plan to ask for a V, VT, or any other kind of government loan, he asserted:

"I cannot refrain from stating that we do not believe in turning to government for help whenever we have a problem to solve. Government control and interference inevitably follow government assistance. We believe in a minimum of government in business."

LARD SET ASIDE QUOTA REDUCED AS OF MONDAY

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—To meet essential civilian needs, the war food administration today reduced the amount of lard which packers in major producing states are required to set aside for government war programs.

Beginning Monday, packers under federal inspection will be required to set aside 5½ pounds instead of 7½ from each 100 pounds of live hog slaughtered. Butchered hogs produce about 13 pounds of lard for each 100 pounds of hog [live weight].

Chicago Bank Deposits and Loans Lower

Chicago national and state banks in their first quarter statements of condition in answer to calls yesterday by the controler of the currency and the state auditor reported total deposits and loans and discounts were less than on Dec. 30. Savings deposits increased.

The decrease in total deposits as of March 20 was the result of seasonal factors and the usual movement of funds into government securities and out of Illinois because of state tax assessments in April.

Total deposits decreased to $7,406,195,000 from the record $7,688,678,000 on Dec. 30. For national banks they were $5,801,256,000, against $6,030,571,000, and for state banks $1,604,939,000 against $1,658,107,000. Savings deposits of all banks rose to $1,049,625,000 from $991,689,000.

Loans and discounts of all banks decreased to $1,145,901,000 from $1,320,483,000, cash resources to $1,629,944,000 from $1,702,045,000, and holdings of United States government bonds of $4,610,755,000 from $4,650,164,000.

TREASURY CURBS SPECULATION IN 7TH BOND DRIVE

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—Maturities on 7th war loan bonds will be withheld until the last minute to prevent speculative trading by corporations and insurance companies, the treasury announced today. Maturities on the E bonds will remain unchanged.

Secretary Morgenthau told a news conference that speculation in last winter's 6th war loan ran into the billions of dollars. By delaying announcement of the maturity dates, he said, corporations will be discouraged from "switching" from one security to another at a profit. The next drive starts May 14.

This time there will be no 2 per cent bond which banks could buy in the open market, as there was in the 6th war loan, the secretary said. Corporations may sell to banks only the ⅞ per cent certificates. Corporations will not be permitted to buy the ½ per cent bonds, which will be open only to individuals in the 7th war loan.

Bankruptcy Requested for Aurora and Elgin

Attorneys for three Chicago, Aurora, and Elgin railroad first mortgage bondholders filed a petition yesterday in federal District court asking that the line be placed in bankruptcy under the Chandler act. The petition contended the railroad has been in receivership since 1932 without curing any of the company's ills.

STOCK MARKET RISES, BUT GAIN IS NOT BROAD

Railroad, Aircraft Issues Lead.

New York, March 22 (AP).—Led by rails and aircrafts, stocks today recovered, but not impressively. The upward trend appeared at the opening, but the ticker tape frequently stood still. The largest early gains, 2 or more points, were reduced at the close and declines were plentiful. Turnover was 830,000 shares compared with 1,340,000 yesterday.

Buying was based partly on hopes of dividends and the belief the three consecutive reactions entitled the list to a technical comeback. The sweep of the allies in Europe continued to emphasize plant reconversion uncertainties as a trend factor and expectation of more government moves to stem speculation served to retard the advance.

Stock Average Declines.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was off 0.1 at 60.3. Of 891 issues traded, 378 advanced, 291 declined, and 222 were unchanged.

Stocks advancing included preferreds of Pere Marquette and Nickel Plate, again reflecting a dividend payment and refunding program; Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Grumman Aircraft [buoyed by a revival of split-up reports], Sperry, Eastern Air Lines, United States Rubber, Laclede Gas preferred, Hudson Motors, and United States Industrial Chemicals.

Lower were Chrysler, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, Radio corporation, Texas company, Dow Chemical, Montgomery Ward, Kennecott, Goodrich, Southern Railway, Allied Chemical, and United Aircraft.

BONDS ABOUT STEADY.

New York, March 22 (AP).—The bond market today held close to steady with the help of selective buying in rails and utilities. Changes on both sides were almost wholly of fractions and sales were $6,890,000, smallest in three weeks, compared with $8,370,000 yesterday. The Associated Press rail, utility, and foreign issue averages advanced 0.1 each, but the industrial and low yield were unchanged.

CHICAGO LIST UNEVEN.

Prices were irregular yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Volume leaders in 30,000 share turnover included Utah Radio, up ⅛; Chicago corporation common, up ⅜; Central and South West Utilities, up ⅛; Commonwealth Edison, unchanged, and Radio corporation, down ⅛.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, represented by the Administrator, War Shipping Administration, invites sealed bids for the purchase of the one-hundred seventeen vessels named below, which are at the location indicated. CORNING GLASS FILES ISSUE TO EXPAND PLANTS

A registration statement was filed with the securities and exchange commission yesterday by Corning Glass Works covering 50,000 shares of $100 par value cumulative preferred stock, and an undetermined number of shares of $5 par value common stock.

The preferred stock represents new financing for improving and expanding manufacturing facilities, to effect cost reductions, and to increase the output of existing and new products. Certain stockholders will sell the common stock to the underwriters and the sale to the public will be the first in the company's 94 year history.

Kidder, Peabody & Co. headed a group offering 40,000 shares of Florida Power corporation 4 per cent cumulative preferred at $101.25 and accrued dividends. Northwest Airlines offered stockholders the right to purchase one new share of common stock at $23 a share for each two held. Subscription rights expire April 4.

DENIES LATINS' BID FOR HIKE IN COFFEE CEILING

Washington, D. C., March 22 (AP).—The United States today formally informed 14 Latin American coffee countries that it cannot increase ceiling prices. The 14 nations requested a ceiling boost on green coffee just after the inter-American conference in Mexico City.

In a note delivered to their Washington embassies, Acting Secretary of State Grew said the action was based on "the fact that failure of the stabilization program in this country would release inflationary forces that might well seriously impair real incomes and living standards in the United States and, eventually, thruout the western hemisphere."

The request was based on the Mexico City resolution advocating removal of price controls as soon as possible after the war.

SUPPLY OF HOGS LARGER; PRICES OF LAMBS RISE

Hog supplies were slightly larger yesterday, but pork and hog markets were not affected because demand remained much larger than supplies.

Buyers everywhere continued to pay ceiling prices for all hogs offered. Office of price administration officials announced ceiling prices for live hogs had been raised at some southern markets in order to bring more pork to some towns where the shortage is most acute, a move which some in this area believe would be wise for Chicago which is considered harder hit than most other parts of the country.

Brisk demand for Easter lambs lifted the top price 20 cents to $17.10, a 16 year peak for March and equal to the highest lamb price since April, 1929. Cattle were steady to 25 cents lower.

SENATORS HEAR MEAT FAMINE BLAMED ON OPA

Bowles Mistake Admitted at Stormy Hearing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 22.—Price Administrator Bowles and his OPA staff heard themselves blamed for the nation's meat famine today before the senate banking committee, which is considering extension of the price control act beyond June 30.

And the OPA was forced to admit Bowles erred yesterday in accusing packers of failing to coöperate in solving the problem. Bowles testified that only 13 packing firms had provided data demanded by the OPA.

A packers' representative termed this a lie today, charging that 20 reports had been supplied but that the OPA had refused to accept seven.

A Stormy Hearing.

"Is the testimony that only 13 reports were received wrong?" demanded Sen. Tobey [R., N. H.].

"Yes," replied John J. Madigan, OPA meat price executive.

The hearing was one of the stormiest in recent months. Bowles and his assistants sat close to the witness table as they were accused and frequently rose during the testimony to defend themselves.

The principal witness was Arthur L. Winn, counsel for the National Independent Meat Packers' association, an organization of 700 slaughterers and packers.

Bowles himself sprang to his feet after Winn had testified that OPA was cutting a subsidy that is keeping beef packers in business from the present 80 cents a hundred pounds to 30 cents.

Bowles said he was issuing a new order today to restore much of the cut. He did not explain why the relief was being announced in the midst of the senate hearing.

Enter Black Market.

Testifying that the nation has more cattle than ever before, Winn said the meat shortage is unnecessary and charged that OPA pricing regulations are forcing legitimate packers to become black market operators.

"Mr. Bowles stressed the fact yesterday," Winn said, "that our meat shortages are in large part caused by maldistribution. We believe the policy of the OPA of maintaining maximum prices below the cost of production is one of the primary causes of this maldistribution.

"With legitimate packers required to suffer losses on every animal slaughtered, a substantial part of the supply naturally gravitates to those channels which are willing to take advantage of a situation and make a profit—the black market.

Same Situation in Pork.

"The OPA has been unable to control the black market in beef. We may shortly have the same situation in pork."

Asked if any members of his organization had gone into the black market, Winn replied:

"I hope not. But many honest men have decided not to be bankrupted by illegal and unjust regulations. Many reputable packers are disregarding price regulations."

"Do you need better enforcement?" demanded Sen. Murdock [D., Utah].

"We need that badly," answered Winn.

Questioned by Tobey, Bowles said:

"We have one investigator for every county. There are some black markets. I don't believe they're as widespread as the witness said."

Margin for Profit.

Winn said his association favors price control but asks for production costs plus a margin for profit.

Winn then accused OPA of rejecting all except 13 reports by packers, one of them from the Cudahy Packing company. Winn said OPA made the rejections because the packers did not all use the OPA's bookkeeping form.

Tobey asked why beef could not be imported from Canada, where supplies are reported to be ample. But Winn replied that Canadian supplies would not make a "dent" in the American shortage.

Bowles explained that the new subsidy he announced on the spur of the moment would restore much of the 50 cents a hundred pounds that is being withdrawn. Winn retorted that the packers would have to spend $1 to get every 50 cent subsidy.

SPRING GARDEN MEETING TO BE HELD ON APRIL 7

Five hundred Chicagoland war gardeners, horticulturists, and commercial growers are expected to attend the spring garden meeting of the newly reorganized Chicago Horticultural society in the La Salle hotel April 7. There will be morning, luncheon, and afternoon sessions, with talks by George Pring, head of the Shaw gardens in St. Louis, Mo., and E. J. Condon, president of the National Victory Garden institute, and other garden leaders. R. M. Carleton is chairman of the committee on arrangements. Inquiries about the meeting and luncheon reservations may be addressed to him at 1313 Randolph st., room 309.

WESTERN UNION PLANS TESTS OF RADIO MESSAGES

The Western Union Telegraph company has been authorized by the federal communications commission to begin experiments in radio transmissions of messages very high in the short wave field. The tests will be conducted with the view of eventually using radio in lieu of wire facilities for certain types of communications. The experiments will be conducted thru a chain of relay stations between New York City and Philadelphia, Pa. The FCC said that the company plans to use a transmission system developed by the Radio Corporation of America.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By GAIL COMPTON

March 22, 1945.

ILLINOIS farmers will plant more than 20 million acres for harvest this year, says a report of the state department of agriculture. These cropping intentions reveal an increase of one-fifth of a million acres over the total acreage planted last year and approach the record levels of 1917 and 1918.

There will be substantial increases in the acreages of wheat and oats, a slight increase in soybean acreage, and some reduction in corn and hay lands, the report indicates. The plans represent a magnificent effort on the part of state farmers in the face of the tightest labor situation ever experienced. At least 92,000 volunteer and recruited workers will be needed to gather the tremendous harvest planned.

Fewer Animals to Eat Corn.

Corn will be planted on 8.9 million acres, a reduction of 2 per cent from the 1944 plantings, the report shows. The decline is blamed on the reduction of grain consuming animals, serious damage last year from chinch bugs, the short labor supply, and need for greater acreage in clover.

Slightly more than 4 million acres will be planted to soybeans, a 3 per cent increase over last year. Soybeans are replacing corn to a small extent because they suffered little last year from drouth and chinch bugs.

Oat plantings will increase 12 per cent to 3.7 million acres. These plans, however, may be affected by the type of spring weather in the state. A long wet spell will reduce the oat acreage, while favorable planting conditions and a chance to start field work early may result in more acres in oats. So far, conditions have been excellent for an early start and farmers already are seeding their oats and legumes.

Wheat in Good Condition.

Fall sown grains, including an increased wheat planting, came thru the winter in good condition because of an ample snow blanket. Early March rains have helped to correct a moisture deficiency, especially in the southern part of the state. In central and northern Illinois, however, more rain is needed.

Oat seeding has not started at the Fox river farm, altho ground preparation is well under way. The manager would like a few more showers and more assurance of continued warm weather before he starts seeding the grain. Plowing continues whenever possible.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

HOME owners whose vegetable plots are too wet to be spaded or planted can spend late March days renovating their lawns.

Lawn rolling is one of the important features of turf care. It should be preceded by a thoro raking of the lawn with a flexible rake that will pick up leaves, dead grass tufts, and debris. Use of a heavy garden rake is not recommended, because this tool tends to uproot healthy sections of turf.

The most common error in rolling a lawn is that of using rollers that are too heavy. Small concrete rollers are excellent. Gardeners using iron rollers weighted with water should place only three to five gallons of water in the tank. The purpose of rolling is primarily not that of leveling a lawn, but of pressing down grass roots heaved out of contact with the soil by winter frosts.

SKELETON FOUND HIDDEN IN STATE HIGHWAY BASIN

A belt buckle engraved with the initial "F" was the only clew last night to the identity of a headless skeleton found yesterday beside United States highway 20 near Stark's Station, 10 miles northwest of Elgin.

The skeleton was believed to be that of a man of small stature and slight body.

The skeleton, the hands and feet also missing, was dug up from the muck of a state highway department pump basin 75 feet from the highway.

The discovery was made by Lloyd Sickles of R. F. D. 1, Libertyville, a highway department pump mechanic, during the first inspection of the basin since Nov. 16, 1942.

The basin, inclosed by concrete, is 12 feet square and 30 feet deep. Its automatic pump prevents flooding of an underpass. The basin's only exit is a tile drain two feet in diameter leading to a manhole beside the highway.

Authorities surmised the steel manhole cover was removed and the body stuffed inside whence it floated or was washed thru the drain into the basin.

STATION WAGON, TRUCK COLLIDE; 2 DIE IN FLAMES

Two drivers were burned to death yesterday in the collision of a truck and station wagon near Michigan City. The men were identified thru papers as Isaac H. Belongia, Oconto, Wis., and Theodore Luns, 48, of Sioux City, Ia.

Harold Smith, 23, medically discharged from the navy after serving in five major engagements in the Pacific area, died yesterday in St. Bernard's hospital of injuries suffered March 17 when he was struck by the car of a hit and run driver at Peoria st. and Marquette rd. He lived at 4153 S. Rockwell st.

James Noble, 44, Negro, of 3341 Wabash av., a watchman, died yesterday in County hospital of injuries suffered March 7 when he was struck by a car at 33d st. and South Park av. The driver was Mrs. James Graham of 423 E. 48th pl.

ON SHORT WAVES

LONDON.

The North American service of the BBC from London includes the following programs today. The frequencies [in megacycles] employed after 4:15 p. m. are: 11.93, 9.58, 9.82, 6.11, 7.26, 9.51, 4:30 p. m., Front Line Family; 4:45 p. m., News; 6:30 p. m., Radio Newsreel; 7:30 p. m., World Affairs; 11:05 p. m., War review; 11:30 p. m., news reports.

ARMY JOINS OPA TO SMASH MEAT BLACK MARKET

The army joined the fight against black market meat operations yesterday with a promise to report to the office of price administration the names of packers who have failed to deliver the proper quota of their meat to the army.

Announcing the new alliance, Marion W. Isbell, area OPA director, said on Monday OPA investigators would be stationed at those local packing companies that are not giving the army the required 60 per cent of their slaughter. The investigators will make a special effort to determine whether any of the meat slated for the army is being diverted to other cities or going to the black market, he stated.

Confiscation a Possibility.

The meats of those found to be lagging in their deliveries may be taken over by the army at ceiling prices. In this manner, the army will get its alloted supplies and meat will be prevented from going to eastern black markets, Isbell said.

Meanwhile, investigators discovered another company shipping meat to New York, slaughtering without registering with the war food administration, and failing to give the army its proper set-aside, said Homer Clay, chief OPA enforcement attorney. He declined to reveal the firm's name. It was the third firm found sending meat to new customers in New York.

Fish Dealers Warned.

At a joint meeting of the Chicago Wholesale Fish Dealers' association and the retail association, Samuel Lane, acting chief of the area OPA price division, warned that unless the industry effected better control over fresh fish prices the OPA would clamp on ceilings.

Lane told the meeting that last week, in some sections of the city, fish sold for more than $1 a pound. He said the OPA in Washington, D. C., had price ceilings prepared and would issue them unless the situation here was eased.

E. M. Concannon, president of the wholesalers' association, replied that Chicago fish prices are largely determined by the markets in New York, Detroit, and other cities. He promised, however, an attempt would be made to work out an industry-wide price control, if other cities would coöperate.

Fish Supply to Increase.

End of Lent, start of Jewish holidays, and lack of fish were listed by Concannon as the reasons for the present market shortage. In two weeks large supplies of Lake Superior whitefish will start to come in and prices should drop from 20 to 40 per cent, he said.

On the legal front, the OPA won a judgment of $3,074.89 from Judge Elwyn R. Shaw in federal District court against the Hofherr Meat company, 439 S. Clark st., for charging over ceiling prices for pork and sausage.
